UN Secretary Still Hopeful Of Conference

Doesn't Believe Red China Broadcasts Are Rejection To Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was undismayed today at Red Chinese blasts at the U.N. for what Peiping called "illegal" interference in the case of 11 American aviators jailed as spies. He was reported still hopeful for a talk with the Peiping Reds.

Persons close to Hammarskjold said he did not feel a Peiping radio broadcast this morning amounted to rejection of his suggestion for a face-to-face talk with Prime Minister Chou En-lai in Peiping on the prisoner question.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate, told a newsman he also was not discouraged.

Broadcast Is Routine

He said the Peiping broadcast was "routine."

"I think what we need is a period of silence to give this man (Hammarskjold) a chance to work," Lodge said. "He knows what he is doing and it is better if everyone keeps still and lets him do the job."

Lodge made his comment on the first two broadcasts of the Peiping radio. He spoke before learning of the third broadcast charging that Americans were holding Chinese students who want to return to the mainland. There was no comment from any delegate or the secretary general on that broadcast.

The first broadcasts earlier today caused great interest here.

The Red radio, at the end of a long editorial from the Peiping Peoples Daily, the official Communist organ, said that the "United Nations has no right to interfere with China's sentencing of the American spies."

"United Nations discussion of this question under American manipulation is both illegal and unjust," the radio said.

A later broadcast by the Red radio mentioned the subject again in similarly harsh terms and for the second time did not mention Hammarskjold's message.

Neither broadcast mentioned the Assembly's resolution, which also condemned Red China for sentencing the fliers.

It was reported here that Hammarskjold did not expect an immediate reply. He was represented as feeling a matter of this high importance would take time before the Communist Chinese would chart their course.

Still Under Consideration

U.N. officials said that omission of any reference to the secretary general's proposal indicated that the question still was under consideration.

In addition to the direct message to Chou which was sent Friday, Hammarskjold was believed to be working through Swedish and Indian channels. Both countries have diplomatic missions in Peiping. Hammarskjold formerly was No. 2 man in the Swedish Foreign Office. He is scheduled to go to Stockholm this weekend to take the seat in the Swedish Academy of Literature held by his late father. If Peiping accepts his bid for direct talks while he is in Stockholm, he could easily fly from there to the Red Chinese capital.

American Says Syrian Plane Was On Course

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 13 (AP) — The lone American aboard a Syrian airliner forced down by Israeli jet fighters at Lydda said today the plane was on its normal course over international waters of the Mediterranean 80 or 90 miles west of Tel Aviv at the time of the arrest.

Ralph K. Hanse, of Wayne, N.J., disputing an Israeli declaration that the twin-engine DC3 was "flying over a forbidden zone of Israeli's coast," reported on his arrival in Cairo he had told the chief of an Israeli police squad at the Lydda airport at the time of the landing yesterday:

"You have made a big mistake. I'm going to testify our plane was in an international area when it was arrested."

Hanse, a representative of Leru Laboratories, Inc., was one of 10 persons—five passengers and five crew members—aboard the airliner on its flight from Damascus toward Cairo.

Released after the jets herded the airliner to Lydda, 11 miles southeast of Tel Aviv, he continued his flight to Egypt by a roundabout route via Cyprus and Beirut, Lebanon.

The Israelis today released the Egyptian-born Greek pilot, Basil Toulounesoglu, and four of the Arabs. The latter included Mrs. Sabiha el Mensalawi, the wife of an Egyptian lawyer. The pilot preferred to remain in Israel to be near his plane. The others were transferred to Gaza.

Mamie To Attend

Dr. Sam Grudgingly Admits Intimacies With Miss Hayes Under Cross-Examination

CLEVELAND, Dec. 13 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard told in halting question and answer style today of three women in his life, before his wife's murder. One he dated, one he kissed, one he made love to.

The serious affair was with Susan Hayes.

The 30-year-old osteopath also testified his 31-year-old wife, Marilyn, lost "sexual aggressiveness" after the birth of their son Chip, now a 7-year-old. She worried, he added, that she was "losing my attention."

However, Dr. Sheppard said:

"There was no question in my mind of divorce or separation."

Dr. Sheppard is on trial, charged with murdering his wife last July 4.

At the end of the court day, Dr. Sheppard was under heavy attack on his story of the actual slaying, which he blames on a marauding stranger. Outwardly, his composure held up. But his voice sank very low as he met question upon question with an "I don't know... I can't give a clear picture . . . I don't remember . . . I'm not positive . . . I don't recall."

Describes Activities

Asst. Prosecutor John J. Mahon had Dr. Sheppard describe how he used to take Miss Hayes home when the 24-year-old beauty was a laboratory technician in his hospital in 1952.

"You had intimate relations with her, didn't you?" Mahon asked.

"Yes, sir," replied Dr. Sheppard, confirming for the first time in the long trial Miss Hayes' story of a 15-months illicit romance.

When Miss Hayes went to California last February, Dr. Sheppard testified, she left with him her address and telephone number. He said he went to Los Angeles in March and for at least five days, shared the same bedroom with Susan in the Glendale home of friends.

Dr. Sheppard also testified about a kissing date with Mrs. Julie Lossman in 1953.

She was the 27-year-old wife of a dealer who sold him a Jaguar sports car.

He told of an outing to a Lake Erie resort the same year, when he and Mrs. Lossman took a long walk. When they returned, Mrs. Lossman's husband, Robert, was so upset he slapped his wife.

"Mr. Lossman said he didn't believe anything had gone on between me and Mrs. Lossman," Sheppard added, "but wouldn't blame me if it had. And he believed it was a woman's place to draw the line."

The woman he dated was Margaret Kaizor, a Los Angeles girl Sheppard testified he saw in 1950 when Marilyn was back in Cleveland.

Direct questioning of Dr. Sheppard ended in the mid-morning of his third day on the witness stand. Defense attorney William J. Corrigan surrendered him to state cross examination after asking:

"Doctor, in your life have you committed any sins?"

"I have succumbed to human frailty, yes, sir," Sheppard replied.

After that reply, Corrigan turned the witness over to the State's attorneys for cross examination. There was no development of the point.

Exchanges Are Polite

Mahon, tall, white-haired leader of the prosecution, then took up a position half way down the jury box, resting one elbow on the rail. Dr. Sheppard answered his questions quietly and their exchanges were soberly polite.

Mahon questioned Dr. Sheppard about a letter he wrote Marilyn in 1950 when she had returned to Cleveland and he was still in Los Angeles. Dr. Lester Hoversten, an osteopath and friend of the defendant, testified the letter discussed the possibility of a divorce.

Dr. Sheppard said Dr. Hoversten had advised him not to send the letter.

"And the reason he advised you that was, sir, was it not, that it was mentioned in that letter about a divorce?" Mahon went on.

Reviewers Uphold Dickenson Sentence

Army Board's Decision Appealed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—An attorney for Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson said today an Army board of review has upheld the court-martial conviction of Dickenson on charges of collaborating with the Chinese Communists.

Attorney Guy Emery said the three-member board of review also sustained the 10-year prison sentence meted out by the court-martial.

Dickenson, a 23-year-old GI from Cracker's Neck, Va., was the first soldier ever convicted by a court-martial of informing on fellow prisoners of war while in captivity.

The soldier now is imprisoned in an Army stockade at New Cumberland, Pa.

Emery said the review board decision will be appealed to the civilian U. S. Court of Military Appeals.

Dickenson was convicted last May on two charges, one involving collaboration in order to gain favors for himself, the other an accusation of informing on a fellow POW, Edward Gaither of Phildelphia.

Emery said the review board was unanimous in upholding the collaboration count but split 2-1 in favor of sustaining the Gaither count.

The six acts of collaboration charged to Dickenson were:

1. Joining in and leading discussions which advocates philosophies harmful to the United States.
2. Making recordings harmful to U.S. interests.
3. Writing articles along a pro-Communist line for Communist publications.
4. Signing and circulating petitions criticizing the United States for taking part in the Korean War.
5. Acting as an informant on other POWs.
6. Helping the enemy influence American POWs to accept the philosophies of communism.

Emery said No. 4 was dropped by the review board.

The Army said the review board also had upheld a sentence of dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances after Dickenson has served his 10 year prison term.

Benson Reduces Price Supports On Small Grains

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson today reduced price supports for small feed grains—oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums — and eased production controls set up earlier to hold down total crop plantings next year.

The 1955 crops of these small feed grains will be supported at 70 per cent of parity compared with 85 per cent this year. Benson said corn—the major feed grain—will be supported at possibly 87 or 88 per cent of parity. A final decision on corn will be announced later.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Benson removed a regulation which would have required farmers to comply with all acreage planting allotments assigned their farms next year in order to be eligible for price support on any crop.

Such allotments will be set up for cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, peanuts and rice.

Lifting of this regulation means, for example, that a farmer who grows both wheat and corn may exceed his allotment for corn but still be eligible for price support aid on wheat if, of course, he planted within his wheat allotment.

The secretary said the reduction in price supports for the small feed grains is designed to prevent overproduction of these grains next year as well as to bring prices of such grains down to a point where more of them will move into use rather than into storage under a government price support program.

The only controls next year will be those farmers vote on themselves in the form of marketing quotas on cotton, wheat, peanuts, and major types of tobacco, and possibly on rice and the acreage allotments on corn.

Yule Deferments For Draftees Not Automatic–Hershey

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — Draftees scheduled to be inducted between now and Dec. 27 were warned today that although they can get a postponement until after the Christmas holidays the deferment is not automatic—they have to ask for it,

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said anyone under orders to report for induction who does not report on time, unless he has asked for and received a postponement, will be listed as "delinquent" and his name will be turned over to the FBI.

Safety Sign Falls Onto Auto's Hood

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 13 (AP)—Michael Gasper was driving past an intersection last night when a sign fell from a traffic stanchion and dented the auto hood.

Gasper examined the sign. It was a reminder to motorists and pedestrians that Wednesday is "Safe Driving Day."

Condon Resigns Glass Co. Post

CORNING, N.Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon, the subject of repeated government security investigations, resigned today as research director for the Corning Glass Works.

Condon, whose security clearance was suspended by the Navy last October, is the former chief of the U.S. Bureau of Standards. He was once described by a congressional committee as the "weakest link" in the nation's atomic security chain—a charge Condon has vigorously denied.

Corning Glass released a statement by Condon in which he said he felt he would be denied "fair and independent judgment" in the current review of his security status.

His resignation was effective immediately. He left over the weekend for California, where he plans to live and work in Berkeley.

Corning Glass said Condon was withdrawing his application for government security clearance and resigning because he "recognizes that his continuance in an uncleared status impairs his usefulness to the company as director of research and development."

Fulbright Gets Apology From Letter Sender

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said today he has accepted an apology from a Long Island, N.Y., letter writer who called him "plain disgusting" and said Fulbright "would not be worthy of my saliva."

George J. Nick, of Middle Village, N.Y. in a letter last month lambasted Fulbright for voting against recessing the Senate during Sen. McCarthy's hospitalization. Nick wrote Fulbright he was "not worthy of being a human being."

But in a second letter, which Fulbright received last week, Nick wrote:

"I would like to apologize for the letter I sent you. Whatever I wrote I wrote in anger. I am not proud of what I wrote even though I feel you have been wrong.

"If you have inserted my other letter in any Congressional Record I would appreciate you also inserting this one."

Fulbright placed the first letter in the Congressional Record of Nov. 30 along with 11 others dealing with the subject. He called them examples of "unadulterated hate, vituperation and abuse . . . designed to intimidate . . . members of the Senate."

In his reply to Nick's second letter, Fulbright wrote:

"I appreciate your letter and of course I accept your apology. You certainly have every right to disagree with my views on any public matter but I do hope that all of us as good Americans can keep our good humor and be friends even though we have differing opinions.

"I am sorry I cannot insert your letter of apology in the record as I did the other one, but the Senate is not in session at the present time.

"However, I will give it to the press, which is the next best thing."

Actor Jackie Coogan Suffers Broken Leg

GLENDALE, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP) —Actor Jackie Coogan is under treatment in Behrens Memorial Hospital today for a broken right leg.

Dr. Edward Westphal said Coogan broke his leg Saturday night when he twisted his ankle and fell at his Malibu home.

GOP Leaders Review Ike's New Program

Plans Postponement Of Tax Relief Set For Autos, Beverages

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — A big chunk of President Eisenhower's legislative program was laid before Republican congressional leaders today including, one of them said, a plan to postpone about three billion dollars in tax relief scheduled for next year.

The congressional informant, who declined to be quoted by name, reported the administration will ask the new, 84th Congress to extend the present corporate income tax rate of 52 per cent and existing excises on automobiles, alcoholic beverages and other big selling items.

Tax Cuts Scheduled

Sharp cuts in these taxes are scheduled to go into effect April 1 unless Congress acts.

The GOP leaders met with Eisenhower and members of his Cabinet for 6 hours and 15 minutes at the White House.

Sen. Knowland of California, the party's leader in the Senate, described the session as "very constructive and harmonious," and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, retiring speaker of the House, added: "We hope the program will be enacted."

A statement issued by the White House after the conference did not mention the administration's reported decision to seek a postponement of the tax cuts, although it said the government's fiscal situation was discussed.

The statement disclosed there was preliminary discussion of these and other proposals the President will submit to Congress in January:

1. Extension of the Defense Production Act and the law providing for reorganization of executive agencies.
2. Continuation of the Small Business Administration.
3. Statehood for Hawaii (shelved by the last Congress).
4. Increased presidential authority to cut tariffs.
5. A 10-year multibillion-dollar program of highway building.
6. Wage adjustments for the federal service and elimination of inequities in pay scales in the postal service.

Budget Not Balanced

7. Revision of the Constitution to lower the voting age to 18 or thereabouts—rejected by the last Congress.

The administration's tax decision was reported in the wake of secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's announcement a week ago that the budget cannot be balanced for the fiscal year beginning July 1. A deficit of about 4¾ billion dollars is in prospect for the current fiscal year.

Oil Co. Donates Educational Fund

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) today donated half a million dollars to higher education—with no strings attached.

Checks ranging from $2,000 to $5,000 (and totaling $450,000) were mailed to 138 privately-endowed U.S. colleges and universities "to support general higher education at the undergraduate level."

A $50,000 donation was made to the National Fund for Medical Education, which represents 80 medical schools.

Red China Indicates Frosty Reception For UN Secretary

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 14 (AP)—Red China's radio today indicated a frosty reception for U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's plan to fly to Peiping and seek release of 13 Americans jailed as spies."

"The United Nations has no right to interfere in China's sentencing of the American spies," said Paiping radio broadcast which avoided any direct reference to Hammarskjold's proposed mission to Peiping.

The comment came from People's Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party, which insisted that the matter was Red China's "own internal affair."

"United Nations discussion of this question under American manipulation is both illegal and unjust," the newspaper said.

The United States took the sentencing of the 13 to the United Nations, declaring all 13 were on legitimate missions and that 11 were in uniform and were on a B29 shot down over North Korea. Spies do not operate in uniforms of their own country.

Brushing aside the U. S. position, Peiping declared that, "Everyone knows that the U. S. government has . . . appropriated large sums of money for hiring spies to conduct subversive activities against the Soviet Union and the people's democracies."

As for the U. N.'s severe denunciation of the sentencing of the 13 Americans, Peiping said, "The United Nations has added another humiliation to its record."

"Turning to the United Nations to cover up its criminal activities once again," People's Daily asserted, "the United States hopes to divert attention, to engineer slanders against the Chinese people to fan the flames of war and animosity and so to aggravate world tension."

After the U. N. resolution was passed overwhelmingly last week, Hammarskjold announced he had asked Premier Chou En-lai for a personal meeting in Peiping to discuss the case of the fliers and other U. N. prisoners. Hammarskjold has as yet received no reply from Peiping.

Safe Driving Day:

President Solidly Backs Safety Program Planned Tomorrow

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—All because a safety expert was involved in a fatal crash himself, this nation will observe Safe Driving Day Wednesday.

At the head of the campaign is the President himself. And this doesn't appear to be like some other campaigns, in which the President may be little more than a figurehead who gives the show class.

For Eisenhower is whooping this up in person. He began his last news conference with a pep talk on what this nation might do on Safe Driving Day. He had a tremendous conviction, Eisenhower said, that this nation could do anything it wanted to.

The presidential pitch: let's get safe driving in the headlines.

The story back of these headlines goes to Al Veglia, California's registrar of motor vehicles. He was driving between San Francisco and Sacramento, minding his own business, when a car came hurtling out of nowhere.

In an effort to avoid the crash, Veglia swerved—and went into a 30-foot ravine. But it was a futile try. The car crashed into him anyway.

Two persons were killed, and Veglia wound up in a hospital.

While there, he decided something had to be done—maybe a special day—to dramatize this killing of 38,000 persons each year. And from this, safety experts said today, the idea grew.

How come Dec. 15 was chosen?

Oddly, for no reason at all. When the idea began shaping up last summer, plenty of time was needed to get all plans completed. Probably it would take until December.

And the 15th? The experts wanted the middle of the week for their safe day, so they chose a Wednesday. So it became Wednesday, Dec. 15.

"The strange part of it is," Bill Bethea, staff director of the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety, was saying, "when we picked the date we had no idea of what would be a good record for that day. So we had each state check its accident rate for the nearest comparable date, Wednesday, Dec. 16, 1953."

On the average, more than 100 persons are killed each day in traffic accidents in this country. Dec. 16, 1953, was a comparatively safe day to be about. Only 60 were killed that day.

"That figure is going to be almost impossible to top," Bethea said glumly, "furthermore, we'll probably have lousy weather, too."

Still, Eisenhower is optimistic. And the experts have boiled their ideas down to three simple rules they think may help you save your skin not only on Dec. 15, but the year around.

1. Obey all traffic regulations.
2. Use common sense, good sportsmanship and courtesy.
3. Remember, be alert and careful, for negligence causes accidents.

Three Men Suffocate In Old Abandoned Mine At Welch

WELCH, Dec. 13 (AP) — Three men died today or last night, evidently from asphyxiation, in an abandoned coal mine which was the location of a still for making illicit moonshine whisky.

A mine rescue team found the bodies lying in shallow water this afternoon inside the old Fall River mine, which was abandoned about 35 years ago. State Trooper C. N. Otto said the bodies were about 2,000 feet inside the mine and about 1,000 feet down a side passageway.

The mine, about 10 miles west of here, is near the McDowell County community of Roderfield.

The victims, whose bodies were brought out of the mine between 3 and 3:30 p. m., were identified as McKinley Marcum, 26 and his brother, Warren Marcum, 23, both of Roderfield, and their first cousin, William Duncan, 28, of Washington, D. C., who had been visiting in the county.

Two 60 - gallon barrels of mash and a copper still for moonshine-making were discovered in the mine about 100 feet from where the bodies lay.

Deputy Sheriff A. M. St. Clair said the still was operated with gasoline burners. He theorized that the burners exhausted the oxygen supply and that the men were asphyxiated.

Mine inspectors at the scene said the men apparently died from the effects of carbon monoxide. There was no immediate decision as to whether an autopsy would be held.

A third Marcum brother, 24-year-old Mike Harrison Marcum of Beckley, spent the weekend with his family at Roderfield. He said his brothers and Duncan went to the mine about 6 o'clock last night and planned to be home by midnight.

After they failed to return, Harrison Marcum went to the mine this morning to search for them. He said he found the victims, apparently already dead, and became ill himself while inside the mine.

Direct questioning of Dr. Sheppard ended in the mid-morning of his third day on the witness stand. Defense attorney William J. Corrigan surrendered him to state cross examination after asking:

"Doctor, in your life have you committed any sins?"

"I have succumbed to human frailty, yes, sir," Sheppard replied.

After that reply, Corrigan turned the witness over to the State's attorneys for cross examination. There was no development of the point.

Exchanges Are Polite

Mahon, tall, white-haired leader of the prosecution, then took up a position half way down the jury box, resting one elbow on the rail. Dr. Sheppard answered his questions quietly and their exchanges were soberly polite.

Mahon questioned Dr. Sheppard about a letter he wrote Marilyn in 1950 when she had returned to Cleveland and he was still in Los Angeles. Dr. Lester Hoversten, an osteopath and friend of the defendant, testified the letter discussed the possibility of a divorce.

Dr. Sheppard said Dr. Hoversten had advised him not to send the letter.

"And the reason he advised you that was, sir, was it not, that it was mentioned in that letter about a divorce?" Mahon went on.

Reviewers Uphold Dickenson Sentence

Army Board's Decision Appealed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—An attorney for Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson said today an Army board of review has upheld the court-martial conviction of Dickenson on charges of collaborating with the Chinese Communists.

Attorney Guy Emery said the three-member board of review also sustained the 10-year prison sentence meted out by the court-martial.

Dickenson, a 23-year-old GI from Cracker's Neck, Va., was the first soldier ever convicted by a court-martial of informing on fellow prisoners of war while in captivity.

The soldier now is imprisoned in an Army stockade at New Cumberland, Pa.

Emery said the review board decision will be appealed to the civilian U. S. Court of Military Appeals.

Dickenson was convicted last May on two charges, one involving collaboration in order to gain favors for himself, the other an accusation of informing on a fellow POW, Edward Gaither of Phildelphia.

Emery said the review board was unanimous in upholding the collaboration count but split 2-1 in favor of sustaining the Gaither count.

The six acts of collaboration charged to Dickenson were:

1. Joining in and leading discussions which advocates philosophies harmful to the United States.
2. Making recordings harmful to U.S. interests.
3. Writing articles along a pro-Communist line for Communist publications.
4. Signing and circulating petitions criticizing the United States for taking part in the Korean War.
5. Acting as an informant on other POWs.
6. Helping the enemy influence American POWs to accept the philosophies of communism.

Emery said No. 4 was dropped by the review board.

The Army said the review board also had upheld a sentence of dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances after Dickenson has served his 10 year prison term.

Benson Reduces Price Supports On Small Grains

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson today reduced price supports for small feed grains—oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums — and eased production controls set up earlier to hold down total crop plantings next year.

The 1955 crops of these small feed grains will be supported at 70 per cent of parity compared with 85 per cent this year. Benson said corn—the major feed grain—will be supported at possibly 87 or 88 per cent of parity. A final decision on corn will be announced later.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Benson removed a regulation which would have required farmers to comply with all acreage planting allotments assigned their farms next year in order to be eligible for price support on any crop.

Such allotments will be set up for cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, peanuts and rice.

Lifting of this regulation means, for example, that a farmer who grows both wheat and corn may exceed his allotment for corn but still be eligible for price support aid on wheat if, of course, he planted within his wheat allotment.

The secretary said the reduction in price supports for the small feed grains is designed to prevent overproduction of these grains next year as well as to bring prices of such grains down to a point where more of them will move into use rather than into storage under a government price support program.

The only controls next year will be those farmers vote on themselves in the form of marketing quotas on cotton, wheat, peanuts, and major types of tobacco, and possibly on rice and the acreage allotments on corn.

Yule Deferments For Draftees Not Automatic–Hershey

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — Draftees scheduled to be inducted between now and Dec. 27 were warned today that although they can get a postponement until after the Christmas holidays the deferment is not automatic—they have to ask for it.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said anyone under orders to report for induction who does not report on time, unless he has asked for and received a postponement, will be listed as "delinquent" and his name will be turned over to the FBI.

Safety Sign Falls Onto Auto's Hood

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 13 (AP)—Michael Gasper was driving past an intersection last night when a sign fell from a traffic stanchion and dented the auto hood.

Gasper examined the sign. It was a reminder to motorists and pedestrians that Wednesday is "Safe Driving Day."

Condon Resigns Glass Co. Post

CORNING, N.Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon, the subject of repeated government security investigations, resigned today as research director for the Corning Glass Works.

Condon, whose security clearance was suspended by the Navy last October, is the former chief of the U.S. Bureau of Standards. He was once described by a congressional committee as the "weakest link" in the nation's atomic security chain—a charge Condon has vigorously denied.

Corning Glass released a statement by Condon in which he said he felt he would be denied "fair and independent judgment" in the current review of his security status.

His resignation was effective immediately. He left over the weekend for California, where he plans to live and work in Berkeley.

Corning Glass said Condon was withdrawing his application for government security clearance and resigning because he "recognizes that his continuance in an uncleared status impairs his usefulness to the company as director of research and development."

Fulbright Gets Apology From Letter Sender

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said today he has accepted an apology from a Long Island, N.Y., letter writer who called him "plain disgusting" and said Fulbright "would not be worthy of my saliva."

George J. Nick, of Middle Village, N.Y. in a letter last month lambasted Fulbright for voting against recessing the Senate during Sen. McCarthy's hospitalization. Nick wrote Fulbright he was "not worthy of being a human being."

But in a second letter, which Fulbright received last week, Nick wrote:

"I would like to apologize for the letter I sent you. Whatever I wrote I wrote in anger. I am not proud of what I wrote even though I feel you have been wrong.

"If you have inserted my other letter in any Congressional Record I would appreciate you also inserting this one."

Fulbright placed the first letter in the Congressional Record of Nov. 30 along with 11 others dealing with the subject. He called them examples of "unadulterated hate, vituperation and abuse . . . designed to intimidate . . . members of the Senate."

In his reply to Nick's second letter, Fulbright wrote:

"I appreciate your letter and of course I accept your apology. You certainly have every right to disagree with my views on any public matter but I do hope that all of us as good Americans can keep our good humor and be friends even though we have differing opinions.

"I am sorry I cannot insert your letter of apology in the record as I did the other one, but the Senate is not in session at the present time.

"However, I will give it to the press, which is the next best thing."

Actor Jackie Coogan Suffers Broken Leg

GLENDALE, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP)—Actor Jackie Coogan is under treatment in Behrens Memorial Hospital today for a broken right leg.

Dr. Edward Westphal said Coogan broke his leg Saturday night when he twisted his ankle and fell at his Malibu home.

GOP Leaders Review Ike's New Program

Plans Postponement Of Tax Relief Set For Autos, Beverages

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — A big chunk of President Eisenhower's legislative program was laid before Republican congressional leaders today including, one of them said, a plan to postpone about three billion dollars in tax relief scheduled for next year.

The congressional informant, who declined to be quoted by name, reported the administration will ask the new, 84th Congress to extend the present corporate income tax rate of 52 per cent and existing excises on automobiles, alcoholic beverages and other big selling items.

Tax Cuts Scheduled

Sharp cuts in these taxes are scheduled to go into effect April 1 unless Congress acts.

The GOP leaders met with Eisenhower and members of his Cabinet for 6 hours and 15 minutes at the White House.

Sen. Knowland of California, the party's leader in the Senate, described the session as "very constructive and harmonious," and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, retiring speaker of the House, added: "We hope the program will be enacted."

A statement issued by the White House after the conference did not mention the administration's reported decision to seek a postponement of the tax cuts, although it said the government's fiscal situation was discussed.

The statement disclosed there was preliminary discussion of these and other proposals the President will submit to Congress in January:

1. Extension of the Defense Production Act and the law providing for reorganization of executive agencies.
2. Continuation of the Small Business Administration.
3. Statehood for Hawaii (shelved by the last Congress).
4. Increased presidential authority to cut tariffs.
5. A 10-year multibillion-dollar program of highway building.
6. Wage adjustments for the federal service and elimination of inequities in pay scales in the postal service.

Budget Not Balanced

7. Revision of the Constitution to lower the voting age to 18 or thereabouts—rejected by the last Congress.

The administration's tax decision was reported in the wake of secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's announcement a week ago that the budget cannot be balanced for the fiscal year beginning July 1. A deficit of about 4¾ billion dollars is in prospect for the current fiscal year.

Oil Co. Donates Educational Fund

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) today donated half a million dollars to higher education—with no strings attached.

Checks ranging from $2,000 to $5,000 (and totaling $450,000) were mailed to 138 privately-endowed U.S. colleges and universities "to support general higher education at the undergraduate level."

A $50,000 donation was made to the National Fund for Medical Education, which represents 80 medical schools.

Red China Indicates Frosty Reception For UN Secretary

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 14 (AP)—Red China's radio today indicated a frosty reception for U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's plan to fly to Peiping and seek release of 13 Americans jailed as spies."

"The United Nations has no right to interfere in China's sentencing of the American spies," said Paiping radio broadcast which avoided any direct reference to Hammarskjold's proposed mission to Peiping.

The comment came from People's Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party, which insisted that the matter was Red China's "own internal affair."

"United Nations discussion of this question under American manipulation is both illegal and unjust," the newspaper said.

The United States took the sentencing of the 13 to the United Nations, declaring all 13 were on legitimate missions and that 11 were in uniform and were on a B29 shot down over North Korea. Spies do not operate in uniforms of their own country.

Brushing aside the U. S. position, Peiping declared that, "Everyone knows that the U. S. government has . . . appropriated large sums of money for hiring spies to conduct subversive activities against the Soviet Union and the people's democracies."

As for the U. N.'s severe denunciation of the sentencing of the 13 Americans, Peiping said, "The United Nations has added another humiliation to its record."

"Turning to the United Nations to cover up its criminal activities once again," People's Daily asserted, "the United States hopes to divert attention, to engineer slanders against the Chinese people to fan the flames of war and animosity and so to aggravate world tension."

After the U. N. resolution was passed overwhelmingly last week, Hammarskjold announced he had asked Premier Chou En-lai for a personal meeting in Peiping to discuss the case of the fliers and other U. N. prisoners. Hammarskjold has as yet received no reply from Peiping.

Safe Driving Day:

President Solidly Backs Safety Program Planned Tomorrow

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—All because a safety expert was involved in a fatal crash himself, this nation will observe Safe Driving Day Wednesday.

At the head of the campaign is the President himself. And this doesn't appear to be like some other campaigns, in which the President may be little more than a figurehead who gives the show class.

For Eisenhower is whooping this up in person. He began his last news conference with a pep talk on what this nation might do on Safe Driving Day. He had a tremendous conviction, Eisenhower said, that this nation could do anything it wanted to.

The presidential pitch: let's get safe driving in the headlines.

The story back of these headlines goes to Al Veglia, California's registrar of motor vehicles. He was driving between San Francisco and Sacramento, minding his own business, when a car came hurtling out of nowhere.

In an effort to avoid the crash, Veglia swerved—and went into a 30-foot ravine. But it was a futile try. The car crashed into him anyway.

Two persons were killed, and Veglia wound up in a hospital.

While there, he decided something had to be done—maybe a special day—to dramatize this killing of 38,000 persons each year. And from this, safety experts said today, the idea grew.

How come Dec. 15 was chosen?

Oddly, for no reason at all. When the idea began shaping up last summer, plenty of time was needed to get all plans completed. Probably it would take until December.

And the 15th? The experts wanted the middle of the week for their safe day, so they chose a Wednesday. So it became Wednesday, Dec. 15.

"The strange part of it is," Bill Bethea, staff director of the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety, was saying, "when we picked the date we had no idea of what would be a good record for that day. So we had each state check its accident rate for the nearest comparable date, Wednesday, Dec. 16, 1953."

On the average, more than 100 persons are killed each day in traffic accidents in this country. Dec. 16, 1953, was a comparatively safe day to be about. Only 60 were killed that day.

"That figure is going to be almost impossible to top," Bethea said glumly, "furthermore, we'll probably have lousy weather, too."

Still, Eisenhower is optimistic. And the experts have boiled their ideas down to three simple rules they think may help you save your skin not only on Dec. 15, but the year around.

1. Obey all traffic regulations.
2. Use common sense, good sportsmanship and courtesy.
3. Remember, be alert and careful, for negligence causes accidents.

Three Men Suffocate In Old Abandoned Mine At Welch

WELCH, Dec. 13 (AP) — Three men died today or last night, evidently from asphyxiation, in an abandoned coal mine which was the location of a still for making illicit moonshine whisky.

A mine rescue team found the bodies lying in shallow water this afternoon inside the old Fall River mine, which was abandoned about 35 years ago. State Trooper C. N. Otto said the bodies were about 2,000 feet inside the mine and about 1,000 feet down a side passageway.

The mine, about 10 miles west of here, is near the McDowell County community of Roderfield.

The victims, whose bodies were brought out of the mine between 3 and 3:30 p. m., were identified as McKinley Marcum, 26 and his brother, Warren Marcum, 23, both of Roderfield, and their first cousin, William Duncan, 28, of Washington, D. C., who had been visiting in the county.

Two 60 - gallon barrels of mash and a copper still for moonshine-making were discovered in the mine about 100 feet from where the bodies lay.

Deputy Sheriff A. M. St. Clair said the still was operated with gasoline burners. He theorized that the burners exhausted the oxygen supply and that the men were asphyxiated.

Mine inspectors at the scene said the men apparently died from the effects of carbon monoxide. There was no immediate decision as to whether an autopsy would be held.

A third Marcum brother, 24-year-old Mike Harrison Marcum of Beckley, spent the weekend with his family at Roderfield. He said his brothers and Duncan went to the mine about 6 o'clock last night and planned to be home by midnight.

After they failed to return, Harrison Marcum went to the mine this morning to search for them. He said he found the victims, apparently already dead, and became ill himself while inside the mine.

West Leaders Ready For Debate In NATO

Issue Involves Use Of A-Weapons

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP)—The West's military leaders today set the stage for a sharp debate within the North Atlantic Treaty Council when they met on a controversial plan for the defense of Western Europe with the aid of atomic weapons.

This so-called "new look" plan, approved in principle a year ago by NATO ministers, goes later this week before the full NATO Council of foreign, defense and finance ministers. Some nations are expected to demand a veto power over use of atomic weapons by NATO forces.

The chiefs of staff, sitting as NATO's "Military Committee," convened today to finish their plan before submitting it to the ministers Friday. The ministers will be here for a two-day annual review of defense preparations.

There appeared to be no dissension among the military leaders, but political officials of some NATO countries are expected to make an issue of who is to say when and how tactical atomic weapons can be used.

The military plans were believed to recommend that the choice of weapons in case of an attack from the East be left to the commander-in-chief at Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe. That post is now filled by U.S. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther.

This recommendation, it was reported, encountered sharp opposition in the foreign offices of some member countries when it reached them for study last month. One of the decisions confronting the Military Committee here today was whether to modify the original suggestion to meet these objections.

Some NATO governments, it was reported, want the commander to ask permission from all NATO members before using atomic weapons. They argue that this is a matter of policy which cannot be left in the hands of the military alone since, for one thing, it involves the risk of atomic reprisal raids on European population centers.

Newlyweds Escape As Fire Burns House

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Burns, married yesterday, edged along a narrow second floor ledge to a neighbor's window when smoke and flames drove them from their living quarters today.

Lurray Bailey, Mrs. Burns' 16-year-old daughter, escaped with them.

The fire broke out in the Burns confectionery and store on the first floor of the building and boiled up the stairway before the family could get out.

"Dr. Hoversten had obtained a date for this dance with a young lady that he had previously introduced me to. After he had made this date, he found that he was unable to keep it because he was going to have to work that particular night. He asked me to take this young lady to the dance.

"What was the young lady's name?" Mahon asked.

"Margaret Kaizor," replied the defendant, without identifying her further.

After he sent the letter, Sheppard testified, he talked with his father by telephone. He said his father was upset and blamed Hoversten for encouraging him to take Miss Kaizor out.

"And wasn't there some talk with your father about divorce?" Mahon demanded.

"No, sir," Dr. Sheppard said.

Dr. Sheppard testified that his pre-California relations with Miss Hayes took place "chiefly in her apartment." Sometimes, he conceded, they took place in an automobile. And he added they sometimes were intimate in Dr. Hoversten's apartment in the building where the Sheppard family operate a clinic.

The defendant testified Miss Hayes mentioned divorce to him. She had testified that he brought up the subject.

"Well, wasn't she asking you about a divorce?" Mahon asked.

"That was my assumption, yes," Dr. Sheppard replied.

He said he told her at the time, "I love my wife very much and I love my little boy."

City Stuffs Parking Meters In Bags For Christmas Holidays

CENTREVILLE, Md., Dec. 13 (AP) —The Centreville commissioners played Santa Claus today, stuffing something in the bag for just about everybody in town.

The town's 80 parking meters have been covered with bags which read:

"Welcome to Centreville. No. meter charge Dec. 13 to Dec. 31. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." Encircling the notice is a picture of a Christmas wreath.

A group of businessmen asked that the meters be bagged to stimulate shopping.

Federal Agents Discover Still Near York, Pa.

YORK, Pa., Dec. 13 (AP) — Five federal agents raided a southern York County, Pa., farm home today and seized an estimated 3,500 gallons of mash and an illegal still capable of producing 300 to 500 gallons of whisky a day.

Two men were held and a third was being sought according to Louis DeCarlo, deputy commissioner in charge of the Philadelphia office of the alcohol and tobacco tax division of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The liquor was found in the home of Robert Joines, 39, located between Stewartstown and Fawn Grove, about 25 miles south of York, almost on the Pennsylvania-Maryland border.

Joines was being sought on an information sworn out by U. S. Commissioner Ernest Volkhart of Baltimore charging him with violating federal laws against the cross state transportation of untaxed liquor.

Being held in Baltimore pending Joines' arrest were his son, William R. Joines, 17, and John Paul Joines, 21, a nephew of William R. Joines.

Taking part in the raid were three agents from the Baltimore office of the unit and two from Philadelphia.

DeCarlo said that the raid resulted from the seizure several weeks ago of a truck near Rising Sun, Md., which contained 400 gallons of untaxed liquor.

He said that charges against William R. and John Paul Joines will be filed before U.S. Commissioner Charles J. Ware in Harrisburg. Ware said he had heard nothing about the case so far.

Car Hits Two Trailers, Crushed By Bulldozer

ELKTON, Md., Dec. 13 (AP) — A car driven by a Pennsylvania boy ricocheted off one tractor-trailer here today, rammed into another and was flattened by a 9-ton bulldozer, but the 15-year-old driver escaped serious injury.

Paul S. Bloxon of Harrisburg was hospitalized with bruises and shock, but his condition was not serious, authorities said.

State Police Cpl. James Poteet said young Bloxon's car ran through a stop light at the intersections of U. S. 40 and 213 and struck one tractor-trailer. It then bounced into another tractor-trailer which was transporting the bulldozer.

The bulldozer rolled off the trailer onto the back of the Bloxon car, Poteet said. He charged Bloxon with reckless driving.

Lloyds Pays Huge Shipping Impost

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 13 (AP)—Lloyds of London today paid the three million dollar fine imposed on shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis' whaling fleet for operating in waters claimed by Peru.

Peruvian naval and air units last month seized five of Onassis' Panama-registered whalers, charging they were within the 200-mile limit this country claims as territorial waters. The whalers arrived yesterday under naval escort at Callao, eight miles west of Lima. A reliable source said Peru had warned Onassis it would confiscate the vessels and sell them at public auction if the fine were not paid.

Pope Remains Grave Despite Improvement

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 13 (AP) — Pope Pius XII, although still reflecting improvement from a near fatal collapse 12 days ago, was reported somewhat weaker today. He was having difficulty eating.

An authoritative source said the 78-year-old pontiff's condition remained grave and required constant watching.

Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, one of three medical specialists consulted after the Pope's collapse Dec. 2, was called here from his Bologna clinic and examined the Pope again. This was called "purely a checkup." After his first examinations, Gasbarrini prescribed an alkaline washing of the Pontiff's stomach and a special diet to build his strength.

Until today, the Roman Catholic Church leader had been eating increased amounts of food. Hiccups that harassed him intermittently since last January ceased after Gasbarrini's treatment was started.

The Pope's slight weakening was the first break in his steady improvement for more than a week. Vatican associates attributed it to a five-minute speech recorded Saturday and to extreme emotion over the consecration yesterday of Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini as archbishop of Milan.

The new archbishop had been the pontiff's closest collaborator for years and during the past year was Vatican prosecretary of state. The Pope listened by radio to the consecration ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica, closed with his own recorded words of blessing.

$250,000 In Cash Is Issue In Warring Gambling Case

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP)— A quarter of a million dollars, in 240 $1,000 bills and one $10,000 bill, was the issue today when Emmit Warring, Washington gambler, went on trial accused of evading income taxes.

The government set out to prove most of the money "stashed away in a box" in a Washington bank was profit to Warring as backers of a numbers operation. The defense claimed it was accumulated for years and hinted it didn't all belong to Warring.

The government is trying Warring on a charge of understating his income for 1947. He reported $29,559 and paid $12,005 in taxes. He is charged with earning $147,967 which called for $104,087 in taxes.

Warring paid up $160,000 two years ago to satisfy civil claims and his trial before Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut is a criminal matter subject to fine or imprisonment.

After going into detail on how betting the numbers works, George Cochran Doub, prosecuting attorney, said "it is one of the few businesses anywhere that is entirely a cash business."

For that reason, he said it is necessary to use "indirect methods of proof" and the "government never has been presented with this perplexing problem before."

The difficult part, he said, is proving that the $250,000 found July 2, 1948 in a safe deposit box "can be attributed to earnings" in the year before.

He sought to do it by relating that in 1936 treasury agents found $25,000 cash in a Warring safe deposit box and 10 years later his apparent cash worth was only $1,000 more.

He concluded then that "this hoard of cash (the $250,000) "could not have been derived from the sale of real estate, he didn't inherit it and no one gave it to him. It had to come from his 1947 income."

Doub accused the 49-year-old Warring of "flagrant, wilful tax evasion predicated on a carefully designed system of cash operation."

G.C.A. Anderson, Baltimore attorney for Warring, argued the government in its assumption gave the defendant no "credit for having accumulated a substantial amount of cash" over the years.

The chiefs of staff, sitting as NATO's "Military Committee," convened today to finish their plan before submitting it to the ministers Friday. The ministers will be here for a two-day annual review of defense preparations.

There appeared to be no dissension among the military leaders, but political officials of some NATO countries are expected to make an issue of who is to say when and how tactical atomic weapons can be used.

The military plans were believed to recommend that the choice of weapons in case of an attack from the East be left to the commander-in-chief at Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe. That post is now filled by U.S. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther.

This recommendation, it was reported, encountered sharp opposition in the foreign offices of some member countries when it reached them for study last month. One of the decisions confronting the Military Committee here today was whether to modify the original suggestion to meet these objections.

Some NATO governments, it was reported, want the commander to ask permission from all NATO members before using atomic weapons. They argue that this is a matter of policy which cannot be left in the hands of the military alone since, for one thing, it involves the risk of atomic reprisal raids on European population centers.

Crushed To Death

QUEBEC, Dc. 13 — (AP) An 18-year-old girl was crushed to death today when 35 cast iron pipes weighing 22,000 pounds spilled from a truck and thundered over a sidewalk.

Newlyweds Escape As Fire Burns House

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Burns, married yesterday, edged along a narrow second floor ledge to a neighbor's window when smoke and flames drove them from their living quarters today.

Lurray Bailey, Mrs. Burns' 16-year-old daughter, escaped with them.

The fire broke out in the Burns confectionery and store on the first floor of the building and boiled up the stairway before the family could get out.

Dr. Sam

junior prom is actually what it was.

"Dr. Hoversten had obtained a date for this dance with a young lady that he had previously introduced me to. After he had made this date, he found that he was unable to keep it because he was going to have to work that particular night. He asked me to take this young lady to the dance.

"What was the young lady's name?" Mahon asked.

"Margaret Kaizor," replied the defendant, without identifying her further.

After he sent the letter, Sheppard testified, he talked with his father by telephone. He said his father was upset and blamed Hoversten for encouraging him to take Miss Kaizor out.

"And wasn't there some talk with your father about divorce?" Mahon demanded.

"No, sir," Dr. Sheppard said.

Dr. Sheppard testified that his pre-California relations with Miss Hayes took place "chiefly in her apartment." Sometimes, he conceded, they took place in an automobile. And he added they sometimes were intimate in Dr. Hoversten's apartment in the building where the Sheppard family operate a clinic.

The defendant testified Miss Hayes mentioned divorce to him. She had testified that he brought up the subject.

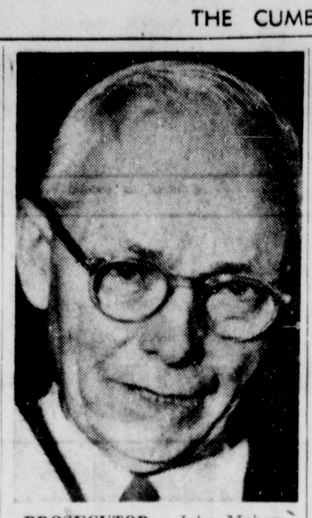
"Well, wasn't she asking you about a divorce?" Mahon asked.

"That was my assumption, yes," Dr. Sheppard replied.

He said he told her at the time, "I love my wife very much and I love my little boy."

Midshipman Dies

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 13 (AP)—Midshipman Glenn R. Van Gronigan of Alton, Iowa, collapsed and died at the Naval Academy tonight while playing basketball.



PROSECUTOR — John Mahon, assistant prosecutor in the Sheppard murder trial in Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday began cross examination of Dr. Sam who is on the witness stand in defense of himself on a charge he murdered his wife last July.

City Stuffs Parking Meters In Bags For Christmas Holidays

CENTREVILLE, Md., Dec. 13 (AP) —The Centreville commissioners played Santa Claus today, stuffing something in the bag for just about everybody in town.

The town's 80 parking meters have been covered with bags which read:

"Welcome to Centreville, No. meter charge Dec. 13 to Dec. 31. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." Encircling the notice is a picture of a Christmas wreath.

A group of businessmen asked that the meters be bagged to stimulate shopping.

Federal Agents Discover Still Near York, Pa.

YORK, Pa., Dec. 13 (AP) — Five federal agents raided a southern York County, Pa., farm home today and seized an estimated 3,500 gallons of mash and an illegal still capable of producing 300 to 500 gallons of whisky a day.

Two men were held and a third was being sought according to Louis DeCarlo, deputy commissioner in charge of the Philadelphia office of the alcohol and tobacco tax division of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The liquor was found in the home of Robert Joines, 39, located between Stewartstown and Fawn Grove, about 25 miles south of York, almost on the Pennsylvania-Maryland border.

Joines was being sought on an information sworn out by U. S. Commissioner Ernest Volkhart of Baltimore charging him with violating federal laws against the cross state transportation of untaxed liquor.

Being held in Baltimore pending Joines' arrest were his son, William R. Joines, 17, and John Paul Joines, 21, a nephew of William R. Joines.

Taking part in the raid were three agents from the Baltimore office of the unit and two from Philadelphia.

DeCarlo said that the raid resulted from the seizure several weeks ago of a truck near Rising Sun, Md., which contained 400 gallons of untaxed liquor.

He said that charges against William R. and John Paul Joines will be filed before U.S. Commissioner Charles J. Ware in Harrisburg. Ware said he had heard nothing about the case so far.

Car Hits Two Trailers, Crushed By Bulldozer

ELKTON, Md., Dec. 13 (AP) — A car driven by a Pennsylvania boy ricocheted off one tractor-trailer here today, rammed into another and was flattened by a 9-ton bulldozer, but the 15-year-old driver escaped serious injury.

Paul S. Bloxon of Harrisburg was hospitalized with bruises and shock, but his condition was not serious, authorities said.

State Police Cpl. James Poteet said young Bloxon's car ran through a stop light at the intersections of U. S. 40 and 213 and struck one tractor-trailer. It then bounced into another tractor-trailer which was transporting the bulldozer.

The bulldozer rolled off the trailer onto the back of the Bloxon car, Poteet said. He charged Bloxon with reckless driving.

Lloyds Pays Huge Shipping Impost

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 13 (AP)—Lloyds of London today paid the three million dollar fine imposed on shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis' whaling fleet for operating in waters claimed by Peru.

Peruvian naval and air units last month seized five of Onassis' Panama-registered whalers, charging they were within the 200-mile limit this country claims as territorial waters. The whalers arrived yesterday under naval escort at Callao, eight miles west of Lima. A reliable source said Peru had warned Onassis it would confiscate the vessels and sell them at public auction if the fine were not paid.

Pope Remains Grave Despite Improvement

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 13 (AP) — Pope Pius XII, although still reflecting improvement from a near fatal collapse 12 days ago, was reported somewhat weaker today. He was having difficulty eating.

An authoritative source said the 78-year-old pontiff's condition remained grave and required constant watching.

Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, one of three medical specialists consulted after the Pope's collapse Dec. 2, was called here from his Bologna clinic and examined the Pope again. This was called "purely a checkup." After his first examinations, Gasbarrini prescribed an alkaline washing of the Pontiff's stomach and a special diet to build his strength.

Until today, the Roman Catholic Church leader had been eating increased amounts of food. Hiccups that harassed him intermittently since last January ceased after Gasbarrini's treatment was started.

The Pope's slight weakening was the first break in his steady improvement for more than a week. Vatican associates attributed it to a five-minute speech recorded Saturday and to extreme emotion over the consecration yesterday of Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini as archbishop of Milan.

The new archbishop had been the pontiff's closest collaborator for years and during the past year was Vatican prosecretary of state. The Pope listened by radio to the consecration ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica, closed with his own recorded words of blessing.

$250,000 In Cash Is Issue In Warring Gambling Case

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP)— A quarter of a million dollars, in 240 $1,000 bills and one $10,000 bill, was the issue today when Emmit Warring, Washington gambler, went on trial accused of evading income taxes.

The government set out to prove most of the money "stashed away in a box" in a Washington bank was profit to Warring as backers of a numbers operation. The defense claimed it was accumulated for years and hinted it didn't all belong to Warring.

The government is trying Warring on a charge of understating his income for 1947. He reported $29,559 and paid $12,005 in taxes. He is charged with earning $147,967 which called for $104,087 in taxes.

Warring paid up $160,000 two years ago to satisfy civil claims and his trial before Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut is a criminal matter subject to fine or imprisonment.

After going into detail on how betting the numbers works, George Cochran Doub, prosecuting attorn- said "it is one of the few businesses anywhere that is entirely a cash business."

For that reason, he said it is necessary to use "indirect methods of proof" and the "government never has been presented with this perplexing problem before."

The difficult part, he said, is proving that the $250,000 found July 2, 1948 in a safe deposit box "can be attributed to earnings" in the year before.

He sought to do it by relating that in 1936 treasury agents found $25,000 cash in a Warring safe deposit box and 10 years later his apparent cash worth was only $1,000 more.

He concluded then that "this hoard of cash (the $250,000) "could not have been derived from the sale of real estate, he didn't inherit it and no one gave it to him. It had to come from his 1947 income."

Doub accused the 49-year-old Warring of "flagrant, wilful tax evasion predicated on a carefully designed system of cash operation."

G.C.A. Anderson, Baltimore attorney for Warring, argued the government in its assumption gave the defendant no "credit for having accumulated a substantial amount of cash" over the years.

Firemen Check Three Alarms

City firemen were called twice to the business district of Cumberland yesterday afternoon.

At 2:32 p. m. Central's pumper went to 316 North Centre Street to the Acme Market where a defective oil stove in the rear of the building was reported overloaded. No damage resulted.

A little over an hour later the pumper and aerial ladder truck from Central went to the Windsor Restaurant, 158 Baltimore Street, when a smoke scare resulted as the flue pipe of the kitchen stove fell off. The call came in at 3:55 p. m.

In a morning blaze, South End firemen went to 912 Glenwood Street, where a flue fire was checked. No damage was caused, firemen said.

Toy Distribution Gets Under Way

The Associated Charities yesterday began distributing toys from its toy center at 75 North Centre Street.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary, said the selection will be the best ever offered, since there are from 5,000 to 6,000 toys on hand.

She said the toys are being handed out to mothers by appointment, adding that every effort is made to provide the type of toys which children have requested.

There will b enough toys, she said, to provide for at least 300 families.

RIU Charges NMB With Malfeasance

Charging the National Mediation Board with violating the Railway Labor Act in not providing 10 days for a Railroad Industrial Union statement of its case against a union representation election on the Western Maryland Railway the president of the union said he will seek action in the U. S. District Court at Baltimore to block temporarily, any further action of the board in determining whether the election should be held.

Elmer E. Davis, RIU president, said he has written President Eisenhower and the U. S. Senators from Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania of what he charges in his opinion is malfeasant practice of the Mediation Board in this case.

During the past week, he and his union were informed by the secretary of the board, E. C. Thompson, that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen had petitioned the board for an election to determine the bargaining agent for the firemen, engineers and hostlers now represented by the RIU on the Western Maryland.

It is the fifth time since 1945, that the brotherhood has made a move to unseat the RIU as bargaining agent for the three classes of employes, Davis pointed out.

Sergeant In Army Receives Decoration

Master Sgt. Richard S. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brinley R. Davis, 30 Howard Street, has been awarded the commendation ribbon for meritorious service in Austria.

A citation presented by Col. James C. Tarkenton Jr., commander of the 350th Infantry Regiment, stated the sergeant distinguished himself as a member of Company C from March 11, 1953 to last September 1.

Sgt. Davis, a veteran of more than 13 years in the Army, arrived overseas during March of 1953.

City Workers Secure Data On Social Security Plan

Representatives of city employes met again yesterday with the Mayor and Council in regard to their request for an increase in wages and salary or additional benefits.

No decision was reached in the session before the regular council meeting. City officials expressed themselves as believing employes deserve an increase but, at the same time said they did not know where the extra money to cover the cost would come from.

Later in the morning, council met with James L. Robertson, manager of the Cumberland district Social Security office, to obtain information on the Social Security act and what would be necessary to bring city employes under the law. Police and firemen, however, are exempted from such coverage.

Increased taxes have been ruled out to meet the cost of a pay boost since the rate has been set. And by law, the city cannot change or adjust its appropriations until nine months after the fiscal year starts. That would make such action impossible until next April 1, it was pointed out.

Calvin W. Shipes, president of Local 812, Municipal Employes Union, said it has been two years since workers had an increase and he believes they are entitled to more money.

In addition to Shipes, Charles R. Baker of the Water Department, and Officer Charles E. Snider, representing the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association, attended.

At the meeting with Robertson on the Social Security program, Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker also attended.

Mayor Eves said some facets of the program were brought out concerning entrance requirements and eligibility. In view of the request by employes, the Mayor said Robertson's explanation proved "interesting and informative."

Earlier, Eves had said that the employes are interested in a pay hike and/or a plan which would give them greater pension benefits.

City Workers Will Receive Long Christmas Weekend

The city will observe Friday, December 24, as a holiday since Christmas Day falls on Saturday.

The Mayor and Council ordered city offices and departments closed that day when it met yesterday. The order exempts the Police and Fire Departments, members of which get a day off with pay some other time during the week.

The order means city offices and departments will close Thursday at 5 p.m. and not reopen until 9 a.m. the following Monday.

The same setup is expected the following weekend when New Year's Day, also a city holiday, falls on Saturday.

Council also ordered that checks be issued city employes Wednesday for the first two weeks of December.

Today's session of council was of a routine nature.

Referred to Finance Commissioner John J. Long and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, with power to act, was the request of the Western Maryland Jewish Welfare Fund for assistance in its campaign.

Council accepted a report and ordered it entered in land records on the sewering and otherwise improving of Camden Avenue. Cost of $5,049.32 was listed by City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum. The report noted liens for $3,879.22 or $3.65 a lineal foot would be filed against property owners.

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, in his monthly report of street cleaning and street and alley work, said there were 460 paved streets, 20 paved alleys and 564 catch basins cleaned. Nineteen streets and alleys had holes filled with blacktop and nine with concrete. There were 16 sewers opened and nine complaints investigated, the report noted.

A letter of thanks from the Western Maryland Safety Council for the city's cooperation in Safety Week was read and filed.

Woman Is Injured In Fall Down Steps

Mrs. Treva Martz, 34, of 1074 Marshall Street, Hagerstown, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital early Sunday with a left ankle injury. Attaches said she fell down several steps at the Elks Home here after a dance Saturday night.

Miss Alice Neeley, 25, of 115 Cumberland Street, was taken to the same hospital Sunday for treatment of an index finger injury. She caught her left hand in an electric mixer.

Police Chief Cited

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn has been awarded a citation for valuable service in helping to prevent accidents during the "Slow Down and Live" program conducted this year by the Northeastern and Southern Safety Coordinators.

Yule Party Planned

Lambda Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority will hold its Christmas party today at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, Harrison Street.

Right Of Way Is Sought For Sewage Plant

The city is in the process of executing an agreement with the B&O Railroad concerning a right-of-way under its tracks for a part of the pipe necessary to connect with the proposed sewage treatment plant.

With one exception, council told City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to proceed with the agreement which calls for $1 a year rental and necessary steps to cover the contractor's liability.

The exception was made until a clarification is forthcoming on a railroad request reserving the right to tap on to the line without cost. Finan said he is certain the "no charge" request is for the tap alone. The railroad would be charged the same fee for treatment as any other industry once the plant is completed, it was said.

Nuzum Reports On Streets

As directed by Council, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum reported he had contacted the State Roads Commission regarding the proposed widening of Frederick Street between Linden Street and Woodlawn Terrace, providing it can be included in the Federal Urban Aid program.

He said a district field engineer of the SRC would be here within the next two or three weeks to examine the ground and determine if the work qualifies under the federal share-cost plan.

Additional work would cost the city only $12,116.25 for 1,400 lineal feet of new and widened pavement if accepted, or one-half the cost if the city undertook it later. Also eliminated would be the necessity for blacktopping the old pavement at a cost of $5,745 next year.

Two Orders Aproved

Two orders involving the Bedford Road sewer ejector station were approved. One authorizes payment of $500 to the George Construction Company for repairs; and another payment to the same firm of $1,238.04 representing five per cent of the retained percentage on the project plus $400 more for material, parts and labor in installing machinery parts for the ejector station.

Authorized was payment of $12,294.90 to the George F. Hazelwood Company as the third estimate on work done at the Lake Gordon filter plant and covering November 1-30.

Approved was a grant of $1,300 to the Municipal Concert Band from the Band Fund to cover costs of programs and rehearsals.

Council also agreed to pay $13.05 to Ernest T. Johnson, 218 Fulton Street, as a compromise settlement for damage to a water line.

City-Owned Property Damaged By Vandals

Authorities are probing an outbreak of vandalism at city-owned houses on the West Side.

Investigation disclosed that rocks were used to knock out all front windows at 221 Water Street. A steel fireplace was pulled from its mounting and several wire sockets reportedly are missing.

The property was purchased some time ago by the city to make way for flood control project work.

Meter Receipts Boost Reported

An increase in shopping for the Christmas holidays is believed the prime factor in a big boost in parking meter receipts.

Inspector Harry M. Whisner's report to the Mayor and Council today showed collections the week of December 5 to be $657.11 or $113 more than the week of November 28 when receipts totaled $544.11.

Streets Listed For Sledding

With the "feel of snow in the air," Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn has announced that seven local streets will be used for sled riding.

Thoroughfares selected for coasting follow:

Gephart Drive to Cleveland Avenue, Grand Avenue to Second Street, Oak to Springdale Streets, Chase to Fayette Street, Sylvan Avenue to Franklin Street and all of Marietta and Warren Streets.

Flynn said the streets will be barricaded and patrolled by members of the Auxiliary Police Force from 7 to 10 p. m. Bottom areas will be ashed to prevent sleds from coasting on to thoroughfares.

Urging that motorists use caution while driving in the vicinity of posted districts, he also asked parents to permit children to sled ride only on marked streets and to teach them to observe safety regulations.

The chief offered these suggestions for coasters to heed:

"Do not run and slam your sled when starting because many a person has slipped and seriously injured himself while doing so; do not ride one on top of another person as most accidents that occur are caused by this action.

"Do not try to ram another sled; keep clear of the track when returning with your sled and be careful of small children on the track."

McGinn Is Honored By B&O Workers

More than 100 B&O Railroad Company employes and friends of Griffin A. McGinn, 64 Greene Street, attended a testimonial dinner in his honor Saturday night at the Cumberland Country Club.

McGinn retired several weeks ago as chief clerk to the superintendent of the Cumberland Division after 52 years of service.

William A. Gunter, local attorney and a B&O counsel, was toastmaster. The invocation was given by Roy W. Eves, superintendent of the Bolt and Forge Shops.

A certificate of retirement issued by W. C. Baker, company vice president, was presented to McGinn by A. W. Conley, superintendent.

A highlight of the program occurred when McGinn, well known for his habit of wearing his hat in the office, was presented a new hat by J. R. L. Hite, local chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, on behalf of the various local chairmen with whom McGinn was closely associated for many years.

Mrs. Blanche Lippold, clerk in the superintendent's office, presented a bouquet of roses to Mrs. McGinn.

Principal speaker was John H. Mosner, vice president of the Second National Bank. Mosner, a former employe of the B&O, worked for McGinn many years ago.

McGinn was presented three $100 and one $50 U. S. Savings Bonds, on behalf of his fellow employes on the Cumberland Division.

Also attending the dinner were McGinn's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Sipple, Johnstown; and his son, Madden F. McGinn, who is employed in the Car Service Department for the B&O at Cincinnati. Another son, Major Joseph G. McGinn, was unable to attend. He is stationed with the Army in Munich, Germany.

Entertainment was provided by Miss Carolyn Sue Luman, Miss Janet Anne Heming, who did several dance numbers; and Miss Elsie Joe Inskeep and Miss Margaret Anne Frey, who sang several selections. Miss Avis Siehler played the dinner music and accompaniment.

In Sweden, all purchases of liquor are recorded in a passbook which must be carried by each customer.

City Workers Secure Data On Social Security Plan

Representatives of city employes met again yesterday with the Mayor and Council in regard to their request for an increase in wages and salary or additional benefits.

No decision was reached in the session before the regular council meeting. City officials expressed themselves as believing employes deserve an increase but, at the same time said they did not know where the extra money to cover the cost would come from.

Later in the morning, council met with James E. Robertson, manager of the Cumberland district Social Security office, to obtain information on the Social Security act and what would be necessary to bring city employes under the law. Police and firemen, however, are exempted from such coverage.

Increased taxes have been ruled out to meet the cost of a pay boost since the rate has been set. And by law, the city cannot change or adjust its appropriations until nine months after the fiscal year starts. That would make such action impossible until next April 1, it was pointed out.

Calvin W. Shipes, president of Local 812, Municipal Employes Union, said it has been two years since workers had an increase and he believes they are entitled to more money.

In addition to Shipes, Charles R. Baker of the Water Department, and Officer Charles E. Snider, representing the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association, attended.

At the meeting with Robertson on the Social Security program, Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker also attended.

Mayor Eves said some facets of the program were brought out concerning entrance requirements and eligibility. In view of the request by employes, the Mayor said Robertson's explanation proved "interesting and informative."

Earlier, Eves had said that the employes are interested in a pay hike and/or a plan which would give them greater pension benefits.

City Workers Will Receive Long Christmas Weekend

The city will observe Friday, December 24, as a holiday since Christmas Day falls on Saturday.

The Mayor and Council ordered city offices and departments closed that day when it met yesterday. The order exempts the Police and Fire Departments, members of which get a day off with pay some other time during the week.

The order means city offices and departments will close Thursday at 5 p.m. and not reopen until 9 a.m. the following Monday.

The same setup is expected the following weekend when New Year's Day, also a city holiday, falls on Saturday.

Council also ordered that checks be issued city employes Wednesday for the first two weeks of December.

Today's session of council was of a routine nature.

Referred to Finance Commissioner John J. Long and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, with power to act, was the request of the Western Maryland Jewish Welfare Fund for assistance in its campaign.

Council accepted a report and ordered it entered in land records on the sewering and otherwise improving of Camden Avenue. Cost of $5,049.32 was listed by City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum. The report noted liens for $3,879.22 or $3.65 a lineal foot would be filed against property owners.

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, in his monthly report of street cleaning and street and alley work, said there were 460 paved streets, 20 paved alleys and 564 catch basins cleaned. Nineteen streets and alleys had holes filled with blacktop and nine with concrete. There were 16 sewers opened and nine complaints investigated, the report noted.

A letter of thanks from the Western Maryland Safety Council for the city's cooperation in Safety Week was read and filed.

Right Of Way Is Sought For Sewage Plant

The city is in the process of executing an agreement with the B&O Railroad concerning a right-of-way under its tracks for a part of the pipe necessary to connect with the proposed sewage treatment plant.

With one exception, council told City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to proceed with the agreement which calls for $1 a year rental and necessary steps to cover the contractor's liability.

The exception was made until a clarification is forthcoming on a railroad request reserving the right to tap on to the line without cost. Finan said he is certain the "no charge" request is for the tap alone. The railroad would be charged the same fee for treatment as any other industry once the plant is completed, it was said.

Nuzum Reports On Streets

As directed by Council, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum reported he had contacted the State Roads Commission regarding the proposed widening of Frederick Street between Linden Street and Woodlawn Terrace, providing it can be included in the Federal Urban Aid program.

He said a district field engineer of the SRC would be here within the next two or three weeks to examine the ground and determine if the work qualifies under the federal share-cost plan.

Additional work would cost the city only $12,116.25 for 1,400 lineal feet of new and widened pavement if accepted, or one-half the cost if the city undertook it later. Also eliminated would be the necessity for blacktopping the old pavement at a cost of $5,745 next year.

Two Orders Aproved

Two orders involving the Bedford Road sewer ejector station were approved. One authorizes payment of $500 to the George Construction Company for repairs; and another payment to the same firm of $1,238.04 representing five per cent of the retained percentage on the project plus $400 more for material, parts and labor in installing machinery parts for the ejector station.

Authorized was payment of $12,294.90 to the George F. Hazelwood Company as the third estimate on work done at the Lake Gordon filter plant and covering November 1-30.

Approved was a grant of $1,300 to the Municipal Concert Band from the Band Fund to cover costs of programs and rehearsals.

Meter Receipts Boost Reported

An increase in shopping for the Christmas holidays is believed the prime factor in a big boost in parking meter receipts.

Inspector Harry M. Whisner's report to the Mayor and Council today showed collections the week of December 5 to be $657.11 or $113 more than the week of November 28 when receipts totaled $544.11.

Streets Listed For Sledding

With the "feel of snow in the air," Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn has announced that seven local streets will be used for sled riding.

Thoroughfares selected for coasting follow:

Gephart Drive to Cleveland Avenue, Grand Avenue to Second Street, Oak to Springdale Streets, Chase to Fayette Street, Sylvan Avenue to Franklin Street and all of Marietta and Warren Streets.

Flynn said the streets will be barricaded and patrolled by members of the Auxiliary Police Force from 7 to 10 p. m. Bottom areas will be ashed to prevent sleds from coasting on to thoroughfares.

Urging that motorists use caution while driving in the vicinity of posted districts, he also asked parents to permit children to sled ride only on marked streets and to teach them to observe safety regulations.

The chief offered these suggestions for coasters to heed:

"Do not run and slam your sled when starting because many a person has slipped and seriously injured himself while doing so; do not ride one on top of another person as most accidents that occur are caused by this action.

"Do not try to ram another sled; keep clear of the track when returning with your sled and be careful of small children on the track."

Memorial Students Sing At Infirmary Tomorrow

Approximately 20 students from Memorial Hospital School of Nursing are going to sing for the patients of the Allegany County Infirmary, December 15, from 7 until 8 p. m.

The caroling at the infirmary, by the students, has been traditional for the past couple of years.

Christmas Being Marked At Hospital

Christmas is being observed with numerous activities at Sacred Heart Hospital.

The student nurses are entertaining with their annual party for needy children, December 19. It will be in the Our Lady of the Mount home, from 3 until 5 o'clock. There is to be a visit by Santa, distribution of gifts and refreshments.

December 21, the pre-clinical Glee Club will present the cantata, "The Chorus in the Skies." It will begin at 7 o'clock, with Mrs. Richard W. Trevaskis, Sr., directing.

A Christmas party will be held for the entire student body, December 22, at 7 p. m. The program, under the direction of Sister Mary Louise, includes a play, singing of carols, exchanging of gifts and refreshments.

Entitled, "The Fragrance of Myrrh," the short play deals with the birth of the Christ Child, and its action takes place in an Inn in Bethlehem, with the scenes taking place one night, the second night and early the morning of the third day.

Esmar the keeper of the Inn of Bethlehem is portrayed by Miss Anna Marie Dressman; Anna, his wife, Miss Constance Fearnow; the stable boy, Miss Glenna Jean Rizer; the cook, Miss Evelyn Weir; a Roman soldier, Miss Joann Carter; travelers, Miss Mary Louise Davis, Miss Joann Sturtz, Miss Frances Deffenbaugh, Miss Donna Jean Myers, Miss Lois Ringer, Miss Marian Laughlin and the off stage voice, Miss Frances Schlereth.

A dance is planned for December 29.

Sister Margaret, director of nurses, is officiating at a ceremony when the pre clinical students will receive their capes. It is being held this evening at 7:30.

Social Chart

The Sewing Group of First Presbyterian Church will meet at 10 tomorrow morning at the church.

Cresaptown WSCS will have its Christmas party tonight at the church.

The Windshimer-Ludman Circle of First Presbyterian Church will meet at 8 tomorrow at the church. Members are to bring refreshments.

Polish Mountain Homemakers will have its Christmas party tonight at the club house.

Church school officers and teachers of First Presbyterian Church will meet at 7:30 tonight at the church.

The annual Christmas party of the Corriganville Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Company will be held tonight at the fire hall.

GETTING READY FOR S-D DAY—As the women are so interested in safety, guests and members were asked to sign the S-D scroll at the Open House held by the County Council of Homemakers Clubs, recently at the court house. Of the 345 attending the open house, there were 297 registered to exercise extra caution in driving and walking in a concerted effort to reduce highway mishaps, December 15. Left to right are Mrs. Helen White, of the Union Grove Homemakers Club; Miss Patricia Golden, secretary to the home demonstration agent; and Mrs. Douglas Smith of the LaVale Homemakers Club. County Health and Safety chairmen were in charge of the scroll. In speaking of the open house, Miss Mary Wise, county home demonstration agent, said she favors an annual county project so that members of the various clubs become better acquainted with each other. For the open house, each club was responsible for a exhibit of Christmas decorations for the door, window, mantle or table, as well as tree ornaments. Demonstrations were given each day. The type of next year's project has not been determined, but also will be held early in December.

Auxiliary To Install, Have Party

Installation of officers and banquet of the Ladies Auxiliary of the LaVale Fire company will be held December 18 at the fire hall, beginning at 6 o'clock, and followed by a jingle party.

Plans were completed at the meeting Friday. It was announced that several county and state officers will be guests. Members are to make their reservations by tomorrow with Mrs. Fannie Kemp, 3404. A rehearsal was held for the installation, with Miss Elizabeth Close installing officer and Miss Margaret Beck, installing escort.

Mrs. Flo Alexander presided and Mrs. Elizabeth Moody led in prayer, followed by the flag salute. Twenty members answered roll call and routine reports were given by Mrs. Leola Knieriem, Mrs. Gladys Burkey and Mrs. Elda Shell. Orders for hosiery and lingerie were sold.

Committees were named for the 18th. They are Entertainment, Mrs. Freda Nine, Mrs. Margaret O'Rourke, Mrs. Emma Youngblood and Mrs. Ann Kammauf; and Decorations, Mrs. Bessie Zembower, Mrs. Lelia Lancaster, Miss Mildred Beck and Miss Margaret Beck.

The committee for the evening was Mrs. Eleanor Lavin, Mrs. Martha Gerkins and Mrs. Shirley Eisenberger.

Chapter 914 Makes Yule Contributions

Chapter 914 Women of the Moose voted contributions to three projects at the meeting recently.

A donation of $30 was voted to the LOOM 271 towards filling Christmas baskets, gift of $5 was sent to William Deitrich, a member of 271, who several years ago went to Moosehaven to reside. Money was collected from the members for gifts to be sent to the family of children sent to Mooseheart by the men's lodges.

The annual jingle party will be held December 23, after the regular meeting. Gifts are to be exchanged and refreshments served.

Spring Gap Club To Pack Yule Baskets

The Spring Gap Homemakers Christmas party was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Steger, Spring Gap, at which time plans were made for the club to assist in preparing community welfare baskets. Mrs. Raymond Taschenberger was named chairman.

Installation of officers will take place at the next meeting which will be in the form of a covered dish luncheon, January 13 at the home of Mrs. William Taschenberger.

Mrs. John W. Wheeler assisted the hostess in serving luncheon. The table was decorated with miniature Christmas trees and the place cards were in keeping with the season. The social hour opened with Mrs. Cyrus Lewis, music chairman, conducting the singing of Christmas carols.

Christmas games were played under the direction of Mrs. Steger and Mrs. John Davis. Prizes were won by Mrs. Norman Gerdeman, Reno, Nev.; Mrs. W. L. McKenzie, Mrs. Walter Taschenberger and Mrs. Lewis. A card was signed by all members and sent to Mrs. Richard Hixon, who is ill. The jingle party followed and gifts were distributed.

Stock Market Has Another Sharply Irregular Session

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—The stock market went through another of its inconclusive and irregular sessions today, this time on sharply reduced volume.

Atlantic Coast Line Railroad jumped ahead 8¼ at 147. Brokers found that investment buying was the basis for strong demand, but there was only a small supply of stock offered for sale. Coast Line opened on 1,000 shares at 143 and then hit a high of 147¾.

That helped to pull up the railroad component of the Associated Press average of 60 stocks by 80 cents while the industrial and utility components each fell 10 cents. The net result was a gain of 20 cents in the over-all average at $149.40. It was the first gain for the average in four sessions.

Volume dropped down to 2,750,000 shares, lowest since the first day of the big post-election bull market boom. There were 3,250,000 shares traded Friday.

Pepsi-Cola was the day's most active issue up ¾ at 16⅜ on 52,300 shares.

Alleghany Corp., which controls New York Central, was third off ⅛ at 7½, while Central itself was fourth up ½ at 29.

Among stocks gaining were U. S. Steel up ½, Chrysler ⅜, Boeing ½, National Distillers ⅜, Radio Corp. ⅝, Boston & Maine Railroad 2, Amerada Petroleum 5, Royal Dutch Petroleum ⅞, Paramount Pictures ⅜, Affiliated Gas Equipment ¾, and International Nickel ½.

Lower were Sears Roebuck 1, United Aircraft 1⅛, American Telephone 1 (the stock is facing conversion of two convertible issues), Anaconda Copper 1, DuPont 1½, Westinghouse Electric ½, Chicago North Western Railroad common ½ and preferred 1⅛ (on passed dividends), Southern Railway 2, Eastern Air Lines ⅞, U. S. Gypsum 5½, and Swift & Co. 1¾ (on lowered profits).

Chiang To Get Two Destroyers

TAIPEH, Formosa, Monday, Dec. 13 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek's navy is getting two more destroyer escorts and 10 high-speed patrol boats from the United States, the Nationalist press reported yesterday.

These reports, not contradicted by official sources, said:

Hundreds of Nationalist officers and enlisted men will leave this week for the United States to take over the destroyer escorts and will bring them to Formosa in four months.

Stock Market Has Another Sharply Irregular Session

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—The stock market went through another of its inconclusive and irregular sessions today, this time on sharply reduced volume.

Atlantic Coast Line Railroad jumped ahead 8¼ at 147. Brokers found that investment buying was the basis for strong demand, but there was only a small supply of stock offered for sale. Coast Line opened on 1,000 shares at 143 and then hit a high of 147¾.

That helped to pull up the railroad component of the Associated Press average of 60 stocks by 80 cents while the industrial and utility components each fell 10 cents. The net result was a gain of 20 cents in the over-all average at $149.40. It was the first gain for the average in four sessions.

Volume dropped down to 2,750,000 shares, lowest since the first day of the big post-election bull market boom. There were 3,250,000 shares traded Friday.

Pepsi-Cola was the day's most active issue up ¾ at 16⅜ on 52,300 shares.

Texas Pacific Land Trust was the second most active closing at 13⅜ on 51,500 shares.

Alleghany Corp., which controls New York Central, was third off ⅛ at 7½, while Central itself was fourth up ½ at 29.

Among stocks gaining were U. S. Steel up ½, Chrysler ⅜, Boeing ½, National Distillers ⅜, Radio Corp. ⅝, Boston & Maine Railroad 2, Amerada Petroleum 5, Royal Dutch Petroleum ⅞, Paramount Pictures ⅜, Affiliated Gas Equipment ¾, and International Nickel ½.

Lower were Sears Roebuck 1, United Aircraft 1⅛, American Telephone 1 (the stock is facing conversion of two convertible issues), Anaconda Copper 1, DuPont 1½, Westinghouse Electric ½, Chicago North Western Railroad common ½ and preferred 1⅛ (on passed dividends), Southern Railway 2, Eastern Air Lines ⅞, U. S. Gypsum 5½, and Swift & Co. 1¾ (on lowered profits).

Chiang To Get Two Destroyers

TAIPEH, Formosa, Monday, Dec. 13 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek's navy is getting two more destroyer escorts and 10 high-speed patrol boats from the United States, the Nationalist press reported yesterday.

These reports, not contradicted by official sources, said:

Hundreds of Nationalist officers and enlisted men will leave this week for the United States to take over the destroyer escorts and will bring them to Formosa in four months.

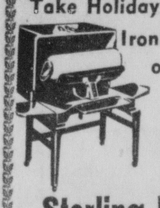
Social Security:

New Law Gives Break To Disabled Workers And To Beneficiaries Who Earn A Salary



Take Holiday from Hand Ironing the Rest of Your Life with the AUTOMATIC IRONRITE IRONER

Sterling Electric

100 N. Centre St. Phone 697

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — In addition to increasing benefits and expanding coverage, the new social security law gives a special break to two groups likely to need help the most.

It permits social security beneficiaries to earn more money on their own and still draw all or part of their social security benefits.

And it provides bigger benefits to workers who have been totally disabled over a long period of time. But they don't get these benefits until they reach age 65.

By helping the worker who is covered directly by social security, the new law also helps their dependents and survivors; because dependents' and survivors' benefits are based on the benefit earned by the worker.

Here is how the two new provisions will work:

Retirement Test

The theory of the Old Age and Survivros Insurance system (OASI) is that monthly benefits are paid only upon the retirement or death of the family wage earner. So the law has included a test to determine whether a worker really has retired.

Under the old law, a person from 65 to 75 lost his social security benefit for any month in which he earned $75 or more. Thus a person could, say, earn $80 a month for three months during the summer vacation period; and although his total annual earnings were only $240, he would lose three months' social security benefits. At age 75 or over, a person got his benefits regardless of his earnings.

The new law, first, lowers the exempt age to 72. Loss of benefits for those between 65 and 72 depends on how much they earn and how many months they work.

They may draw all their social security benefits if they earn $1,200 a year or less. The test is applied on an annual basis, instead of monthly, so an aged person can earn $400 a month for three months or $600 for two months, and still not lose any retirement benefits.

Further, the new law says a person working every month will lose only one month's benefit for each $80 earned above $1,200 a year. So a "retired" person can earn $1,280 and lose only one months's benefit, $1,360 and lose two months or up to $2,080 and lose 11 months. No benefits can be paid a person working year round for more than $2,080.

However, you can't lose your benefit for any month in which you (1) did not earn more than $80 in wages, or (2) render substantial services in self - employment. Thus if you earned $10,000 a year, but didn't work for four months, you could still get your social security benefits for those four months.

In defining work under this section, the old law included only work covered by social security. Thus a man could earn any amount in noncovered workk and get full benefits. The new law embraces all kinds of work, although it doesn't count income from investments such as dividends, pensions or insurance policies.

Families are affected too. If a retired worker is ineligible for benfits in any one month, his dependents also are ineligible. A surviving widow or widower loses monthly benefits according to her earnings, just as a retired worker does; but surviving children under 18 get their benefits anyhow.

Disabled Persons

Social security benefits are based upon average monthly earnings. If a worker becomes totally disabled for a long period of time, his earnings of course are reduced. But under the old law, average earnings had to be figured from a certain starting date until the worker became 65 or died. Thus disabled persons had their benefits greatly reduced, or sometimes eliminated.

Under the new law, a worker can "freeze" his average earnings at the time he becomes disabled. The idle period will not count against him and he will be eligible for full benefits based upon the period he actually worked.

To qualify, a disabled person must work under social security for 5 out of the 10 years before he becomes disabled, and he also must work 18 months out of the three years before he becomes disabled.

Persons already on the benefit rolls, whose payments have been reduced because they had as much as six months disability in the past, can get their benefits increased under the new provision if they are still disabled. The first increases will be paid in July 1955.

Persons who are disabled now, but who haven't reached retirement age of 65 yet, have until June 30, 1957, to apply for their disability freeze. The freeze can be retroactive back through all the years of their disability. After June 30, 1957, the freeze can go back only one year.

Persons who become disabled in the future should apply for their "freeze" after they have been disabled for six months, and indications are that the disability will last for an indefinite period. If they later recover. they may resume work under the social security system and the disabled period will not count against their earnings average.

More than three thousand soldiers died of exposure, illness and privation during Gen. George Washington's revolutionary war encampment at Valley Forge.

German Felons Kill Warden And Escape

BORKEN, Germany, Dec. 13 (AP) —Four German prisoners broke out of jail here Saturday after killing Warden Karl Valentin, 60.

Police said the four, held for investigation of minor charges, probably fled across the nearby Dutch border. They were unarmed and dressed in civilian clothes.

BIG THINGS ARE HAPPENING AT IRON CITY BREWERY

Local Brewery Proves Its Confidence In Pittsburgh's Future

Iron City Brewery, Division of Pittsburgh Brewing Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., has made another big step toward the completion of their multi-million dollar expansion and modernization program. The latest installation is the World's Fastest Bottling Lines, mechanical giants which bottle Iron City Beer at the machine gun speed of over 400 per minute. No other brewery, anywhere in the world, has such equipment because Iron City is pioneering for the entire industry. The eyes of the entire Brewing Industry are on Pittsburgh's Iron City Brewery, for here, again, brewing history is being made.

But these newest of bottling lines are only a small, single step in the impressive modernization plans which have been progressing steadily during recent years. The gigantic expansion expenditure, which includes the building of an entirely new, advance design bottling house, has already passed the Eight Million Dollar Mark. The well-planned program modernized every phase of Iron City Beer's operation, from top to bottom, through the installation of the newest and most efficient equipment known to the brewing industry. Not only does this provide a much greater capacity, but provides, too, the ultimate of convenience and efficiency for the brewery workers. That's why the brewing industry knows that Iron City Brewery is, now more than ever, the most modern brewery in Pennsylvania.

Of course, greater efficiency and greater employee-convenience are only two factors achieved through this multi-million dollar program of progress at Iron City Brewery. Another, and probably the most important achievement of all, is the greater brewing capacity which was needed—even demanded—by the general beer-drinking public's ever greater desire to enjoy rich, robust Real Beer. This expansion and modernization program was a necessity if Iron City Beer was to satisfy the customer's demands for more and more Iron City Beer. Iron City's overall capacity was greatly increased and lovers of fine beer—Real Beer—can now order Iron City Beer anytime, anywhere.

Big things are really happening at the Iron City Brewery in Pittsburgh—big plans are being laid—big steps are being taken—greater goals are being reached—success is the byword at Iron City because for over 93 years, Iron City's record has shown a steady, strong growth. Why? Because beer drinkers know and appreciate fine, quality beer and are ordering Iron City Beer time and time again. People have made Iron City successful by demanding rich, robust, full-bodied Iron City Beer. If you haven't tried the perfect refreshment, please do. Next time you crave real enjoyment, join your friends for an Iron City Beer. You'll be glad you did!

EXPANSION PROGRAM COSTS WELL OVER $8 MILLION

The ever-increasing demand for rich, robust Iron City Beer has dictated an expansion program at the brewery that has already exceeded the $8 million mark. Every department, every step in the giant brewing process has been affected by this multi-million dollar expansion and modernization project. The newest, most modern equipment known to the brewing industry has been installed to speed-up production and create the needed greater capacity. Iron City Beer's plan of progress includes the building of an advanced-designed, four-storied bottling house; the installation of over a hundred glass-lined horizontal storage and fermentation tanks that have a 750-barrel capacity each, and just as big installations in all other departments. That's why the brewing trade acknowledges the fact, without question, that Iron City is, now more than ever, the most beautiful and most modern brewery in Pennsylvania. More than that, Iron City Beer now has the greater capacity needed in order to satisfy the consumer demand for quality beer.

IRON CITY STICKS WITH METALLIC LABELS

Pittsburgh's famous brewery, Iron City Brewery, is retaining the shiny metallic labels on all bottles. Even while other breweries switch to paper labels to cut costs, Iron City insists that fine beer deserves fine labels . . . that expensive metallic labels predict that there's fine beer inside. That's why Iron City says that "under Pittsburgh's finest labels, you'll find Pittsburgh's finest beer." While paper labels are considerably cheaper, they seem to indicate that here's someone trying to cut corners. Iron City Beer is proud of the fact that they never cut corners . . . that they produce only the finest beer in the finest, most convenient packages, and that's another reason why Iron City is first in sales, and first by a greater margin than ever before. People know that Iron City means the very best in quality, in flavor, and in appearance. Next time, order Iron City Beer . . . it's quality all the way. You'll be glad you did.

REAL BEER BREWED

There is a Real Beer being brewed in Pittsburgh and it's Iron City Beer. Iron City is Real Beer because it's an ALL-GRAIN beer. It's a fact that, while syrups and other artificial ingredients are cheaper, Iron City Beer uses ONLY fine, plump, sun-ripened grains in its brewing process. Never a substitute. Iron City officials know that there can be no compromise with quality and Iron City has been a quality, all-grain brew for nearly a hundred years. If you want Real Beer flavor, satisfying character that's like nothing else you've ever had, try Iron City Beer. You can't find Iron City Beer's big flavor anywhere else. That's why more and more people order Iron City Beer time and time again. Next time, try Real Beer . . . an All-Grain beer . . . Iron City Beer. You'll be glad you did.

93 YEARS OF FAME

Iron City Brewery, Division of Pittsburgh Brewing Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is the oldest brewing operation west of the Allegheny Mountains. History of this famous firm can be traced back to the early 1800's which would make the Iron City operation about 150 years old to date. However, the present-day Iron City Beer goes, directly, back only to 1861 which makes Iron City Beer just over 93 years old. But even with 93 years of brewing experience and history, Iron City is older than any Pittsburgh brewery and older than most others. This near-century of beer-making experience is one more reason why Iron City Beer is the popular Pittsburgh favorite . . . this is why more and more people everywhere enjoy Iron City regularly and often. Try it, join your friends for an Iron City Beer.

BREWERY SPONSORS POPULAR WESTERN GROUP

Iron City Brewery sponsors the famous Slim Bryant Western Group every Friday evening at 9:30 on Pittsburgh's WDTV. Slim Bryant and his Wildcats, Loppy, Kenny, Al and Jerry, are well-known radio-tv personalities. You are invited to tune in Pittsburgh every Friday at 9:30 P. M. and see and hear Slim Bryant and his Wildcats, down at Slim's General Store, sing and play your all-time favorite pop and western tunes. Pretty Nancy Fingal adds her feminine charm and voice to the proceedings. Slim Bryant is also heard every Monday evening at 6:30 on KDKA for Iron City Beer. A local sportscaster, Bill Sutherland, handles the commercials.

RECENT STUDY PROVES IRON CITY BEER 1ST IN PITTSBURGH

Survey Asks the Men Who Know . . . Man Behind the Bar . . . and Distributor Who Sells Direct to Homes

A recent survey conducted by an Independent Research Organization has proved, again, that Iron City Beer is the overwhelming favorite beer in the City of Pittsburgh. This is the most recent survey in a long, continuing series of surveys conducted to determine the beer leadership in Pittsburgh. Each study has proved that Iron City Beer is the largest-selling beer in Pittsburgh taverns, hotels, bars as well as being the biggest-seller to Pittsburgh homes. This in itself isn't remarkable considering the high quality and rich character that has always been Iron City's . . . the remarkable factor is that survey after survey shows Iron City's leadership position to be stronger than ever before and this is true for every section of the city—Downtown, East End, South Side and North Side.

Here's an interesting fact, also. No other beer, anywhere at any time, has ever achieved such an overwhelming position of leadership in its home area as has Iron City Beer. It's a great tribute to a great beer to have so many friends in a home market. This is proof that, in Pittsburgh, Iron City Beer is the Favorite Beer, outselling all others by a wider margin than ever before . . . and it's the first time in Pittsburgh's history that any beer has become such an outstanding leader.

Iron City Brewery officials say, "There must be a reason." And they are right. The big reason is this: Iron City is an ALL-GRAIN beer . . . substitutes for rich, sun-ripened grains are never used . . . no sweet syrups or other artificial ingredients . . . nothing but fine, plump sun-ripened grains. That's why Iron City Beer is REAL BEER, a rich, robust, full-bodied beer . . . that's why Iron City Beer has the satisfying character that can be found no where else. Ask your friends about Iron City Beer.

Next time, try Real Beer—Iron City Beer—believe me, you'll be glad you did!

New Law Gives Break To Disabled Workers And To Beneficiaries Who Earn A Salary

Take Holiday from Hand Ironing the Rest of Your Life with the AUTOMATIC IRONRITE IRONER

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — In addition to increasing benefits and expanding coverage, the new social security law gives a special break to two groups likely to need help the most.

It permits social security beneficiaries to earn more money on their own and still draw all or part of their social security benefits.

And it provides bigger benefits to workers who have been totally disabled over a long period of time. But they don't get these benefits until they reach age 65.

By helping the worker who is covered directly by social security, the new law also helps their dependents and survivors; because dependents' and survivors' benefits are based on the benefit earned by the worker.

Here is how the two new provisions will work:

Retirement Test

The theory of the Old Age and Survivros Insurance system (OASI) is that monthly benefits are paid only upon the retirement or death of the family wage earner. So the law has included a test to determine whether a worker really has retired.

Under the old law, a person from 65 to 75 lost his social security benefit for any month in which he earned $75 or more. Thus a person could, say, earn $80 a month for three months during the summer vacation period; and although his total annual earnings were only $240, he would lose three months' social security benefits. At age 75 or over, a person got his benefits regardless of his earnings.

The new law, first, lowers the exempt age to 72. Loss of benefits for those between 65 and 72 depends on how much they earn and how many months they work.

They may draw all their social security benefits if they earn $1,200 a year or less. The test is applied on an annual basis, instead of monthly, so an aged person can earn $400 a month for three months or $600 for two months, and still not lose any retirement benefits.

Further, the new law says a person working every month will lose only one month's benefit for each $80 earned above $1,200 a year. So a "retired" person can earn $1,280 and lose only one months's benefit, $1,360 and lose two months or up to $2,080 and lose 11 months. No benefits can be paid a person working year round for more than $2,080.

However, you can't lose your benefit for any month in which you (1) did not earn more than $80 in wages, or (2) render substantial services in self - employment. Thus if you earned $10,000 a year, but didn't work for four months, you could still get your social security benefits for those four months.

In defining work under this section, the old law included only work covered by social security. Thus a man could earn any amount in noncovered workk and get full benefits. The new law embraces all kinds of work, although it doesn't count income from investments such as dividends, pensions or insurance policies.

Families are affected too. If a retired worker is ineligible for benfits in any one month, his dependents also are ineligible. A surviving widow or widower loses monthly benefits according to her earnings, just as a retired worker does; but surviving children under 18 get their benefits anyhow.

Disabled Persons

Social security benefits are based upon average monthly earnings. If a worker becomes totally disabled for a long period of time, his earnings of course are reduced. But under the old law, average earnings had to be figured from a certain starting date until the worker became 65 or died. Thus disabled persons had their benefits greatly reduced, or sometimes eliminated.

Under the new law, a worker can "freeze" his average earnings at the time he becomes disabled. The idle period will not count against him and he will be eligible for full benefits based upon the period he actually worked.

To qualify, a disabled person must work under social security for 5 out of the 10 years before he becomes disabled, and he also must work 18 months out of the three years before he becomes disabled.

Persons already on the benefit rolls, whose payments have been reduced because they had as much as six months disability in the past, can get their benefits increased under the new provision if they are still disabled. The first increases will be paid in July 1955.

Persons who are disabled now, but who haven't reached retirement age of 65 yet, have until June 30, 1957, to apply for their disability freeze. The freeze can be retroactive back through all the years of their disability. After June 30, 1957, the freeze can go back only one year.

Persons who become disabled in the future should apply for their "freeze" after they have been disabled for six months, and indications are that the disability will last for an indefinite period. If they later recover. they may resume work under the social security system and the disabled period will not count against their earnings average.

More than three thousand soldiers died of exposure, illness and privation during Gen. George Washington's revolutionary war encampment at Valley Forge.

German Felons Kill Warden And Escape

BORKEN, Germany, Dec. 13 (AP) —Four German prisoners broke out of jail here Saturday after killing Warden Karl Valentin, 60.

Police said the four, held for investigation of minor charges, probably fled across the nearby Dutch border. They were unarmed and dressed in civilian clothes.

BIG THINGS ARE HAPPENING AT IRON CITY BREWERY

Local Brewery Proves Its Confidence In Pittsburgh's Future

Iron City Brewery, Division of Pittsburgh Brewing Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., has made another big step toward the completion of their multi-million dollar expansion and modernization program. The latest installation is the World's Fastest Bottling Lines, mechanical giants which bottle Iron City Beer at the machine gun speed of over 400 per minute. No other brewery, anywhere in the world, has such equipment. Thus Iron City is pioneering for the entire industry. The eyes of the entire Brewing Industry are on Pittsburgh's Iron City Brewery, for here, again, brewing history is being made.

But these newest of bottling lines are only a small, single step in the impressive modernization plans which have been progressing steadily during recent years. The gigantic expansion expenditure, which includes the building of an entirely new, advance design bottling house, has already passed the Eight Million Dollar Mark. The well-planned program modernized every phase of Iron City Beer's operation, from top to bottom, through the installation of the newest and most efficient equipment known to the brewing industry. Not only does this provide a much greater capacity, but provides, too, the ultimate of convenience and efficiency for the brewery workers. That's why the brewing industry knows that Iron City Brewery is, now more than ever, the most modern brewery in Pennsylvania.

Of course, greater efficiency and greater employee-convenience are only two factors achieved through this multi-million dollar program of progress at Iron City Brewery. Another, and probably the most important achievement of all, is the greater brewing capacity which was needed—even demanded—by the general beer-drinking public's ever greater desire to enjoy rich, robust Real Beer. This expansion and modernization program was a necessity if Iron City Beer was to satisfy the customer's demands for more and more Iron City Beer. Iron City's overall capacity was greatly increased and lovers of fine beer—Real Beer—can now order Iron City Beer anytime, anywhere.

Big things are really happening at the Iron City Brewery in Pittsburgh—big plans are being laid—big steps are being taken—greater goals are being reached—success is the byword at Iron City because for over 93 years, Iron City's record has shown a steady strong growth. Why? Because beer drinkers know and appreciate fine, quality beer and are ordering Iron City Beer time an' time again. People have made Iron City successful by demanding rich, robust, full-bodied Iron City Beer. If you haven't tried the perfect refreshment, please do. Next time you crave real enjoyment, join your friends for an Iron City Beer. You'll be glad you did!

EXPANSION PROGRAM COSTS WELL OVER $8 MILLION

The ever-increasing demand for rich, robust Iron City Beer has dictated an expansion program at the brewery that has already exceeded the $8 million mark. Every department, every phase of the giant brewing process has been affected by this multi-million dollar expansion and modernization project. The newest, most modern equipment known to the brewing industry has been installed to step up production and create greater capacity. Another step in the plan of progress is the building of an advance design, air conditioned, four-storied bottling house, and installation of over a hundred glass-lined horizontal storage and fermentation tanks that have a 750-barrel capacity each, and just as big installations in all other departments. That's why the brewing trade acknowledges the fact, without question, that Iron City is, now more than ever, the most beautiful and most modern brewery in Pennsylvania. More than that, Iron City Beer now has the greater capacity needed in order to satisfy the consumer demand for quality beer.

IRON CITY STICKS WITH METALLIC LABELS

Pittsburgh's famous brewery, Iron City Brewery, is retaining the shiny metallic labels on all bottles. Even while other breweries switch to paper labels to cut costs, Iron City insists that fine beer deserves fine labels . . . that expensive metallic labels predict that there's fine beer inside. That's why Iron City says that "under Pittsburgh's finest labels, you'll find Pittsburgh's finest beer." While paper labels are considerably cheaper, they seem to indicate that here's someone trying to cut corners. Iron City Beer is proud of the fact that they never cut corners . . . that they produce only the finest beer in the finest, most convenient, packages, and that's another reason why Iron City is first in sales, and first by a greater margin than ever before. People know that Iron City means the very best in quality, in flavor, and in appearance. Next time, order Iron City Beer . . . it's quality all the way. You'll be glad you did.

REAL BEER BREWED

There is a Real Beer being brewed in Pittsburgh and it's Iron City Beer. Iron City is Real Beer because it's an ALL-GRAIN beer. It's a fact that, while syrups and other artificial ingredients are cheaper, Iron City Beer uses ONLY fine, plump, sun-ripened grains in its brewing process. Never a substitute. Iron City officials know that there can be no compromise with quality and Iron City has been a quality, all-grain brew for nearly a hundred years. If you want Real Beer flavor, satisfying character that's like nothing else you've ever had, try Iron City Beer. You can't find Iron City Beer's big flavor anywhere else. That's why more and more people order Iron City Beer time and time again. Next time, try Real Beer . . . an All-Grain beer . . . Iron City Beer. You'll be glad you did.

93 YEARS OF FAME

Iron City Brewery, Division of Pittsburgh Brewing Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is the oldest brewing operation west of the Allegheny Mountains. History of this famous firm can be traced back to the early 1800's which would make the Iron City operation about 150 years old to date. However, the present-day Iron City Beer goes, directly, back only to 1861 which makes Iron City Beer just over 93 years old. But even with 93 years of brewing experience and history, Iron City is older than any Pittsburgh brewery and older than most others. This near-century of beer-making experience is one more reason why Iron City Beer is the popular Pittsburgh favorite . . . this is why more and more people everywhere enjoy Iron City regularly and often. Try it, join your friends for an Iron City Beer.

BREWERY SPONSORS POPULAR WESTERN GROUP

Iron City Brewery sponsors the famous Slim Bryant Western Group every Friday evening at 9:30 on Pittsburgh's WDTV. Slim Bryant and his Wildcats, Loppy, Kenny, Al and Jerry, are well-known radio-tv personalities. You are invited to tune in Pittsburgh every Friday at 9:30 P. M. and see and hear Slim Bryant and his Wildcats, down at Slim's General Store, sing and play your all-time favorite pop and western tunes. Pretty Nancy Fingal adds her feminine charm and voice to the proceedings. Slim Bryant is also heard every Monday evening at 6:30 on KDKA for Iron City Beer. A local sportscaster, Bill Sutherland, handles the commercials.

It's Not For Joy When You Weep

No one ever weeps for joy, Dr. Sandor Feldman of the University of Rochester School of Medicine told a session of the American Psychoanalytic Association the other day. Not even, he said, a mother at her daughter's wedding.

"The bride doesn't cry," said Dr. Feldman. "The girl's parents, relatives and close friends do cry. They say they cry because they are happy for her. But they cry because deep down in their hearts they feel that up to now the child was safe and protected by them, but from now on she enters a difficult, uncertain future."

Well, maybe. But who is there who has not seen a woman emerging from a movie with sodden handkerchief and swollen eyes, to say, "I don't know when I've enjoyed anything so much"? Were those tears of sorrow she was shedding?

Dr. Feldman sticks to his story. People do cry at happy endings, he says, but not for joy. They cry because they are overcome by the sudden realization of happiness they have missed in their own lives. Sometimes they cry because of a guilty feeling that they are unworthy of happiness. Or they shed, once the happy endings releases their tension, the tears they held back during the sad parts because they had to see what came next and needed eyes they could see with.

Their crying, under this theory, was not a response to happiness but a delayed reaction to strain and sorrow.

To those who are not psychiatrists this sounds plausible but not too convincing. Many will stick to a middle course and string along with Tennyson's: "Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Soviet Foreign Policy

Nothing has been more clear in this troubled world than the Soviet foreign policy. Stalin in his "Leninism" wrote:

"The victory of socialism in one country is not an end in itself; it must be looked upon as a support, as a means for hastening the proletarian victory in every other land. For the victory of the revolution in one country (in Russia, for the nonce) is not only the result of the unequal development and the progressive decay of imperialism; it is likewise the beginning and the continuation of the world revolution."

A most interesting guide to the foreign policy of Soviet Russia and for that matter to the foreign policies of every Soviet state appears in the "Conditions of Admission to the Communist International" (usually called the Third International or Comintern). There are some 21 conditions.

I shall quote two:

"3. The class struggle in almost every country of Europe and America is entering the phase of civil war. Under such conditions the Communists can have no confidence in bourgeois laws. They should create everywhere a parallel illegal apparatus, which at the decisive moment should be of assistance to the party to do its duty toward the revolution . . .

"6. Every party desirous of affiliating to the Third International should renounce not only avowed social patriotism, but also the falsehood and the hypocrisy of social pacifism: It should systematically demonstrate to the workers that without a revolutionary overthrow of capitalism no international arbitration, no talk of disarmament, no democratic reorganization of the League of Nations will be capable of saving mankind from, new imperialist wars."

In a document published in 1928, by the Sixth World Congress, the Communists adopted the thesis:

"The ultimate aim of the Communist International is to replace world capitalist economy by a world system of communism. Communist society, the basis for which has been prepared by the whole course of historical development, is mankind's only way out, for it alone can abolish the contradictions of the capitalist system which threaten to degrade and destroy the human race."

Lenin wrote:

"The dictatorship of the proletariat is the fiercest, most acute and most merciless war of the new class against the more powerful enemy, against the bourgeoisie, whose resistance is increased tenfold by its overthrow" that "the dictatorship of the proletariat is a persistent struggle—sanguinary and bloodless, violent and peaceful, military and economic, educational and administrative, against the forces and traditions of the old society."

On this thesis, Stalin commented:

"It need hardly be emphasized that there is not the slightest possibility of accomplishing these tasks in a short period of time, within a few years. We must, therefore, regard the dictatorship of the proletariat, the transition from capitalism to communism, not as a fleeting period replete with 'super-revolutionary' deeds and decrees, but as an entire historical epoch full of civil wars and external conflicts, of persistent organisational work and economic construction, of attacks and retreats, of victories and defeats . . ."

If one reads the paragraphs quoted above, he has a clear picture of a program of world revolution and world conquest not only by a country but by an idea. From this program, neither Soviet Russia nor any Marxist country within the Soviet Universal State has ever deviated. Every segment of policy has to and does fit into this blueprint.

Edwin O. Reischauer, reviewing a book in the "New York Herald Tribune," makes the point that is so generally held in this country:

"However terrible the results of Soviet foreign policy may be, the policy itself can be discerned only vaguely in the dim mirror of the strange double talk of Communist pronouncements and the disjointed record of the Communists' overt acts . . ."

What is so vague? Everything has been clearly set forth for anyone who takes the trouble to read. Their foreign policy is based on this general thesis: The next historic stage is Marxism (the dictatorship of the proletariat, the abolition of class, race, religion, nationality, etc.); the next stage will be accomplished by revolution in every country supported by those nations which have already achieved the destruction of capitalism and the adoption of socialism; that the techniques of such a revolution are clearly stated and their goal is the seizure of the power of the state by its own native Communist party which is a recognized branch of world communism.

The Folksy Front Parlor

Ike Ignored Suggestions Of Advisers When He Turned Cheek On McCarthy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower got a lot of private advice as to how to handle Joe McCarthy's bitter attack, but he, himself, made up his own mind what to do.

Those who saw Eisenhower in his press conference after McCarthy's barrage never would have guessed how sore Ike was when McCarthy blistered him. White House friends say the President was purple with anger, though he did not say a word.

One of the advisers, Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen, urged that Ike speak out, name names, and call the score on McCarthy's various phony pronouncements regarding communism.

Stassen reminded Ike that Dean Acheson, when secretary of state, had first ignored McCarthy's charges of communism in the State Department, figuring that the American public would not be taken in by them. But McCarthy's Hitlerian tactic of repeating the same charge over and over again eventually sank home and few people realize today that McCarthy has not named one Communist in the State Department.

Stassen reminded Eisenhower that his administration should not make the same mistake.

The President listened carefully, but decided otherwise.

The President also listened carefully when Republican Chairman Leonard Hall discussed the "McCarthy crisis" before Ike met with newsmen last week. Hall, who has leaned toward McCarthy in times past, felt Joe should be appeased and not be permitted to bolt the administration.

But Eisenhower did not appear overly impressed with Chairman Hall's discussion. He listened, but did not even tell Len what he intended to do.

South American Prosperity

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, returned from the Inter-American Conference in Rio de Janeiro, told friends:

"If I were only 25 years old, I would go to Brazil by the next boat, working my way if necessary, and I guarantee you by the time I was 40, I would be a millionaire."

Humphrey's brief trip to South America convinced him that Latin America is on the threshold of phenomenal industrial development. He suggests that, if American businessmen are wise, they will put more investment dollars south of the border than in other parts of the world.

The economic progress of some of these nations, Humphrey says privately, will amaze the world in the next 20 years.

Hatemongers

The House Committee on Un-American Activities will soon publish a sensational, but tragic, report on "Neo-Fascist and Hate Groups," a subject the committee has ignored for almost 10 years. Communism, during that period, offered better headlines.

The report singles out the National Renaissance party for possible prosecution under the Smith Act; and also blasts the hate-peddling paper "Common Sense." This is the first official suggestion for applying the anti-subversion statute to a fascist group during the act's 15-year history.

The committee found that "the program and propaganda of the National Renaissance party is virtually borrowed wholesale from the Fascist and Nazi dictators."

The little Hiler in charge is a "young fanatic," James H. Madole, of 10 West 90th Street, New York City, whose sneering boast is that "what Hitler accomplished in Europe, the National Renaissance party shall yet accomplish in America."

The party is replete with a "uniformed elite guard in the Nazi style," the report goes on, though a bolt of lightning has replaced the swastika, as the party symbol.

The committee sums up NRP's aims as "preservation of the white Aryan race by gradual deportation of the unassimilable, the denial to jewish people of citizenship, professional and political posts and the right of intermarriage."

White avowedly anti-Communist, NRP isn't above sweet-mouthing the Red line when it serves its purpose. It praised the anti-Semitic purges in Prague two years ago and agrees with the Communists that "the economic and political ambitions of a small coterie of Wall Street bankers" are pushing the U. S. into war. And it has high praise for the "superbly efficient totalitarian economic systems of the Communists."

"Common Sense"

Second target of the Un-American Activities Committee report is the anti-Negro, anti-Semitic hate sheet, "Common Sense," which has blasted about every prominent American including President Eisenhower, whom it labels a "Marxist stooge."

"The solution customarily offered by publisher Conde McGinley Sr., to 'save America,'" says the committee, "is an increase in the circulation of 'Common Sense.'" It is apparent that the publication represents a modern example of the racketeers who made a business out of hate propaganda during the 1930s."

The McGinleys also do a good business hawking hate books and pamphlets from their headquarters in Union, N. J. Paid subscriptions to "Common Sense" jumped from fewer than 10,000 to more than 20,000 during 1951, the year of the Korean War.

The Un-American Activities Committee winds up its indictment of these two Fascist threats with this appeal: "The committee is convinced that there is a concurrent need for continuous investigation, exposure and, where necessary, prosecution, to the end that no activity of a pro-Fascist nature will ever be permitted to gain substantial stature or influence in the United States."

A Discussion Of Secretary Mitchell's CIO Address

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When an American citizen has his constitutional rights violated it is natural that his fellow citizens should set up a clamor. But apparently only when a citizen is accused of holding Communist beliefs does there arise any clamor. Then the people who call themselves "liberals" demand that freedom of belief be protected.

No such protest arises, however, from these same quarters when an American citizen exercises his constitutional rights to refuse to join a labor union and is thrown out of his job because of it. He may have conscientious beliefs about and objections to joining such an organization but today in free America he can be deprived of his job and even prevented in many instances from earning a livelihood in his trade anywhere else if he declines to surrender his conscientious beliefs.

The foregoing is the true meaning of the controversy which has just arisen over the speech made before the CIO national convention by James P. Mitchell, the secretary of labor in President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Ike Ruled Hastily

Mr. Mitchell deplored the fact that 17 states have enacted what are known as "right to work" laws. He said:

"Actually these are laws which make it impossible for an employer to bargain collectively with a majority of his employes about the security of their union."

Promptly after the speech was made Mr. Eisenhower at his press conference said that Secretary Mitchell was not speaking for the administration but only for himself and that such differences of opinion are permitted in the Eisenhower administration.

As a matter of fact the President ruled hastily on the issue. Strictly speaking, if he believes in the Taft-Hartley Act he should have been upholding Mr. Mitchell's position.

For what Secretary Mitchell said, in effect, was that the states ought not deviate from the Taft-Hartley Act which legalizes compulsory unionization. The so-called "union shop" provisions of that law give a new employe 30 days to decide whether he will join the union or be fired from his job by order of the union.

But while this Taft-Hartley provision itself violates civil rights as set forth in the Constitution—though no case has reached the Supreme Court yet for decision—consistency would require the President to argue that if compulsory unionization is right on the federal level it is right on the state level. This, of course, is the view of his secretary of labor.

The "right to work" laws nullify the Taft-Hartley law on this point in 17 states. Eleven are in the South and the others are Iowa, Nebraska, Nevada, Arizona, North Dakota and South Dakota. Congress specifically permitted the states to vary their labor laws from the federal statute.

Labor union bosses want compulsory unionization for the same reason that corporations used to want monopoly—it is easier for them to rule that way. In fact compulsory unionization means a form of private government with power over the livelihood of workers delegated to a few union bosses in every industry.

Supreme Court Rulings

Mr. Mitchell thinks of compulsory unionization as a form of "union security" and necessary for "union strength." But the Supreme Court of the United States has declared that a union which is the agent of the majority in a craft or plant can by agreement with the employer set the wage pattern for the minority. Refusal of the minority to join a union does not, therefore, "undermine union security."

The Supreme Court also has said with regard to the protection afforded under the 14th Amendment: "It requires no argument to show that the right to work for a living in the common occupations of the community is of the very essence of the personal freedom and opportunity that it was the purpose of the amendment to secure."

The 17 states therefore are right. The President and Congress should make the federal law conform to that of the states. The latter have blazed the trail in defense of the constitutional right of the individual to believe as he pleases when faced with the question of whether to join or not join a labor union. For in most cases today a union is a subsidiary unit of a larger political organization whose principles and beliefs a worker may not wish to support.

This is an issue which concerns the dignity of the individual and constitutes a form of discrimination based on beliefs. It is a moral issue. But some of the same churchmen who speak out so vehemently—when witnesses entangled in the Communist controversy are allegedly deprived of their rights before congressional committees—are strangely silent about the actual loss of individual rights by millions of American workingmen.

Viet Nam Government

By Joseph Alsop

SAIGON, Viet Nam

For once in a way, there is some truth in Communist propaganda.

The Viet Minh radio constantly denounces the South Vietnamese government here in Saigon as a mere shadow of a shadow; and that, for the time being at least, is exactly what it is. If South Viet Nam can be said to have a government at all, at present, it is the underground government of the Viet Minh.

In this rich, fantastically corrupt city, where the same gangsters who run the gambling, the prostitution and the opium dens also wear the uniforms of the police, you do not get many echoes of the real state of affairs in the Vietnamese conntryside. Life goes on in Saigon as though the fate of Hanoi were something that had happened on another planet.

Yet the really important political process in Southern Indochina is not the deary round of intrigue among the non-Communist Vietnamese political leaders in Saigon. It is, rather, the progressive takeover of the rest of South Viet Nam by the Communists.

Under the terms of the Geneva agreement, of course, the Viet Minh forces were to evacuate South Viet Nam, just as the French forces were to evacuate the North. The Communist regulars, which formerly held four large areas here in the South, are indeed being moved out as promised. But Communist cadres are being left behind.

Vacuum Of Power

More important still, the Geneva agreement and the subsequent transfer of authority to the Vietnamese left an almost total power vacuum in huge areas which the Communists did not formerly hold. Because of its quarrel with the army, and because of its own inherent weakness too, the government of President Ngo Dinh-diem has hardly attempted to govern.

Hence it has been only too easy for the Viet Minh to send their cadres out into the provinces, and to establish themselves in village after village. "Committees to defend the peace" are organized and become the real village governments. After these come "committees to defend the interests of the peasants and workers," which are the Viet Minh disguised courts, and innumerable women's organizations, youth organizations and the like which are instruments of propaganda.

The villagers see no other real authority that reaches down to them. Both villagers and townspeople have been deeply impressed by the Viet Minh victory at Dien Bien Phu and all its volcanic sequels. They would tend in any case to regard the Viet Minh as the wave of the future. And since there is no counter effort to balance the work of the Viet Minh cadres, village after village passes into Viet Minh control.

The estimates vary as to how far this process has gone already. But the examples cited plainly suggest that it has gone very far indeed. For instance, at Ben Tri, Col. Leroy, a French officer who is himself half Vietnamese, formerly ruled a province that was celebrated for its immunity to Communist penetration. By imaginative reform and by organizing at the village level, Col. Leroy achieved positive, solid anti-Communist unity among his people. Then Col. Leroy was transferred. Geneva left a vacuum at Ben Tri as elsewhere. And today, among Ben Tri's hundreds of villages there are reported to be less than a score which still have the "Council of Notables" which is the Saigon government's instrument of village administration. In most of the rest, "Peace Committees" rule.

Signs Point Same Way

A few days ago, this reporter visited the rubber planting region near the Cambodian border. Here the big plantations had fortified themselves, created small armies, and carried on rubber production right through the civil war. Immediately after Geneva, however, Viet Minh organizers entered the villages of the rubber workers.

Today, one of the biggest plantations is already under effective Viet Minh control, with the French manager running the plantation through the Viet Minh leader—with excellent production results, incidentally. The other planters were not prepared to submit in this manner, but they frankly said it was only "a matter of weeks" before the Viet Minh would be deeply entrenched as the real government of their region.

There is no violence. On the surface, life goes on as usual, or rather better than usual, for the rubber planters and their families no longer wear revolvers and carry submachine guns to their swimming pool on Sundays. But every day there is a new sign, such as the recent arrest of the father-in-law of the present foreign minister of South Viet Nam for joining in founding a peace committee here in Saigon.

The signs all point the same way, towards the creation of an effective though underground government of South Viet Nam by the Communists. The end is not yet. A strong and efficient non-Communist government, working closely with the Vietnamese army, re-establishing authority in the countryside, carrying out the needed reforms could still halt and roll back the process of Communist penetration. But there is very little time and as these words are written no such non-Communist government is in sight.

Lack Of Refrigeration, Filth Cause Food Poisoning

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Food poisoning is not uncommon among travelers to foreign countries, including Europe and Mexico. Diarrhea is blamed on insanitary conditions and seldom is serious enough to spoil the entire trip. Most visitors weather the storm and, with reasonable care, have little or no trouble.

Numerous inquiries come to my attention along this line. Those planning to go abroad want to know how to avoid diarrhea. Others, who have gone through the experience, ask about possible after effects and whether they have acquired a serious intestinal infection. These questions are difficult to answer because conditions differ in each country and it is not always easy to track down the source of attacks of diarrhea.

Many of our troops who served overseas during World War II suffered from periodic bouts of diarrhea but the majority survived the ordeal and, to my knowledge, there was no increase in intestinal infections in this country on their return home.

Doctors B. H. Kean and Wilson G. Smillie, of New York, made a study of 582 American students who went to Europe for two months in the summer of 1953. Stool specimens were obtained during the voyage to and from the continent. More than half the vacationing group had attacks of diarrhea, with a higher rate among visitors to Mediterranean countries.

Analyses of the specimens disclosed that the number of organisms capable of causing intestinal diseases remained essentially unchanged. For example, 11 of the students going to Europe and 14 of those returning harbored amebic dysentery parasites. Approximate figures also were obtained on other organisms.

Drs. Kean and Smillie concluded that diarrhea in the continental traveler was not due to amebic or bacillary dysentery but to foods contaminated with toxin from the staphylococcus. This type of food poisoning occurs occasionally in the United States.

Staphylococci are common bacteria existing on the skin and in the nose and throat. They are present in most pimples, boils, and other skin infections. Most of us swallow millions of them every year. On the other hand, they multiply rapidly and produce a deadly toxin in foods like potato salad and certain pastries when these foods are left out of the refrigerator too long.

Consequently, food poisoning from this source is less likely to occur when foods are not left out in the open. Moreover, the individual who harbors an infection or works with dirty hands or clothes tends to contaminate the meal. Thus lack of refrigeration and filth are the chief origins of food poisoning. This also explains why the disorder is twice as prevalent in summer and in areas which a warm climate.

TOMORROW: Housewife's eczema.

VITAMINS PLUS

S. S. writes: Since passing my 60th birthday my face is becoming more and more wrinkled, despite the routine use of creams and massages. Could a vitamin deficiency cause this wrinkling?

REPLY

If it were this simple, none of us would have a wrinkle. The answer to this problem is hidden somewhere among the secrets of life.

SNAPPING FINGER

R. L. writes: What can be done for a trigger thumb?

REPLY

In this disorder of the tendon, normal movement of the digit is obstructed and if forced, a sensation of snapping occurs. Immobilization of the thumb for several weeks may be tried but surgical correction is more likely to be successful.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

The late Joe Palmer had a prize story about a horse owner in Wyoming who showed up at a race meeting with an 8-year-old nonstarter and put him in an important race. Since an aging maiden is hardly a betting attraction, he was off at $136.50 and galloped home first by a cool 10 lengths. The stewards suspected dirty work at the crossroads, and demanded of the owner, "Is this horse unsound?" "No sir," asserted the owner. "Soundest horse you ever saw. Ankles like iron, never sick a single day."

"Well, then," persisted a steward, "why haven't you raced him before?"

"To tell the truth," said the owner solemnly, "we couldn't ketch him till he was seven."

Paper magnate Sam Himmell, asked how he budgeted his income, replied, "40 per cent for food, 30 per cent for shelter, 30 per cent for clothing, and 20 per cent for amusement and incidentals." "But Sam," protested the inquirer, "that makes one hundred and twenty percent." "You don't have to tell me," sighed Sam. "I know it."

It's Not For Joy When You Weep

No one ever weeps for joy, Dr. Sandor Feldman of the University of Rochester School of Medicine told a session of the American Psychoanalytic Association the other day. Not even, he said, a mother at her daughter's wedding.

"The bride doesn't cry," said Dr. Feldman. "The girl's parents, relatives and close friends do cry. They say they cry because they are happy for her. But they cry because deep down in their hearts they feel that up to now the child was safe and protected by them, but from now on she enters a difficult, uncertain future."

Well, maybe. But who is there who has not seen a woman emerging from a movie with sodden handkerchief and swollen eyes, to say, "I don't know when I've enjoyed anything so much"? Were those tears of sorrow she was shedding?

Dr. Feldman sticks to his story. People do cry at happy endings, he says, but not for joy. They cry because they are overcome by the sudden realization of happiness they have missed in their own lives. Sometimes they cry because of a guilty feeling that they are unworthy of happiness. Or they shed, once the happy endings releases their tension, the tears they held back during the sad parts because they had to see what came next and needed eyes they could see with.

Their crying, under this theory, was not a response to happiness but a delayed reaction to strain and sorrow.

To those who are not psychiatrists this sounds plausible but not too convincing. Many will stick to a middle course and string along with Tennyson's: "Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Soviet Foreign Policy

Nothing has been more clear in this troubled world than the Soviet foreign policy. Stalin in his "Leninism" wrote:

"The victory of socialism in one country is not an end in itself; it must be looked upon as a support, as a means for hastening the proletarian victory in every other land. For the victory of the revolution in one country (in Russia, for the nonce) is not only the result of the unequal development and the progressive decay of imperialism; it is likewise the beginning and the continuation of the world revolution."

A most interesting guide to the foreign policy of Soviet Russia and for that matter to the foreign policies of every Soviet state appears in the "Conditions of Admission to the Communist International" (usually called the Third International or Comintern). There are some 21 conditions.

I shall quote two:

"3. The class struggle in almost every country of Europe and America is entering the phase of civil war. Under such conditions the Communists can have no confidence in bourgeois laws. They should create everywhere a parallel illegal apparatus, which at the decisive moment should be of assistance to the party to do its duty toward the revolution . . .

"6. Every party desirous of affiliating to the Third International should renounce not only avowed social patriotism, but also the falsehood and the hypocrisy of social pacifism: It should systematically demonstrate to the workers that without a revolutionary overthrow of capitalism no international arbitration, no talk of disarmament, no democratic reorganization of the League of Nations will be capable of saving mankind from, new imperialist wars."

In a document published in 1928, by the Sixth World Congress, the Communists adopted the thesis:

"The ultimate aim of the Communist International is to replace world capitalist economy by a world system of communism. Communist society, the basis for which has been prepared by the whole course of historical development, is mankind's only way out, for it alone can abolish the contradictions of the capitalist system which threaten to degrade and destroy the human race."

Lenin wrote:

"The dictatorship of the proletariat is the fiercest, most acute and most merciless war of the new class against the more powerful enemy, against the bourgeoisie, whose resistance is increased tenfold by its overthrow" that "the dictatorship of the proletariat is a persistent struggle—sanguinary and bloodless, violent and peaceful, military and economic, educational and administrative, against the forces and traditions of the old society."

On this thesis, Stalin commented:

"It need hardly be emphasized that there is not the slightest possibility of accomplishing these tasks in a short period of time, within a few years. We must, therefore, regard the dictatorship of the proletariat, the transition from capitalism to communism, not as a fleeting period replete with 'super-revolutionary' deeds and decrees, but as an entire historical epoch full of civil wars and external conflicts, of persistent organisational work and economic construction, of attacks and retreats, of victories and defeats . . ."

If one reads the paragraphs quoted above, he has a clear picture of a program of world revolution and world conquest not only by a country but by an idea. From this program, neither Soviet Russia nor any Marxist country within the Soviet Universal State has ever deviated. Every segment of policy has to and does fit into this blueprint.

Edwin O. Reischauer, reviewing a book in the "New York Herald Tribune," makes the point that is so generally held in this country:

"However terrible the results of Soviet foreign policy may be, the policy itself can be discerned only vaguely in the dim mirror of the strange double talk of Communist pronouncements and the disjointed record of the Communists' overt acts . . ."

What is so vague? Everything has been clearly set forth for anyone who takes the trouble to read. Their foreign policy is based on this general thesis: The next historic stage is Marxism (the dictatorship of the proletariat, the abolition of class, race, religion, nationality, etc.); the next stage will be accomplished by revolution in every country supported by those nations which have already achieved the destruction of capitalism and the adoption of socialism; that the techniques of such a revolution are clearly stated and their goal is the seizure of the power of the state by its own native Communist party which is a recognized branch of world communism.

The Folksy Front Parlor

Ike Ignored Suggestions Of Advisers When He Turned Cheek On McCarthy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower got a lot of private advice as to how to handle Joe McCarthy's bitter attack, but he, himself, made up his own mind what to do.

Those who saw Eisenhower in his press conference after McCarthy's barrage never would have guessed how sore Ike was when McCarthy blistered him. White House friends say the President was purple with anger, though he did not say a word.

One of the advisers, Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen, urged that Ike speak out, name names, and call the score on McCarthy's various phony pronouncements regarding communism.

Stassen reminded Ike that Dean Acheson, when secretary of state, had first ignored McCarthy's charges of communism in the State Department, figuring that the American public would not be taken in by them. But McCarthy's Hitlerian tactic of repeating the same charge over and over again eventually sank home and few people realize today that McCarthy has not named one Communist in the State Department.

Stassen reminded Eisenhower that his administration should not make the same mistake.

The President listened carefully, but decided otherwise.

The President also listened carefully when Republican Chairman Leonard Hall discussed the "McCarthy crisis" before Ike met with newsmen last week. Hall, who has leaned toward McCarthy in times past, felt Joe should be appeased and not be permitted to bolt the administration.

But Eisenhower did not appear overly impressed with Chairman Hall's discussion. He listened, but did not even tell Len what he intended to do.

South American Prosperity

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, returned from the Inter-American Conference in Rio de Janeiro, told friends:

"If I were only 25 years old, I would go to Brazil by the next boat, working my way if necessary, and I guarantee you by the time I was 40, I would be a millionaire."

Humphrey's brief trip to South America convinced him that Latin America is on the threshold of phenomenal industrial development. He suggests that, if American businessmen are wise, they will put more investment dollars south of the border than in other parts of the world.

The economic progress of some of these nations, Humphrey says privately, will amaze the world in the next 20 years.

Hatemongers

The House Committee on Un-American Activities will soon publish a sensational, but tragic, report on "Neo-Fascist and Hate Groups," a subject the committee has ignored for almost 10 years. Communism, during that period, offered better headlines.

The report singles out the National Renaissance party for possible prosecution under the Smith Act; and also blasts the hate-peddling paper "Common Sense." This is the first official suggestion for applying the anti-subversion statute to a fascist group during the act's 15-year history.

The committee found that "the program and propaganda of the National Renaissance party is virtually borrowed wholesale from the Fascist and Nazi dictators."

The little Hiler in charge is a "young fanatic," James H. Madole, of 10 West 90th Street, New York City, whose sneering boast is that "what Hitler accomplished in Europe, the National Renaissance party shall yet accomplish in America."

The party is replete with a "uniformed elite guard in the Nazi style," the report goes on, though a bolt of lightning has replaced the swastika, as the party symbol.

The committee sums up NRP's aims as "preservation of the white Aryan race by gradual deportation of the unassimilable, the denial to jewish people of citizenship, professional and political posts and the right of intermarriage."

White avowedly anti-Communist, NRP isn't above sweet-mouthing the Red line when it serves its purpose. It praised the anti-Semitic purges in Prague two years ago and agrees with the Communists that "the economic and political ambitions of a small coterie of Wall Street bankers" are pushing the U. S. into war. And it has high praise for the "superbly efficient totalitarian economic systems of the Communists."

"Common Sense"

Second target of the Un-American Activities Committee report is the anti-Negro, anti-Semitic hate sheet, "Common Sense," which has blasted about, every prominent American including President Eisenhower, whom it labels a "Marxist stooge."

"The solution customarily offered by publisher Conde McGinley Sr., to 'save America,'" says the committee, "is an increase in the circulation of 'Common Sense.'" It is apparent that the publication represents a modern example of the racketeers who made a business out of hate propaganda during the 1930s."

The McGinleys also do a good business hawking hate books and pamphlets from their headquarters in Union, N. J. Paid subscriptions to "Common Sense" jumped from fewer than 10,000 to more than 20,000 during 1951, the year of the Korean War.

The Un-American Activities Committee winds up its indictment of these two Fascist threats with this appeal: "The committee is convinced that there is a concurrent need for continuous investigation, exposure and, where necessary, prosecution, to the end that no activity of a pro-Fascist nature will ever be permitted to gain substantial stature or influence in the United States."

A Discussion Of Secretary Mitchell's CIO Address

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When an American citizen has his constitutional rights violated it is natural that his fellow citizens should set up a clamor. But apparently only when a citizen is accused of holding Communist beliefs does there arise any clamor. Then the people who call themselves "liberals" demand that freedom of belief be protected.

No such protest arises, however, from these same quarters when an American citizen exercises his constitutional rights to refuse to join a labor union and is thrown out of his job because of it. He may have conscientious beliefs about and objections to joining such an organization but today in free America he can be deprived of his job and even prevented in many instances from earning a livelihood in his trade anywhere else if he declines to surrender his conscientious beliefs.

The foregoing is the true meaning of the controversy which has just arisen over the speech made before the CIO national convention by James P. Mitchell, the secretary of labor in President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Ike Ruled Hastily

Mr. Mitchell deplored the fact that 17 states have enacted what are known as "right to work" laws. He said:

"Actually these are laws which make it impossible for an employer to bargain collectively with a majority of his employes about the security of their union."

Promptly after the speech was made Mr. Eisenhower at his press conference said that Secretary Mitchell was not speaking for the administration but only for himself and that such differences of opinion are permitted in the Eisenhower administration.

As a matter of fact the President ruled hastily on the issue. Strictly speaking, if he believes in the Taft-Hartley Act he should have been upholding Mr. Mitchell's position.

For what Secretary Mitchell said, in effect, was that the states ought not deviate from the Taft-Hartley Act which legalizes compulsory unionization. The so-called "union shop" provisions of that law give a new employe 30 days to decide whether he will join the union or be fired from his job by order of the union.

But while this Taft-Hartley provision itself violates civil rights as set forth in the Constitution—though no case has reached the Supreme Court yet for decision—consistency would require the President to argue that if compulsory unionization is right on the federal level it is right on the state level. This, of course, is the view of his secretary of labor.

The "right to work" laws nullify the Taft-Hartley law on this point in 17 states. Eleven are in the South and the others are Iowa, Nebraska, Nevada, Arizona, North Dakota and South Dakota. Congress specifically permitted the states to vary their labor laws from the federal statute.

Labor union bosses want compulsory unionization for the same reason that corporations used to want monopoly—it is easier for them to rule that way. In fact compulsory unionization means a form of private government with power over the livelihood of workers delegated to a few union bosses in every industry.

Supreme Court Rulings

Mr. Mitchell thinks of compulsory unionization as a form of "union security" and necessary for "union strength." But the Supreme Court of the United States has declared that a union which is the agent of the majority in a craft or plant can by agreement with the employer set the wage pattern for the minority. Refusal of the minority to join a union does not, therefore, "undermine union security."

The Supreme Court also has said with regard to the protection afforded under the 14th Amendment: "It requires no argument to show that the right to work for a living in the common occupations of the community is of the very essence of the personal freedom and opportunity that it was the purpose of the amendment to secure."

The 17 states therefore are right. The President and Congress should make the federal law conform to that of the states. The latter have blazed the trail in defense of the constitutional right of the individual to believe as he pleases when faced with the question of whether to join or not join a labor union. For in most cases today a union is a subsidiary unit of a larger political organization whose principles and beliefs a worker may not wish to support.

This is an issue which concerns the dignity of the individual and constitutes a form of discrimination based on beliefs. It is a moral issue. But some of the same churchmen who speak out so vehemently—when witnesses entangled in the Communist controversy are allegedly deprived of their rights before congressional committees—are strangely silent about the actual loss of individual rights by millions of American workingmen.

The other planters were not prepared to submit in this manner, but they frankly said it was only "a matter of weeks" before the Viet Minh would be deeply entrenched as the real government of their region.

There is no violence. On the surface, life goes on as usual, or rather better than usual, for the rubber planters and their families no longer wear revolvers and carry submachine guns to their swimming pool on Sundays. But every day there is a new sign, such as the recent arrest of the father-in-law of the present foreign minister of South Viet Nam for joining in founding a peace committee here in Saigon.

The signs all point the same way, towards the creation of an effective though underground government of South Viet Nam by the Communists. The end is not yet. A strong and efficient non-Communist government, working closely with the Vietnamese army, re-establishing authority in the countryside, carrying out the needed reforms could still halt and roll back the process of Communist penetration. But there is very little time and as these words are written no such non-Communist government is in sight.

Lack Of Refrigeration, Filth Cause Food Poisoning

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Food poisoning is not uncommon among travelers to foreign countries, including Europe and Mexico. Diarrhea is blamed on insanitary conditions and seldom is serious enough to spoil the entire trip. Most visitors weather the storm and, with reasonable care, have little or no trouble.

Numerous inquiries come to my attention along this line. Those planning to go abroad want to know how to avoid diarrhea. Others, who have gone through the experience, ask about possible after effects and whether they have acquired a serious intestinal infection. These questions are difficult to answer because conditions differ in each country and it is not always easy to track down the source of attacks of diarrhea.

Many of our troops who served overseas during World War II suffered from periodic bouts of diarrhea but the majority survived the ordeal and, to my knowledge, there was no increase in intestinal infections in this country on their return home.

Doctors B. H. Kean and Wilson G. Smillie, of New York, made a study of 582 American students who went to Europe for two months in the summer of 1953. Stool specimens were obtained during the voyage to and from the continent. More than half the vacationing group had attacks of diarrhea, with a higher rate among visitors to Mediterranean countries.

Analyses of the specimens disclosed that the number of organisms capable of causing intestinal diseases remained essentially unchanged. For example, 11 of the students going to Europe and 14 of those returning harbored amebic dysentery parasites. Approximate figures also were obtained on other organisms.

Drs. Kean and Smillie concluded that diarrhea in the continental traveler was not due to amebic or bacillary dysentery but to foods contaminated with toxin from the staphylococcus. This type of food poisoning occurs occasionally in the United States.

Staphylococci are common bacteria existing on the skin and in the nose and throat. They are present in most pimples, boils, and other skin infections. Most of us swallow millions of them every year. On the other hand, they multiply rapidly and produce a deadly toxin in foods like potato salad and certain pastries when these foods are left out of the refrigerator too long.

Consequently, food poisoning from this source is less likely to occur when foods are not left out in the open. Moreover, the individual who harbors an infection or works with dirty hands or clothes tends to contaminate the meal. Thus lack of refrigeration and filth are the chief origins of food poisoning. This also explains why the disorder is twice as prevalent in summer and in areas which a warm climate.

TOMORROW: Housewife's eczema.

VITAMINS PLUS

S. S. writes: Since passing my 60th birthday my face is becoming more and more wrinkled, despite the routine use of creams and massages. Could a vitamin deficiency cause this wrinkling?

REPLY

If it were this simple, none of us would have a wrinkle. The answer to this problem is hidden somewhere among the secrets of life.

SNAPPING FINGER

R. L. writes: What can be done for a trigger thumb?

REPLY

In this disorder of the tendon, normal movement of the digit is obstructed and if forced, a sensation of snapping occurs. Immobilization of the thumb for several weeks may be tried but surgical correction is more likely to be successful.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

The late Joe Palmer had a prize story about a horse owner in Wyoming who showed up at a race meeting with an 8-year-old nonstarter and put him in an important race. Since an aging maiden is hardly a betting attraction, he was off at $136.50 and galloped home first by a cool 10 lengths. The stewards suspected dirty work at the crossroads, and demanded of the owner, "Is this horse unsound?" "No sir," asserted the owner. "Soundest horse you ever saw. Ankles like iron, never sick a single day."

"Well, then," persisted a steward, "why haven't you raced him before?"

"To tell the truth," said the owner solemnly, "we couldn't ketch him till he was seven."

Paper magnate Sam Himmell, asked how he budgeted his income, replied, "40 per cent for food, 30 per cent for shelter, 30 per cent for clothing, and 20 per cent for amusement and incidentals." "But Sam," protested the inquirer, "that makes one hundred and twenty percent." "You don't have to tell me," sighed Sam. "I know it."

Valley-Piedmont Return Game Highlights Cage Program

Black Knights Play Lions On Latter's Court

Fort Hill-Moorefield, LaSalle At Bruce, Keyser Opens Season

Valley High School's undefeated Black Knights put a three-game winning streak on the line tonight when they tackle "Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions in a return game on the Piedmont court.

Valley won the series opener on its home floor, 54-53, in overtime and the finale of the two-game set promises to be just as interesting.

Piedmont owns a 2-1 record, both wins having been scored over Elk Garden High's Elks.

Sentinels at Moorefield

Defeated in its opening game last Friday by the Parsons High Panthers, Fort Hill's Sentinels journey to Moorefield tonight to battle Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Yellow Jackets in the only game between the schools this season. Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's quint won last year's game here, 57-48 but the Jackets won on their home floor in the 1952 overtime thriller, 60-58.

Whipped by Valley High in its first start, LaSalle runs into another toughie tonight in facing Bruce High's Bulldogs at Westernport. Augie Eichhorn's Bulldogs have taken bites out of Elk Garden and Fort Ashby and LaSalle will try to play the role of dog catcher tonight.

Keyser Opens Season

John Shelton's Keyser High cagers kick off the lid tonight by playing host to Elk Garden. Keyser won 15 and lost 6 last season and lost out in the Class "A" sectional to U.H.S., of Morgantown, after eliminating Martinsburg in two straight. Scott Ward and Rick Kephart are Keyser's holdover varsity members while the other lettermen are Ron Stickley, George Wilson and Harold Wimer, the latter a transferee from Petersburg. Stickley is a senior and the others are juniors.

Other P.V.C. contests find West Virginia School for the Deaf at Capon Bridge and Petersburg's Vikings at Circleville.

Among the other games set for tonight are:

Hyndman at Mt. Savage.
Northern at Rockwood.
Carver at Meyersdale
Mardensville at Woodstock, Va.
Franklin at Green Bank
Romney at Davis
Bayard at Beverly,
Mathias at Triplette, Va.
Potomac State at Fairmont.

Gene Smith Loses

BROOKLYN, Dec. 13 (AP)—Rudy Garcia, a busy little strong man from Los Angeles, climbed all over Gene Smith tonight to win on a technical knockout in 11 seconds of the sixth round at the Eastern Parkway. Garcia weighed 128¼, Smith 130 pounds.

All three officials, Referee Ebbets and Judges Harold Barnes and Tony Rossi had Garcia ahead 5-0 at the end of five rounds. So did The Associated Press.

Lane Beats Perez

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Left-handed Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., racked up his sixth straight victory tonight by gaining a split 10-round decision over New York's Danny Jo Perez in a bloody scrap at St. Nicholas Arena. Perez weighed 139¾, Lane 136¾.

Referee Ray Miller (5-4-1) and Judge Artie Schwartz (6-3-1) voted for Lane, while Judge Jerry Carnegie (5-4-1) scored for Perez. The AP card had it even, five rounds for each.

Miller An All-Star
Comment Was Honest
Max Posnack Coach
Heber Poland Dies

By C. V. BURNS

TROOPER scatback George Miller, of Midland, Md., has been selected on the coaches' Southern Conference all-star team, according to a story in the Ninth Division News from Goeppingen, Germany.

The former Beall High athlete, who played sandlot baseball, is a 5-foot-5 speedster and is referred to as "a great open field runner, who specialized in long break-away runs — often for TDs."

Among the other players on the all-star array were Falcon Paul Bischoff, former West Virginia University end, who caught 18 passes including four for touchdowns; Chuck Weeks, former Southern California tackle and Bob Stringer, of the 35th FA Group, who played halfback and gained 485 yards. Stringer played with the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL prior to entering the army.

AN IMPORTANT opinion was handed down by the Washington Supreme Court the other day relative to Jockey Norman Cohen's libel suit against a Spokane newspaper which had criticized his riding.

Cohen sued for $10,000. The news article was an account of a race in which the favorite's failure to win was attributed to a poor ride.

The court ruled that "persons who present their work to the public for its approval and acceptance thereby subject it to public criticism and honest comment."

MAX POSNACK, one-time All-America at St. John's College, Brooklyn, N. Y., is co-coach of the new Washington (D. C.) pro basketball team whose roster includes George Kafton, two-time All-America from Holy Cross; Elliott Karver, of George Washington U. and Leroy Ishman, former American U., and Baltimore Bullets player who was here with Dick Groat and the Washington Jets last season when they won two games from the Old Germans.

The team is being backed by Turner's Arena and sponsored by Mike Sklar, owner of Mitchell's Sports Shop. The team will be called Sklar's Stars.

Posnack will be remembered as the Cumberland Colts' first sacker of 1931 when the Yankees had a "farm" team here. The Colts won the Middle Atlantic League championship that year.

SOUTHERN High School of Oakland will not compete in basketball in the Potomac Valley Conference but will vie in baseball and football in the West Virginia circuit.

Because of circumstances which connect the school with Maryland teams in basketball it did not wish to join the conference in that sport."

MATTHIAS (Ty) Shea, racing secretary at Garden State Park (N.J.) and Narragansett in New England and racing director at Bowie, is recuperating from a recent appendectomy at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore.

Shea was racing secretary at Fairgo in 1949 and was Secretary Eddie Brennan's aide during the 21 consecutive years the latter was an official at the local half mile oval.

DEATH of R. Heber Poland, 60, at his home in Luke on Friday marked the passing of one of the section's best liked boxing promoters.

In the 1930s Poland, who had managed the Devon Club for 30 years, put on many a topnotch amateur fistic show and he was one of the squarest shooters in the business.

His boxing ace in those days was Robert "Jiggs" McKnight, a lightweight from Fredricktown, Pa., who met and defeated all comers and ran off a string of 13 consecutive wins in one year. Tracy Riggins, Charley Viney and Tony "Buff" DiUbaldo were among the many other star performers who helped put over Poland's shows.

Heber always believed in giving the fans a run for their money and those associated with him agree he was one of the most honest promoters in the fight game.

BASEBALL makes strange bed fellows.

In 1935 Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox, tried to sell Al Simmons to Mickey Cochrane, pilot of the Detroit Tigers. The price tag was $75,000.

Dykes told Cochrane that Joe McCarthy was in the hotel lobby and the Yankees were looking for an outfielder.

Cochrane forked over the 75 grand because he didn't dare let the Yankees get a guy like Simmons. Al hit .372 for Detroit but the Yankees won the flag anyway, breaking Cochrane's two-year reign.

Now Cochrane is a Yankee scout.

MUTUEL TICKET still uncashed on New Year race tracks for this year amount to approximately $190,000 and most of this will be turned over to the state next April 1.

After a ten-day meeting at Fairgo the amount of uncashed mutuel tickets usually hits about $2,000. All unclaimed monies in Maryland go into the state treasury after a waiting period of two years.

RIDING his 300th winner of the year, Willie Hartack (above), joins a select list of riders who have turned in that many victories in one season. Only eight others have accomplished the feat. Hartack, who is riding at Tropical Park, Coral Gables, Fla., is second in the United States. (International)

Title Bout May Attract 10,000

Olson And Langlois To Fight Wednesday

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Pierre Langlois, 29-year-old challenger of middleweight champion Bobo Olson's title, came out of hiding today to offer the public a glimpse of what to expect in Wednesday night's 15-round scrap.

After operating behind closed doors over the weekend, the Frenchman's handlers scheduled a public afternoon sparring appearance against Pierre Hernandez at an athletic club.

Backers of the favored 26-year-old champion recalled that the last Olson foe who worked in secret was Britain's Randy Turpin—but he came out with no secret weapon and was defeated.

Promoter Benny Ford predicted a crowd of more than 10,000 would watch the 10 p.m. (EST) fight at the Cow Palace. It will be nationally televised over CBS.

Rocky Castellani, who lost to Olson at the Cow Palace four months ago, is in town for the bout. Castellani who has both lost and won to Langlois picks Olson to win "because of his cleverness." But he looks for a tough fight.

Law Hits 278-612 For New Records In K. Of C. Dux League

Raymond "Ike" Law was the star in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League last night when he hung up new records for one and three games on the Club Recreation Alleys as the Grand Knights took two out of three games from the league leading Guards.

Law's scores were 175-278-159—612. His 278 single game beat a 242 rolled earlier in the season by John Aaron. His set of 612 topped a 556 previously rolled by Benny LaNeve.

In the other match the Chancellors swept three from the Recorders to go into a tie with the Guards for first place. A "natural" is in store for next week when the final match of the first half race between the Chancellors and Guards will be a battle for first place.

Other high scores last night were turned in by Benny LaNeve, Chancellors, 204—558; Frank Stakem, Guards, 458, and Charley Steiner, Recorders, 398. Standings:

Saddler Loses Standing As Champ With NBA

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 13 (INS)—Anthony Petronella, president of the National Boxing Association, said tonight that Sandy Saddler of New York, will cease being recognized as world's featherweight champion at midnight tomorrow night.

Petronella said that Saddler has ignored the NBA warnings to defend his title.

Petronella said that Saddler is not suspended. He will be able to box but none of his bouts will be recognized as title fights by the NBA.

Shaw Cut Loose As Forty Niners Football Coach

Strader Is Mentioned As Buck's Successor

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw, who produced 71 victories against 39 defeats and four ties as the only head coach the San Francisco 49ers have had in nine years of professional football, was fired today by his dissatisfied owners.

They wanted a championship.

In a low voice trembling with emotion, Anthony J. (Tony) Morabito, the majority owner of the National Football League club, told a hastily summoned press conference:

"Coach Buck Shaw's contract expires in July, 1955. It will be not renewed. He is relieved of his duties as of this day."

Asked why, he added:

Coached Five Seasons

"He (Shaw) has been given 100 per cent authority, not 99 per cent, but 100. Four out of the past five years, the 49ers have either folded completely or lost the big one. I think it's time we tried something else."

The 49ers were rated of championship caliber before this season began. They ran into a plague of injuries to such key men as halfback Hugh McElhenny. They lost two thrillers in the last minute, to the Chicago Bears and Baltimore Colts, by failure to defend against desperation passes. They finally wound up with a 7-4-1 record and third place in the NFL's Western Division.

No successor to Shaw was announced. Morabito said he hoped to have one by January. Norman (Red) Strader, 49er scout, was high among names prominently mentioned. Strader is a former coach of St. Marys and the New York Yankees football teams.

Shaw was not present in the 49er office when the announcement came from the man who struck up a friendship with him in the University of Santa Clara where Shaw was head football coach and Morabito was a student.

Morabito said he had telephoned Shaw an hour before and gave him the fateful word.

Shaw—who opened the holes for the great George Gipp as a tackle at Notre Dame—coached at North Carolina State, University of Nevada and Santa Clara, before Morabito brought him to the 49ers when they were organized in 1946 in the All-American league.

March 8—Bruce, away.

Sauer Is Named Football Coach At The Citadel

Former Army Star Signs 5-Year Pact

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—The "House of Blaik," one of the major dynasties in football coaching, had a new member in a head coach's position role today, but the mad scramble for teaching talent by the losing teams continued unabated.

John Sauer, one of Army Coach Earl Blaik's brightest pupils, accepted a position as head coach at The Citadel today and filled the third major college vacancy since the end of the season.

But the "resignations" — or firings—kept pace with the hirings and nearly a dozen coaching jobs remained unfilled, with rumors of more to come.

Sauer, a small but brainy quarterback on the fine Army teams of 1943-45, served as Blaik's assistant at West Point for two seasons then went to Florida as assistant to Bob Woodruff, another former Blaik aide, for three years. He finished his "prep" work with a couple of seasons with the Los Angeles Rams.

Gets Five-Year Pact

Sauer is the first of a crew of ex-coaches of the Rams to find steady college employment. He takes over at The Citadel, Jan. 1, under a five-year contract. He succeeds John D. McMillan, who was let out about a week ago.

Meanwhile four other Ram coaches were added to the available list and some of them likely will be around the hotel lobby when the college coaches gather for their annual convention and job-swapping jamboree next month. Howard (Red) Hickey, Dick Voris, Bill Battles and Ralph (Buck) Weaver all announced their resignations after Los Angeles' last game yesterday.

The ranks of the job seekers was swelled today by the firing of Buck Shaw, former Santa Clara coach, as boss of the San Francisco 49ers.

There was no immediate indication that Shaw would consider returning to the college ranks but if he does he probably will be in demand.

Neither of the two other coaches who already have been replaced is expected to be among the job hunters. Pitt's Red Dawson, who quit because of his health and was replaced by assistant Johnny Michelosen, is entering private business. Harold (Red) Drew, succeeded by J. B. (Ears) Whitworth as football coach, remained at Alabama as track coach and physical education professor.

Among Those Ousted

Others who have resigned or been ousted from head coaching jobs this fall include Tuss McLaughry of Darmouth; Ed Danowski of Fordham, Bill Young of Furman, Clyde V. Lee of Houston, Jim Patton of New Mexico A & M, George Benz of Norwick, Laverne (Kip) Taylor of Oregon State, Harvey Robinson of Tennessee, Bernie Witucki of Tulsa and most recently, Ed Kluska of Xavier (O.).

The most active rumors of changes are that Tom Rogers of Wake Forest and George Barclay of North Carolina are in shaky spots. Neither has been confirmed.

282 Deer Slain In Allegany, Checking Stations Report

Tops Previous Six-Day Record Of 279; State's 1,612 Includes 40 By Bowmen

Six checking stations reported 282 deer were killed in Allegany County by hunters during the six-day season which ended Saturday.

This total tops by three the previous record of 279 established in 1953. Forty percent of this year's total were bagged on opening day when 114 fell before hunters' guns. The one-day record for Allegany county was 132 set on the initial day of the 1953 season.

The state report shows 1,612 deer have been slain this year. This figure includes 40 brought down by bow and arrow Nov. 1-13.

Crack Highlanders' 3-Game Win String

FROSTBURG, Dec. 13 — Beall High School knocked Southern High of Oakland out of the undefeated ranks here this afternoon by defeating the Highlanders from Garrett County in a 73-70 thriller. The game was moved ahead from Tuesday night and played before the student bodies.

Beall held a 28-26 edge at half time and was in front at 53-49 at the close of the third period. The score was knotted at 64-64 in the final period when Beall finished stronger to nose out the visitors.

Jimmy Sigler was the "big gun" for Beall with eight goals and 18 points. Felker dumped in 14 tallies and Truly and Chaney had 12 each.

Charley Durbin, Southern center, was the game's high scorer with 23 markers on eight field goals and 7-13 at the foul line.

Beall lost Chaney and Hawkins on personal fouls in the third period while Larry Friend of Southern made his exit in the final stanza.

Southern had whipped the Alumni, Terra Alta and Allegany of Cumberland prior to today's game. Beall now owns a 2-1 record. Lineups:

Fort Hill clobbered Hercules, 1124 to 1118, in the Western Maryland League's fourth smallbore rifle match fired Sunday afternoon at Bowman's Addition and Oakland. Norm White's 287 topped the Fort Hill list. The beaten Hercules crew was paced by Jim Spitznogle's 288 points.

Mountain Top overran a shorthanded LaVale team, 1125 to 800. Art Calhoun's 285 tally headed the winners as they fired their first match on the newly completed rifle range of the Oakland National Guard Armory. Calhoun is Commanding Officer of the Oakland Guard unit.

At Bowman's Addition, Jesse Dom's 278 markers was best score for LaVale.

The last match of this year will be fired next Sunday over both ranges, with Mountain Top challenging Fort Hill, and Hercules testing LaVale.

Norris Will Sue Sports Magazine

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (INS)—James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, announced tonight that he has advised his attorneys to file a five-million-dollar libel suit against Sports, Illustrated.

The nationally circulated periodical, in a recent edition, quoted former heavyweight boxer Harry Thomas as saying Norris was involved in two alleged "fixed" fights in which Thomas said he was involved with Max Schmeling and Tony Galento.

Norris' office issued a statement which termed Thomas' story a "libelous and malicious conspiracy to defame his (Norris') character with the avowed purpose of outlawing boxing."

Norris said that he never has been a fight manager, never managed Thomas and that he had no connection with the promotion of the two fights held in New York and Philadelphia.

Valley-Piedmont Return Game Highlights Cage Program

Black Knights Play Lions On Latter's Court

Fort Hill-Moorefield, LaSalle At Bruce, Keyser Opens Season

Valley High School's undefeated Black Knights put a three-game winning streak on the line tonight when they tackle "Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions in a return game on the Piedmont court.

Valley won the series opener on its home floor, 54-53, in overtime and the finale of the two-game set promises to be just as interesting.

Piedmont owns a 2-1 record, both wins having been scored over Elk Garden High's Elks.

Sentinels at Moorefield

Defeated in its opening game last Friday by the Parsons High Panthers, Fort Hill's Sentinels journey to Moorefield tonight to battle Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Yellow Jackets in the only game between the schools this season. Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's quint won last year's game here, 57-48 but the Jackets won on their home floor in the 1952 overtime thriller, 60-58.

Whipped by Valley High in its first start, LaSalle runs into another toughie tonight in facing Bruce High's Bulldogs at Westernport. Augie Eichhorn's Bulldogs have taken bites out of Elk Garden and Fort Ashby and LaSalle will try to play the role of dog catcher tonight.

Keyser Opens Season

John Shelton's Keyser High cagers kick off the lid tonight by playing host to Elk Garden. Keyser won 15 and lost 6 last season and lost out in the Class "A" sectional to U.H.S., of Morgantown, after eliminating Martinsburg in two straight. Scott Ward and Rick Kephart are Keyser's holdover varsity members while the other lettermen are Ron Stickley, George Wilson and Harold Wime., the latter a transferee from Petersburg. Stickley is a senior and the others are juniors.

Other P.V.C. contests find West Virginia School for the Deaf at Capon Bridge and Petersburg's Vikings at Circleville.

Among the other games set for tonight are:

Hyndman at Mt. Savage.
Northern at Rockwood.
Carver at Meyersdale
Mardensville at Woodstock, Va.
Franklin at Green Bank
Romney at Davis
Bayard at Beverly,
Mathias at Triplette, Va.
Potomac State at Fairmont.

Gene Smith Loses

BROOKLYN, Dec. 13 (AP)—Rudy Garcia, a busy little strong man from Los Angeles, climbed all over Gene Smith tonight to win on a technical knockout in 11 seconds of the sixth round at the Eastern Parkway. Garcia weighed 128¼, Smith 130 pounds.

All three officials, Referee Ebbets and Judges Harold Barnes and Tony Rossi had Garcia ahead 5-0 at the end of five rounds. So did The Associated Press.

Lane Beats Perez

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Left-handed Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., racked up his sixth straight victory tonight by gaining a split 10-round decision over New York's Danny Jo Perez in a bloody scrap at St. Nicholas Arena. Perez weighed 139¾, Lane 136¾.

Referee Ray Miller (5-4-1) and Judge Artie Schwartz (6-3-1) voted for Lane, while Judge Jerry Carnegie (5-4-1) scored for Perez. The AP card had it even, five rounds for each.

Miller An All-Star
Comment Was Honest
Max Posnack Coach
Heber Poland Dies

By C. V. BURNS

TROOPER scatback George Miller, of Midland, Md., has been selected on the coaches' Southern Conference all-star team, according to a story in the Ninth Division News from Goeppingen, Germany.

The former Beall High athlete, who played sandlot baseball, is a 5-foot-5 speedster and is referred to as "a great open field runner, who specialized in long break-away runs — often for TDs."

Among the other players on the all-star array were Falcon Paul Bischoff, former West Virginia University end, who caught 18 passes including four for touchdowns; Chuck Weeks, former Southern California tackle and Bob Stringer, of the 35th FA Group, who played halfback and gained 485 yards. Stringer played with the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL prior to entering the army.

AN IMPORTANT opinion was handed down by the Washington Supreme Court the other day relative to Jockey Norman Cohen's libel suit against a Spokane newspaper which had criticized his riding.

Cohen sued for $10,000. The news article was an account of a race in which the favorite's failure to win was attributed to a poor ride.

The court ruled that "persons who present their work to the public for its approval and acceptance thereby subject it to public criticism and honest comment."

MAX POSNACK, one-time All-America at St. John's College, Brooklyn, N. Y., is co-coach of the new Washington (D. C.) pro basketball team whose roster includes George Kafton, two-time All-America from Holy Cross; Elliott Karver, of George Washington U. and Leroy Ishman, former American U., and Baltimore Bullets player who was here with Dick Groat and the Washington Jets last season when they won two games from the Old Germans.

The team is being backed by Turner's Arena and sponsored by Mike Sklar, owner of Mitchell's Sports Shop. The team will be called Sklar's Stars.

Posnack will be remembered as the Cumberland Colts' first sacker of 1931 when the Yankees had a "farm" team here. The Colts won the Middle Atlantic League championship that year.

SOUTHERN High School of Oakland will not compete in basketball in the Potomac Valley Conference but will vie in baseball and football in the West Virginia circuit.

Because of circumstances which connect the school with Maryland teams in basketball it did not wish to join the conference in that sport.

MATTHIAS (Ty) Shea, racing secretary at Garden State Park (N.J.) and Narragansett in New England and racing director at Bowie, is recuperating from a recent appendectomy at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore.

Shea was racing secretary at Fairgo in 1949 and was Secretary Eddie Brennan's aide during the 21 consecutive years the latter was an official at the local half mile oval.

DEATH of R. Heber Poland, 60, at his home in Luke on Friday marked the passing of one of the section's best liked boxing promoters.

In the 1930s Poland, who had managed the Devon Club for 30 years, put on many a topnotch amateur fistic show and he was one of the squarest shooters in the business.

His boxing ace in those days was Robert "Jiggs" McKnight, a lightweight from Fredricktown, Pa., who met and defeated all comers and ran off a string of 13 consecutive wins in one year. Tracy Riggins, Charley Viney and Tony "Buff" DiUbaldo were among the many other star performers who helped put over Poland's shows.

Heber always believed in giving the fans a run for their money and those associated with him agree he was one of the most honest promoters in the fight game.

BASEBALL makes strange bed fellows.

In 1935 Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox, tried to sell Al Simmons to Mickey Cochrane, pilot of the Detroit Tigers. The price tag was $75,000.

Dykes told Cochrane that Joe McCarthy was in the hotel lobby and the Yankees were looking for an outfielder.

Cochrane forked over the 75 grand because he didn't dare let the Yankees get a guy like Simmons. Al hit .372 for Detroit but the Yankees won the flag anyway, breaking Cochrane's two-year reign.

Now Cochrane is a Yankee scout.

MUTUEL TICKET still uncashed on New Year race tracks for this year amount to approximately $190,000 and most of this will be turned over to the state next April 1.

After a ten-day meeting at Fairgo the amount of uncashed mutuel tickets usually hits about $2,000. All unclaimed monies in Maryland go into the state treasury after a waiting period of two years.

RIDING his 300th winner of the year, Willie Hartack (above), joins a select list of riders who have turned in that many victories in one season. Only eight others have accomplished the feat. Hartack, who is riding at Tropical Park, Coral Gables, Fla., is second in the United States. (International)

Title Bout May Attract 10,000

Olson And Langlois To Fight Wednesday

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Pierre Langlois, 29-year-old challenger of middleweight champion Bobo Olson's title, came out of hiding today to offer the public a glimpse of what to expect in Wednesday night's 15-round scrap.

After operating behind closed doors over the weekend, the Frenchman's handlers scheduled a public afternoon sparring appearance against Pierre Hernandez at an athletic club.

Backers of the favored 26-year-old champion recalled that the last Olson foe who worked in secret was Britain's Randy Turpin—but he came out with no secret weapon and was defeated.

Promoter Benny Ford predicted a crowd of more than 10,000 would watch the 10 p.m. (EST) fight at the Cow Palace. It will be nationally televised over CBS.

Rocky Castellani, who lost to Olson at the Cow Palace four months ago, is in town for the bout. Castellani who has both lost and won to Langlois picks Olson to win "because of his cleverness." But he looks for a tough fight.

Law Hits 278-612 For New Records In K. Of C. Dux League

Raymond "Ike" Law was the star in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League last night when he hung up new records for one and three games on the Club Recreation Alleys as the Grand Knights took two out of three games from the league leading Guards.

Law's scores were 175-278-159—612. His 278 single game beat a 242 rolled earlier in the season by John Aaron. His set of 612 topped a 556 previously rolled by Benny LaNeve.

In the other match the Chancellors swept three from the Recorders to go into a tie with the Guards for first place. A "natural" is in store for next week when the final match of the first half race between the Chancellors and Guards will be a battle for first place.

Other high scores last night were turned in by Benny LaNeve, Chancellors, 204—558; Frank Stakem, Guards, 458, and Charley Steiner, Recorders, 398. Standings:

Saddler Loses Standing As Champ With NBA

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 13 (INS)—Anthony Petronella, president of the National Boxing Association, said tonight that Sandy Saddler of New York, will cease being recognized as world's featherweight champion at midnight tomorrow night.

Petronella said that Saddler has ignored the NBA warnings to defend his title.

Petronella said that Saddler is not suspended. He will be able to box but none of his bouts will be recognized as title fights by the NBA.

Shaw Cut Loose As Forty Niners Football Coach

Strader Is Mentioned As Buck's Successor

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw, who produced 71 victories against 39 defeats and four ties as the only head coach the San Francisco 49ers have had in nine years of professional football, was fired today by his dissatisfied owners.

They wanted a championship.

In a low voice trembling with emotion, Anthony J. (Tony) Morabito, the majority owner of the National Football League club, told a hastily summoned press conference:

"Coach Buck Shaw's contract expires in July, 1955. It will be not renewed. He is relieved of his duties as of this day."

Asked why, he added:

Coached Five Seasons

"He (Shaw) has been given 100 per cent authority, not 99 per cent, but 100. Four out of the past five years, the 49ers have either folded completely or lost the big one. I think it's time we tried something else."

The 49ers were rated of championship caliber before this season began. They ran into a plague of injuries to such key men as halfback Hugh McElhenny. They lost two thrillers in the last minute, to the Chicago Bears and Baltimore Colts, by failure to defend against desperation passes. They finally wound up with a 7-4-1 record and third place in the NFL's Western Division.

No successor to Shaw was announced. Morabito said he hoped to have one by January. Norman (Red) Strader, 49er scout, was high among names prominently mentioned. Strader is a former coach of St. Marys and the New York Yankees football teams.

Shaw was not present in the 49er office when the announcement came from the man who struck up a friendship with him in the University of Santa Clara where Shaw was head football coach and Morabito was a student.

Morabito said he had telephoned Shaw an hour before and gave him the fateful word.

Shaw—who opened the holes for the great George Gipp as a tackle at Notre Dame—coached at North Carolina State, University of Nevada and Santa Clara, before Morabito brought him to the 49ers when they were organized in 1946 in the All-American league.

Sauer Is Named Football Coach At The Citadel

Former Army Star Signs 5-Year Pact

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP) — The "House of Blaik," one of the major dynasties in football coaching, had a new member in a head coach's position role today, but the mad scramble for teaching talent by the losing teams continued unabated.

John Sauer, one of Army Coach Earl Blaik's brightest pupils, accepted a position as head coach at The Citadel today and filled the third major college vacancy since the end of the season.

But the "resignations" — or firings—kept pace with the hirings and nearly a dozen coaching jobs remained unfilled, with rumors of more to come.

Sauer, a small but brainy quarterback on the fine Army teams of 1943-45, served as Blaik's assistant at West Point for two seasons then went to Florida as assistant to Bob Woodruff, another former Blaik aide, for three years. He finished his "prep" work with a couple of seasons with the Los Angeles Rams.

Gets Five-Year Pact

Sauer is the first of a crew of ex-coaches of the Rams to find steady college employment. He takes over at The Citadel, Jan. 1, under a five-year contract. He succeeds John D. McMillan, who was let out about a week ago.

Meanwhile four other Ram coaches were added to the available list and some of them likely will be around the hotel lobby when the college coaches gather for their annual convention and job-swapping jamboree next month. Howard (Red) Hickey, Dick Voris, Bill Battles and Ralph (Buck) Weaver all announced their resignations after Los Angeles' last game yesterday.

The ranks of the job seekers was swelled today by the firing of Buck Shaw, former Santa Clara coach, as boss of the San Francisco 49ers.

There was no immediate indication that Shaw would consider returning to the college ranks but if he does he probably will be in demand.

Neither of the two other coaches who already have been replaced is expected to be among the job hunters. Pitt's Red Dawson, who quit because of his health and was replaced by assistant Johnny Michelosen, is entering private business. Harold (Red) Drew, succeeded by J. B. (Ears) Whitworth as football coach, remained at Alabama as track coach and physical education professor.

Among Those Ousted

Others who have resigned or been ousted from head coaching jobs this fall include Tuss McLaughry of Darmouth; Ed Danowski of Fordham, Bill Young of Furman, Clyde V. Lee of Houston, Jim Patton of New Mexico A & M, George Benz of Norwick, Laverne (Kip) Taylor of Oregon State, Harvey Robinson of Tennessee, Bernie Witucki of Tulsa and most recently, Ed Kluska of Xavier (O.).

The most active rumors of changes are that Tom Rogers of Wake Forest and George Barclay of North Carolina are in shaky spots. Neither has been confirmed.

282 Deer Slain In Allegany, Checking Stations Report

Tops Previous Six-Day Record Of 279; State's 1,612 Includes 40 By Bowmen

Six checking stations reported 282 deer were killed in Allegany County by hunters during the six-day season which ended Saturday.

This total tops by three the previous record of 279 established in 1953. Forty percent of this year's total were bagged on opening day when 114 fell before hunters' guns. The one-day record for Allegany county was 132 set on the initial day of the 1953 season.

The state report shows 1,612 deer have been slain this year. This figure includes 40 brought down by bow and arrow Nov. 1-13.

Crack Highlanders' 3-Game Win String

FROSTBURG, Dec. 13 — Beall High School knocked Southern High of Oakland out of the undefeated ranks here this afternoon by defeating the Highlanders from Garrett County in a 73-70 thriller. The game was moved ahead from Tuesday night and played before the student bodies.

Beall held a 28-26 edge at half time and was in front at 53-49 at the close of the third period. The score was knotted at 64-64 in the final period when Beall finished stronger to nose out the visitors.

Jimmy Sigler was the "big gun" for Beall with eight goals and 18 points. Felker dumped in 14 tallies and Truly and Chaney had 12 each.

Charley Durbin, Southern center, was the game's high scorer with 23 markers on eight field goals and 7-13 at the foul line.

Beall lost Chaney and Hawkins on personal fouls in the third period while Larry Friend of Southern made his exit in the final stanza.

Southern had whipped the Alumni, Terra Alta and Allegany of Cumberland prior to today's game. Beall now owns a 2-1 record. Lineups:

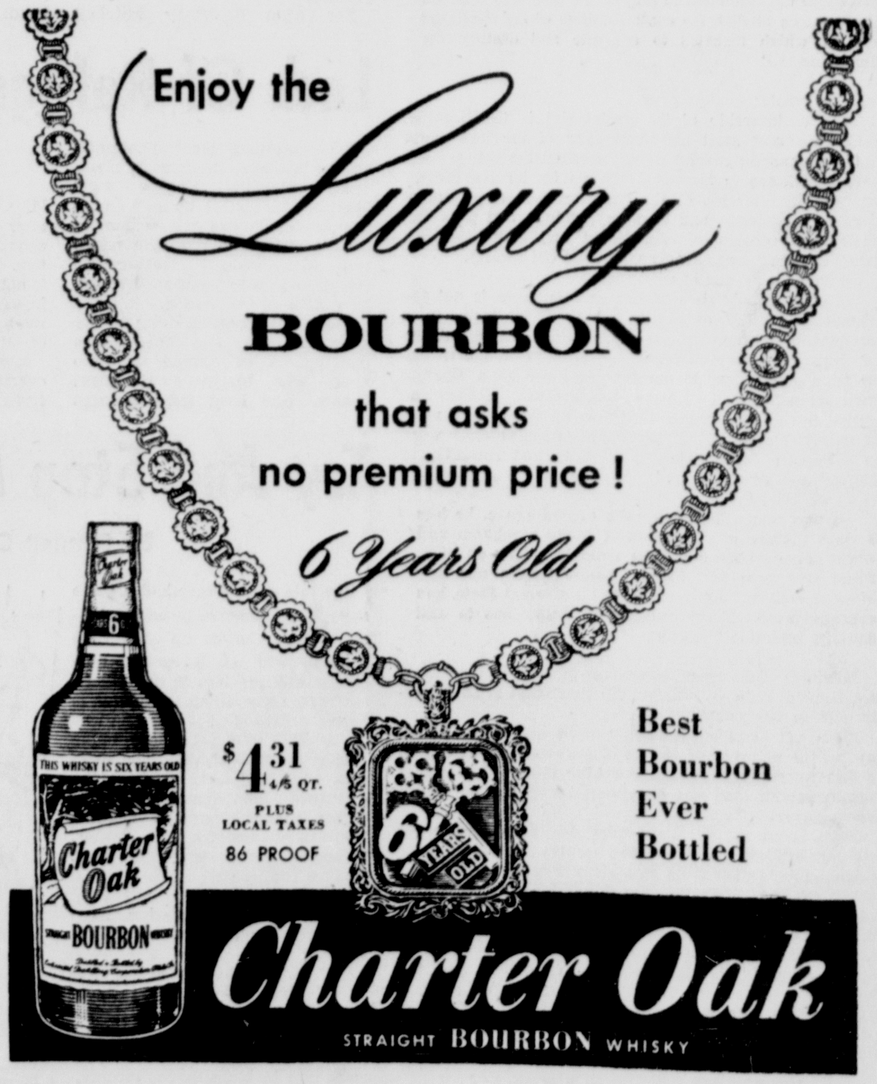
Norris Will Sue Sports Magazine

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (INS)—James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, announced tonight that he has advised his attorneys to file a five-million-dollar libel suit against Sports, Illustrated.

The nationally circulated periodical, in a recent edition, quoted former heavyweight boxer Harry Thomas as saying Norris was involved in two alleged "fixed" fights in which Thomas said he was involved with Max Schmeling and Tony Galento.

Norris' office issued a statement which termed Thomas' story a "libelous and malicious conspiracy to defame his (Norris') character with the avowed purpose of outlawing boxing."

Norris said that he never has been a fight manager, never managed Thomas and that he had no connection with the promotion of the two fights held in New York and Philadelphia.



Randolph County Leads Deer Kills In West Virginia

Hardy Is Runner-Up; State Total 16,672

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 13 (AP)—Bad weather and plenty of water and foilage in the woods kept West Virginia's 1954 deer kill down, conservation officials said today.

C. O. Handley, chief of the Conservation Department's division of game management, said 16,672 deer were killed during this year's three-day season, compared to 19,844 killed during the corresponding season in 1953.

The bad weather-heavy rains in the southern part of the state and snow and blizzards in the mountains - prevented hunters from reaching the more productive regions.

And an abundance of water and feed for the deer kept the animals well dispersed, instead of localized around scarce water holes and feeding grounds.

Randolph County reported the highest kill, 1,883. Hardy reported 1,832; Hampshire 1,447; Grant 1,374; Pocahontas 1,160 and Mineral 1,011.

Of the total, 29 were brought down by bow and arrow hunters.

Nats To Play Redlegs In Hagerstown Apr. 8

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Washington Senators will play 29 exhibition baseball games next spring, all against major league opposition.

The preseason series winds up with two-game sets against Brooklyn and Cincinnati at Griffith Stadium. As has been the case for the past decade, the Senators will be headquartered at Orlando, Fla.

Among the Senators' exhibition games are:

April 5, Cincinnati at Richmond, Va.; 6, Brooklyn at Washington; 7, Brooklyn at Washington; 8, Cincinnati at Hagerstown, Md.; 9, Cincinnati at Washington; 10, Cincinnati at Washington.

Erskine Recovering

ANDERSON, Ind., Dec. 13 (AP)—Carl Erskine, Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, was outside his home for the first time today after a two-week bout with pneumonia.

Dr. A. W. Elsten, his physician, said Erskine had recovered almost completely from the illness. Erskine was stricken Nov. 30, a day before he was to have left on a hunting trip with teammate Preacher Roe in Arkansas.

Watch resonance! That is the rule of charming speech for you to practice today.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Beauty should be heard as well as seen. Your voice, being a picture of your inner self, deserves as much attention as you devote to your outer grooming.

My speech instructors list five general rules for you to follow. Observe them, and your voice surely will be pleasing to any listening audience. 1. Breathe from the diaphragm, to develop tone and volume. 2. Articulate distinctly with lips, tongue, and jaw. 3. Speak with variety in pitch and speed. 4. Work for a rising inflection. 5. Watch resonance.

Practice Today

Let's concentrate today on the resonance rule. There is no substitute for the pleasure a resonant speaking voice gives its listeners . . . and no equal to the appeal such a voice gives you. Resonance and charm are synonymous where your voice is concerned.

As you work for increased resonance, practicing the exercises which follow, you (and everybody else) will hear greater clarity, smoothness, and melody in your voice than ever before.

Hum an "m" sound, holding it on one pitch as long as your breath lasts. Can you sense the vibration that the humming causes in your nasal passages? If you place your forefingers lightly on either side of your nose, you will actually be able to feel it. Practice every day until you establish a good strong vibration. Hum your favorite tune, often, during the day.

Say the three resonating sounds —m, n, ng— and feel the vibration they cause. When you repeat these sounds in a spoken word, you should feel the same vibration as when you hum. This is known as head resonance, and it is a necessity for charming speech.

Word Rehearsal

So, put the humming sounds into words. Say home, moan, mine, time, tune, mean, lung, sing, coming, moaning, seeming. Now complete a list of sentences using as many words as possible containing head resonance sounds.

These humming sounds that come through your nose are the only ones that should ever be allowed to do so. If your speech is to please all who listen.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success— by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 13—(INS)—When June Allyson reads "Good Morning, Miss Dove," Frances Gray Patton's novel, Sam Engel is just sure she'll want to play the lead.

20th, it's true, has no commitment with the popular June, but she played in "Woman's World" for this studio and they liked her very much.

It would be a different sort of role for Junie, because Miss Dove is a school teacher, and the book tells about the austere atmosphere of the small town in which she lives and her dedication to teaching. The book has only been out a short time but it's already ninth on the best seller lists.

Dan Dailey is being sought by MGM for a musical remake of "The Philadelphia Story" with Dan in the role originally played to the hilt by Jimmy Stewart.

I'm not surprised because I've seen Dan in "No Business Like Show Business" and he proves he can act with the best of 'em as well as hoof.

Incidentally, Dan tells me those rumors aren't true that he has matrimony in mind. "I add two rooms onto my house—and immediately I'm getting married—only I'm not," said Dan.

Never at anytime have Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell gotten along so well.

Glenn has a new policy and is refusing to take any assignment that will separate them. He has turned down an offer to star in "The Director" in Italy, and "The Steeper Cliff" in Munich. In fact, he admits he's passed up more than a million dollars in salary in the past year and a half for pictures he could have done in Europe.

The only time Glenn and Eleanor had real trouble was when they were separated for 40 weeks in a single year.

Eleanor is doing very well, too, in her TV, which shows her teaching a Sunday School class.

David Niven was in the middle of rehearsing his TV show when he received a cablegram from his sister in England reading:

"David safe with grandfather. School in Suffolk burned to ground in middle of the night."

This was the first Niven had heard about the fire, and he was beside himself until he was able to contact his sister by trans-Atlantic 'phone.

It seems that his son, David, had run away in the night (fate must have had a hand in this) and gone to his grandfather's a few miles away from the school.

"Now he is upset," reported Niven's sister, "that he wasn't at the school so he could jump out of the window into a fireman's net!"

Not since Lillian and Dorothy Gish were children have they been together on the stage. Now out on the MGM lot where Lillian is appearing in "Cobweb," she says that she and her sister plan to play in a Broadway show this fall.

She has just read the first act of "The Quiet One" (no relation to the John Ford picture) and likes it very much. If the rest of the play is as good as the first act, they'll do it for Jed Harris.

Both girls have been on the stage in hits, but in separate hits, and, of course, they have made many motion pictures in the old days together . . . "Birth Of A Nation," "Orphans In The Storm," etc.

Snapshots of Hollywood Collected at random:

Rita Moreno, who has been in her shell since all the publicity about Geordie Hormel, and who has been dating no one else, surprised everyone by dining with Jeffrey Hunter at the Tail O'The Cock.

Pretty Jean Coyne again with Dan Dailey at the Encore.

Maurice Chevalier has been completely cleared by the State Department. The whole town is talking about how well he looked and sang on Bob Hope's TV show.

Mickey Rooney will be at the Santa Anita meets this year. Maurice Duke, producer of "The Johnny Longden Story," starring the Mick, makes all his pre-production shots during the racing season with the jockeys.

Tony Travis, who has been dating Cleo Moore exclusively, raised some eyebrows when he walked into the Captain's Table with Cynthia Baxter, model and bit player.

Maybe Jon Hall is the only man in Linda Dansen's heart, but she was with realtor Al Herd again at Sportsman's Lodge.

You can send birthday greetings along with your Christmas card to Humphrey Bogart and Joseph Schenck, who were born on the 25th, to Lew Ayres, whose birthday is the 24th, and to Marlene Dietrich, who celebrates her natal day on the 26th.

Jane Russell, Jeanne Crain, Rudy Vallee, Alan Young and other Americans in London will have Christmas dinner with Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyons. Ben writes that all of them attended a lavish party for 300 given by Sir Bernard and Lady Docker at Claridge's. The party was given in appreciation of the entertainment the family has received from the theatrical industry over a period of years.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Randolph County Leads Deer Kills In West Virginia

Hardy Is Runner-Up; State Total 16,672

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 13 (AP)—Bad weather and plenty of water and foilage in the woods kept West Virginia's 1954 deer kill down, conservation officials said today.

C. O. Handley, chief of the Conservation Department's division of game management, said 16,672 deer were killed during this year's three-day season, compared to 19,844 killed during the corresponding season in 1953.

The bad weather-heavy rains in the southern part of the state and snow and blizzards in the mountains - prevented hunters from reaching the more productive regions.

And an abundance of water and feed for the deer kept the animals well dispersed, instead of localized around scarce water holes and feeding grounds.

Randolph County reported the highest kill, 1,883. Hardy reported 1,832; Hampshire 1,447; Grant 1,374; Pocahontas 1,160 and Mineral 1,011.

Of the total, 29 were brought down by bow and arrow hunters.

Nats To Play Redlegs In Hagerstown Apr. 8

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Washington Senators will play 29 exhibition baseball games next spring, all against major league opposition.

The preseason series winds up with two-game sets against Brooklyn and Cincinnati at Griffith Stadium. As has been the case for the past decade, the Senators will be headquartered at Orlando, Fla.

Among the Senators' exhibition games are:

April 5, Cincinnati at Richmond, Va.; 6, Brooklyn at Washington; 7, Brooklyn at Washington; 8, Cincinnati at Hagerstown, Md.; 9, Cincinnati at Washington; 10, Cincinnati at Washington.

Erskine Recovering

ANDERSON, Ind., Dec. 13 (AP)—Carl Erskine, Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, was outside his home for the first time today after a two-week bout with pneumonia.

Dr. A. W. Elsten, his physician, said Erskine had recovered almost completely from the illness. Erskine was stricken Nov. 30, a day before he was to have left on a hunting trip with teammate Preacher Roe in Arkansas.

Watch resonance! That is the rule of charming speech for you to practice today.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Beauty should be heard as well as seen. Your voice, being a picture of your inner self, deserves as much attention as you devote to your outer grooming.

My speech instructors list five general rules for you to follow. Observe them, and your voice surely will be pleasing to any listening audience. 1. Breathe from the diaphragm, to develop tone and volume. 2. Articulate distinctly with lips, tongue, and jaw. 3. Speak with variety in pitch and speed. 4. Work for a rising inflection. 5. Watch resonance.

Practice Today

Let's concentrate today on the resonance rule. There is no substitute for the pleasure a resonant speaking voice gives its listeners . . and no equal to the appeal such a voice gives you. Resonance and charm are synonymous where your voice is concerned.

As you work for increased resonance, practicing the exercises which follow, you (and everybody else) will hear greater clarity, smoothness, and melody in your voice than ever before.

Hum an "m" sound, holding it on one pitch as long as your breath lasts. Can you sense the vibration that the humming causes in your nasal passages? If you place your forefingers lightly on either side of your nose, you will actually be able to feel it. Practice every day until you establish a good strong vibration. Hum your favorite tune, often, during the day.

Say the three resonating sounds —m, n, ng— and feel the vibration they cause. When you repeat these sounds in a spoken word, you should feel the same vibration as when you hum. This is known as head resonance, and it is a necessity for charming speech.

Word Rehearsal

So, put the humming sounds into words. Say home, moan, mine, time, tune, mean, lung, sing, coming, moaning, seeming. Now complete a list of sentences using as many words as possible containing head resonance sounds.

These humming sounds that come through your nose are the only ones that should ever be allowed to do so. If your speech is to please all who listen.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 13—(INS)—When June Allyson reads "Good Morning, Miss Dove," Frances Gray Patton's novel, Sam Engel is just sure she'll want to play the lead.

20th, it's true, has no commitment with the popular June, but she played in "Woman's World" for this studio and they liked her very much.

It would be a different sort of role for Junie, because Miss Dove is a school teacher, and the book tells about the austere atmosphere of the small town in which she lives and her dedication to teaching. The book has only been out a short time but it's already ninth on the best seller lists.

Dan Dailey is being sought by MGM for a musical remake of "The Philadelphia Story" with Dan in the role originally played to the hilt by Jimmy Stewart.

I'm not surprised because I've seen Dan in "No Business Like Show Business" and he proves he can act with the best of 'em as well as hoof.

Incidentally, Dan tells me those rumors aren't true that he has matrimony in mind. "I add two rooms onto my house—and immediately I'm getting married—only I'm not," said Dan.

Never at anytime have Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell gotten along so well.

Glenn has a new policy and is refusing to take any assignment that will separate them. He has turned down an offer to star in "The Director" in Italy,—and "The Steeper Cliff" in Munich. In fact, he admits he's passed up more than a million dollars in salary in the past year and a half for pictures he could have done in Europe.

The only time Glenn and Eleanor had real trouble was when they were separated for 40 weeks in a single year.

Eleanor is doing very well, too, in her TV, which shows her teaching a Sunday School class.

David Niven was in the middle of rehearsing his TV show when he received a cablegram from his sister in England reading:

"David safe with grandfather. School in Suffolk burned to ground in middle of the night."

This was the first Niven had heard about the fire, and he was beside himself until he was able to contact his sister by trans-Atlantic 'phone.

It seems that his son, David, had run away in the night (fate must have had a hand in this) and gone to his grandfather's a few miles away from the school.

"Now he is upset," reported Niven's sister, "that he wasn't at the school so he could jump out of the window into a fireman's net!"

Not since Lillian and Dorothy Gish were children have they been together on the stage. Now out on the MGM lot where Lillian is appearing in "Cobweb," she says that she and her sister plan to play in a Broadway show this fall.

She has just read the first act of "The Quiet One" (no relation to the John Ford picture) and likes it very much. If the rest of the play is as good as the first act, they'll do it for Jed Harris.

Both girls have been on the stage in hits, but in separate hits, and, of course, they have made many motion pictures in the old days together . . . "Birth Of A Nation," "Orphans In The Storm," etc.

Snapshots of Hollywood Collected at random:

Rita Moreno, who has been in her shell since all the publicity about Geordie Hormel, and who has been dating no one else, surprised everyone by dining with Jeffrey Hunter at the Tail O'The Cock.

Pretty Jean Coyne again with Dan Dailey at the Encore.

Maurice Chevalier has been completely cleared by the State Department. The whole town is talking about how well he looked and sang on Bob Hope's TV show.

Mickey Rooney will be at the Santa Anita meets this year. Maurice Duke, producer of "The Johnny Longden Story," starring the Mick, makes all his pre-production shots during the racing season with the jockeys.

Tony Travis, who has been dating Cleo Moore exclusively, raised some eyebrows when he walked into the Captain's Table with Cynthia Baxter, model and bit player.

Maybe Jon Hall is the only man in Linda Dansen's heart, but she was with realtor Al Herd again at Sportsman's Lodge.

You can send birthday greetings along with your Christmas card to Humphrey Bogart and Joseph Schenck, who were born on the 25th, to Lew Ayres, whose birthday is the 24th, and to Marlene Dietrich, who celebrates her natal day on the 26th.

Jane Russell, Jeanne Crain, Rudy Vallee, Alan Young and other Americans in London will have Christmas dinner with Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyons. Ben writes that all of them attended a lavish party for 300 given by Sir Bernard and Lady Docker at Claridge's. The party was given in appreciation of the entertainment the family has received from the theatrical industry over a period of years.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Parents, Pupils To Sign Safety Pledges At VHS

School To Stage S-D Education Program

LONACONING — "My S-D Day Pledge" will be signed by each pupil and their parents of Valley High School and teachers for December 15.

"I am aware that December 15, 1954 has been named by President Eisenhower as S-D Day—which means Safe Driving Day.

"I believe that traffic accidents can be greatly reduced if each driver and pedestrian will whole-heartedly observe traffic regulations and be a good 'traffic sportsman.'

"I will, therefore, do everything I can as a driver and as a pedestrian to keep S-D Day completely free of traffic accidents."

The parents and pupil will have their signatures on the pledge and the statement will be returned to the school by Wednesday.

Distribution of th pledges was made Monday afternoon at Valley High School, in cooperation with the Automobile Club of Maryland, Maryland Traffice Safety Commission, State Department of Education, Department of Catholic Education, and Superintendent of County Schools.

S-D Day is a day to demonstrate that traffic accidents can be reduced materially when each motorist and pedestrian accepts full personal responsibility for observing the letter and spirit of all traffic regulations. Every citizen is being asked to drive and walk as he would have everyone else drive and walk. The goal is for every community to go accident-free for the 24-hour period.

In cooperation with the President's action committee for traffic safety, the Education committee is requesting public support by observing 30 seconds of silence for prayer at 9 a. m. on S-D Day.

STC Building Is Named To Honor Miss Compton

FROSTBURG—Dr. Lillian C. Compton, Sunday received a birthday gift that will be admired and remembered for generations. It was her seventieth birthday, and Dr. Compton officially retired as president of Frostburg State Teachers College to climax one of the most brilliant careers of an individual in the field of education in Maryland.

In tribute of her birthday, retirement, and splendid work as president of the college for the past ten years, the State Board of Education announced the naming of the new $700,000 auditorium - gymnasium at the college in her honor.

William A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney and member of the State Board of Education, made the official announcement at a luncheon honoring Dr. Compton at the college.

Gunter, who was first to make the recommendation that a building be erected in honor of Miss Compton, announced that at a meeting of the State Board of Education on November 24, Dr. Thomas Pullen Jr., superintendent of the State Department of Education, recommended upon Gunter's motion that the new building be named, "Compton Hall." The board voted unanimously in favor of the action.

Gunter, serving as toastmaster at the luncheon, said state school officials were not attending to pay personal but official tribute to Miss Compton, who had given unusual service for ten years to the college.

Gunter said: "It is unusual for any college or other state institution to perpetuate the name of any living person upon any one of its buildings. However, the State Board felt that in the case of Miss Compton it was dealing with an unusual person and that it would be fitting to recognize her worth, not after her demise but while she is yet living."

Gunter presented Dr. Compton with an architect's drawing of the new auditorium-gymnasium, and said: "To those who feel grateful for the erection of Compton Hall, do not thank the State Board of Education, but thank Miss Compton for having spent the best years of her life in improving the facilities of the college and for making Frostburg a better and busier town."

Dr. Pullen said that he was not attending the luncheon to pay his final respects to Miss Compton, but to publicly thank her for the keen interest she took in her work at the college and for the changes which were made during her administration.

Dr. Pullen said that he deeply appreciated her work during the past ten years, and pointed out how she faced problems as they arose. He added that the example Miss Compton showed to the students, faculty and administration staff was unsurpassable.

Dr. Pullen introduced other members of the State Board of Education attending the luncheon, including Jerome Frampton Jr., vice president of the board; James Reed, supervisor of school planning for the State Department of Education, and Ted Boston, supervisor of teacher and higher education.

Miss Compton said that she enjoyed her association with the State Board members, faculty, students, citizens of Frostburg and the area, and Charles L. Kopp, retired superintendent of Allegany County schools, who advised Miss Compton on numerous projects.

Dr. Compton said that she gained pleasure in her work at the college, but added that Frostburg State is still behind in its expansion program and that she intends to continue her efforts for better buildings on the college campus.

The college head said that she felt most of her success was due to the informal way in which she handled matters. Saying that she considered herself "an informal person, she went after things in an informal way, sometimes sidetracking the regular channels set up by the State Board.

Miss Compton said she is proud of the new buildings at the college, but is more concerned about the type of teachers and citizens the college is turning out.

Mr. Frampton praised the work of Dr. Compton, pointing out that it was her encouragement and drive that made it possible for the college to expand.

Mr. Kopp said that when he advised Miss Compton to accept the job, he knew that she would do a splendid job, because she had been outstanding while working as a supervisor for the Allegany County Board of Education.

Mr. Kopp said that some persons achieve things by being pushed, while others have the "push" in their blood, and that Dr. Compton was the type of person with drive in her blood.

The new auditorium-gymnasium has been under construction the past year, and will be opened about January 15. The gym will provide three basketball courts and seat approximately 350 persons. The auditorium will seat 780 and will include offices and music rooms.

Dances Scheduled

WESTERNPORT — Teen-Age dances will be held at the Union hall here after the Piedmont High School and Valley High School basketball game tonight and the Bruce and LaSalle game Wednesday.

Teen-Town Club Elects Officers At Frostburg

Adult Executive Group Is Formed

FROSTBURG — Officers have been selected by the newly organized Teen-Town Club of Frostburg by the students of Beall High School.

The officers include James Kergan, Senior, president; Lee Lehr, a Junior, vice president; Conrad Filsinger, Sophomore, secretary, and Mary McGowan, a Freshman, treasurer.

Plans have been made by the steering committee to raise funds for the purpose of furnishing the third floor of the Frostburg Fire Hall, which will be used as a place of recreation by the teen-agers.

An adult executive committee has been formed to give guidance to the students who will handle the organization.

The members of the board of directors are Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Jesse Jacobs, Mrs. William Goebel, Mrs. Joseph Montana, Mrs. Paul LaRue, Frank Lewis and Howard Duckworth, who is serving as president of the board.

A formal opening of the club rooms will be held Saturday, December 18, and will be preceded by a parade. Open house will be held during the afternoon for parents, sponsors and friends. The first event for the teen-agers will be a dance in the evening.

A group of four chaperons will be present at all meetings and will be in charge of the refreshment booth.

Keyser High Lists Events For This Week

Teachers To Receive Pre-Holiday Checks

KEYSER—Mineral County teachers will receive a half month's salary check for the first half of the school month, ending yesterday.

Other school news for the Keyser High School included a faculty covered dish supper party at the home of Mrs. Mildred Thompson, on South Main Street, Monday evening, followed by the group visiting the home of John R. Shelton, Arnold Street, for dessert.

Today, in addition to Student Council meeting during the fifth period, a basketball game will be played in the gymnasium at 8 p. m., when Elk Garden and the Keyser team will play the first varsity game by Keyser High here. Game time is 8 p. m.

On Wednesday an interclass cage game will be played in the gym in the evening.

On Thursday, the Faculty and Student Councils will meet in Room 5, at 3:45 p. m. to confer with a representative from the Ace Sign Company of Cumberland, to consider type of lettering desired for name on facade of the High School Building.

Grades seven, eight, and nine will give a sock-hop in the Gymnasium from 7:30 to 10 p. m.

High School Clubs; K-Club, K-Ettes, Future Farmers, Future Teachers and Science Club will meet in home rooms during second period.

The Keyser High School band concert will be given in the auditorium during the third period Friday, and at 8 p. m. the concert will be given in the auditorium for the general public.

Also on Friday, the Keyser, the Keyser High cagers will go to Lonaconing where they will play a game with the Valley High School basketball team in the evening.

Notice was given the school yesterday that next Sunday at 4 p. m., the Keyser Male Chorus will present a Christmas program in the auditorium. The presentation will be under direction of Leonard Withers, of Potomac State College Music department. The chorus is made up of men from the city including members of the local service clubs, Kiwanis, Lions and Yeomen.

Has Yule Party

MT. SAVAGE—The Past Councilors Club, Daughters of America, held their Christmas party in the Junior Order Hall. A turkey supper was served. A musical program was given with Miss Carol Miller at the piano. Secret Sisters were revealed and gifts exchanged. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Laura Smith in Foundry Row.

STC Building Is Named To Honor Miss Compton

FROSTBURG—Dr. Lillian C. Compton, Sunday received a birthday gift that will be admired and remembered for generations. It was her seventieth birthday, and Dr. Compton officially retired as president of Frostburg State Teachers College to climax one of the most brilliant careers of an individual in the field of education in Maryland.

In tribute of her birthday, retirement, and splendid work as president of the college for the past ten years, the State Board of Education announced the naming of the new $700,000 auditorium - gymnasium at the college in her honor.

William A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney and member of the State Board of Education, made the official announcement at a luncheon honoring Dr. Compton at the college.

Gunter, who was first to make the recommendation that a building be erected in honor of Miss Compton, announced that at a meeting of the State Board of Education on November 24, Dr. Thomas Pullen Jr., superintendent of the State Department of Education, recommended upon Gunter's motion that the new building be named, "Compton Hall." The board voted unanimously in favor of the action.

Gunter, serving as toastmaster at the luncheon, said state school officials were not attending to pay personal but official tribute to Miss Compton, who had given unusual service for ten years to the college.

Gunter said: "It is unusual for any college or other state institution to perpetuate the name of any living person upon any one of its buildings. However, the State Board felt that in the case of Miss Compton it was dealing with an unusual person and that it would be fitting to recognize her worth, not after her demise but while she is yet living."

Gunter presented Dr. Compton with an architect's drawing of the new auditorium-gymnasium, and said: "To those who feel grateful for the erection of Compton Hall, do not thank the State Board of Education, but thank Miss Compton for having spent the best years of her life in improving the facilities of the college and for making Frostburg a better and busier town."

Dr. Pullen said that he was not attending the luncheon to pay his final respects to Miss Compton, but to publicly thank her for the keen interest she took in her work at the college and for the changes which were made during her administration.

Dr. Pullen said that he deeply appreciated her work during the past ten years, and pointed out how she faced problems as they arose. He added that the example Miss Compton showed to the students, faculty and administration staff was unsurpassable.

Dr. Pullen introduced other members of the State Board of Education attending the luncheon, including Jerome Frampton Jr., vice president of the board; James Reed, supervisor of school planning for the State Department of Education, and Ted Boston, supervisor of teacher and higher education.

Miss Compton said that she enjoyed her association with the State Board members, faculty, students, citizens of Frostburg and the area, and Charles L. Kopp, retired superintendent of Allegany County schools, who advised Miss Compton on numerous projects.

Dr. Compton said that she gained pleasure in her work at the college, but added that Frostburg State is still behind in its expansion program and that she intends to continue her efforts for better buildings on the college campus.

The college head said that she felt most of her success was due to the informal way in which she handled matters. Saying that she considered herself "an informal person, she went after things in an informal way, sometimes sidetracking the regular channels set up by the State Board.

Miss Compton said she is proud of the new buildings at the college, but is more concerned about the type of teachers and citizens the college is turning out.

Mr. Frampton praised the work of Dr. Compton, pointing out that it was her encouragement and drive that made it possible for the college to expand.

Mr. Kopp said that when he advised Miss Compton to accept the job, he knew that she would do a splendid job, because she had been outstanding while working as a supervisor for the Allegany County Board of Education.

Mr. Kopp said that some persons achieve things by being pushed, while others have the "push" in their blood, and that Dr. Compton was the type of person with drive in her blood.

The new auditorium-gymnasium has been under construction the past year, and will be opened about January 15. The gym will provide three basketball courts and seat approximately 350 persons. The auditorium will seat 780 and will include offices and music rooms.

Dances Scheduled

WESTERNPORT — Teen - Age dances will be held at the Union hall here after the Piedmont High School and Valley High School basketball game tonight and the Bruce and LaSalle game Wednesday.

Teen-Town Club Elects Officers At Frostburg

Adult Executive Group Is Formed

FROSTBURG — Officers have been selected by the newly organized Teen-Town Club of Frostburg by the students of Beall High School.

The officers include James Kergan, Senior, president; Lee Lehr, a Junior, vice president; Conrad Filsinger, Sophomore, secretary, and Mary McGowan, a Freshman, treasurer.

Plans have been made by the steering committee to raise funds for the purpose of furnishing the third floor of the Frostburg Fire Hall, which will be used as a place of recreation by the teen-agers.

An adult executive committee has been formed to give guidance to the students who will handle the organization.

The members of the board of directors are Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Jesse Jacobs, Mrs. William Goebel, Mrs. Joseph Montana, Mrs. Paul LaRue, Frank Lewis and Howard Duckworth, who is serving as president of the board.

A formal opening of the club rooms will be held Saturday, December 18, and will be preceded by a parade. Open house will be held during the afternoon for parents, sponsors and friends. The first event for the teen-agers will be a dance in the evening.

A group of four chaperons will be present at all meetings and will be in charge of the refreshment booth.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors who were so kind and sympathetic to us following the death of our beloved mother and sister, Mrs. Ina Alexander. We especially wish to thank Rev. C. K. Welsh and Rev. H. E. Heckert, persons who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all others who in any way rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.

Sons, Brothers & Sisters.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear brother and uncle, Joseph W. Tranum, who departed this life one year ago, Dec. 12, 1953.

Down deep inside, our hearts are still sore,
As time goes on, we miss you more.
Beyond the sunset, you are gone,
But your love and memory will always live on.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors who were so kind and sympathetic to us following the death of our beloved mother and sister, Mrs. Ina Alexander. We especially wish to thank Rev. C. K. Welsh and Rev. H. E. Heckert, persons who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all others who in any way rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.

Sons, Brothers & Sisters.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear brother and uncle, Joseph W. Tranum, who departed this life one year ago, Dec. 12, 1953.

Down deep inside, our hearts are still sore,
As time goes on, we miss you more.
Beyond the sunset, you are gone,
But your love and memory will always live on.

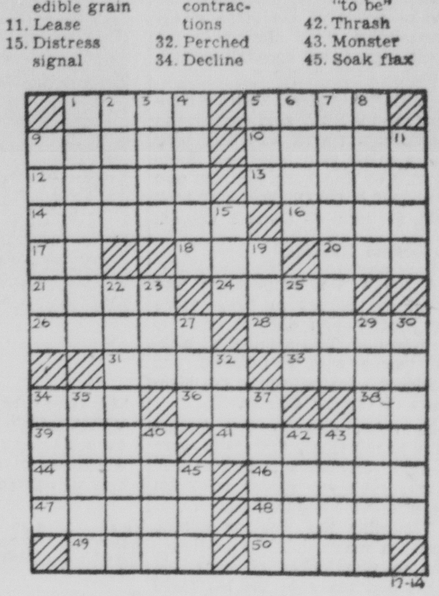
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

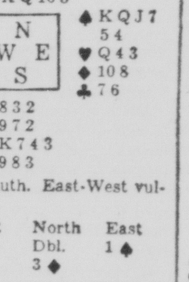
Daily Bridge Lesson — by Barclay

SENSES SURPASS SENSE

IT MAY sound like a mere play on words to say that the senses are more important than sense in bridge. But that happens to be the case. No matter how good may be your reasoning power, or what might be called common sense, your faculties of hearing and seeing are the main things. Unless you notice what was said during the bidding, by the various players around the table, and then take cognizance of the exact size of every card—then remember what you have learned all the intelligence in the world can not keep you from thwarting yourself.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♥	Dbl.	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♥	3 ♦

Very odd bidding, especially the heart rebid by West, who felt he was not strong enough to show his club suit on the second turn, so called his four-carder again.

Peculiar as was the way North reached the 3-Diamonds, he nevertheless should have made the contract to chalk up a part-score, not as good as the No Trump game he might have been lucky enough to make, but nevertheless something. His laziness, however, caused him to be set a trick.

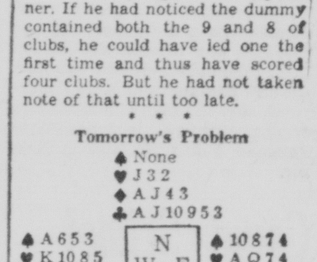
The defenders peeled off the first three tricks with the heart Q, K and A, and West then led the 10 of his partner's spades, which North won with the A. The declarer quickly figured out his plan of action, which included club finesses and making entries into dummy for the purpose. He did this by scoring the diamond A and Q, then leading the J to the K, leaving the 7 higher than his own 5.

His first club finesse was of the 10. After going to dummy with the diamond 7, he led the club 9 and won with the Q when West covered with the J. He tried to fell the K with the A, but when that failed he had to lose two tricks to the defense to be down one.

Then he apologized to his partner. If he had noticed the dummy contained both the 9 and 8 of clubs, he could have led one the first time and thus have scored four clubs. But he had not taken note of that until too late.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

How would you plan to bid North's hand, shooting for a top in a tournament, if South's first two bids were in diamonds and his next in spades?

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Daily Bridge Lesson — by Barclay

SENSES SURPASS SENSE

IT MAY sound like a mere play on words to say that the senses are more important than sense in bridge. But that happens to be the case. No matter how good may be your reasoning power, or what might be called common sense, your faculties of hearing and seeing are the main things. Unless you notice what was said during the bidding, by the various players around the table, and then take cognizance of the exact size of every card—then remember what you have learned all the intelligence in the world can not keep you from thwarting yourself.

	♠ A 9 ♥ J 10 5 ♦ A Q J 5 ♣ A Q 10 5
♠ 10 6 ♥ A K 8 6 ♦ 9 6 2 ♣ K J 4 2	N W E S	♠ K Q J 7 5 4 ♥ Q 4 3 ♦ 10 8 ♣ 7 6
	♠ 8 3 2 ♥ 9 7 2 ♦ K 7 4 3 ♣ 9 8 3

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♥	Dbl.	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♥	3 ♦

Very odd bidding, especially the heart rebid by West, who felt he was not strong enough to show his club suit on the second turn, so called his four-carder again.

Pecuhar as was the way North reached the 3-Diamonds, he nevertheless should have made the contract to chalk up a part-score, not as good as the No Trump game he might have been lucky enough to make, but nevertheless something. His laziness, however, caused him to be set a trick.

The defenders peeled off the first three tricks with the heart Q, K and A, and West then led the 10 of his partner's spades, which North won with the A. The declarer quickly figured out his plan of action, which included club finesses and making entries into dummy for the purpose. He did this by scoring the diamond A and Q, then leading the J to the K, leaving the 7 higher than his own 5.

His first club finesse was of the 10. After going to dummy with the diamond 7, he led the club 9 and won with the Q when West covered with the J. He tried to fell the K with the A, but when that failed he had to lose two tricks to the defense to be down one.

Then he apologized to his partner. If he had noticed the dummy contained both the 9 and 8 of clubs, he could have led one the first time and thus have scored four clubs. But he had not taken note of that until too late.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ None ♥ J 3 2 ♦ A J 4 3 ♣ A J 10 9 5 3
♠ A 6 5 3 ♥ K 10 8 5 ♦ 8 ♣ Q 8 6 2	N W E S	♠ 10 8 7 4 ♥ A Q 7 4 ♦ 10 7 ♣ K 7 4
	♠ K Q J 9 2 ♥ 9 6 ♦ K Q 9 6 5 2 ♣ None

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

How would you plan to bid North's hand, shooting for a top in a tournament, if South's first two bids were in diamonds and his next in spades?

Fog, Rain, Snow Add To Danger Of Area Travel

SRC Crews Alerted For Worsening Change

Heavy fog in the mountains of the district last night slowed down highway travel as cindering and salting crews of the State Roads Commission were alerted in the event a predicted snowfall materialized.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC, said visibility in the mountain area was very poor and a misty rain blanketed Route 40 west of Frostburg and also was prevalent in the Oakland and Accident sections of Garrett County.

28 Degree Reading

Although the temperature was about 28 degrees in those areas the precipitation did not seem to be freezing. Two small SRC pick-up trucks out of Oakland and Accident were patrolling the highways of Garrett County.

However, due to the forcast of a heavy snow, the crews were alerted. Chaires said that at 8:15 p. m. yesterday chains were not necessary for highway travel.

Yesterday the Weather Bureau issued a special bulletin predicting two to five inches of snow last night and today in the Maryland area west of Hagerstown and north of Baltimore.

Travel along Route 40 east of here was also slowed down atop the mountains by the heavy fog, Chaires added. Light snow was falling last night at 9 p. m. in the Romney area. State Police there reported that Route 50 east and west of that community was covered with snow and the highway was slippery.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford last night said that the Turnpike from New Stanton to Bedford was icy in spots although most of the highway was dry under cloudy skies.

Turnpike Icy

Icy sections were also reported from Bedford to Valley Forge and caution was urged in traveling the Turnpike. Here in Cumberland yesterday the day was a typical blue Monday with overcast skies. Snow began falling about 9:25 p.m.

The unofficial temperature here was around 40 throughout the afternoon and evening. The official high was 35 degrees at Constitution Park and at 7:30 p. m. yesterday the temperature was 29 degrees, which was the low reading for the day.

The bad weather conditions were believed partially responsible for five automobile accidents which the Keyser Detachment of West Virginia State Police investigated over the weekend.

Mrs. Norma Mae Hartman, 19, wife of John W. Hartman, Beryl, W. Va., sustained a broken right shoulder when the automobile her husband was driving skidded on U. S. Route 220 and went into New Creek. Hartman, who was uninjured, was charged with hazardous driving. His wife is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

County School Census Reports Are Tabulated

Higgins Takes Cards To Baltimore Firm

The census cards of the recent house-to-house canvass, conducted to compile information for future school needs of Allegany County, were punched and tabulated yesterday in Baltimore.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, took the cards to the International Business Machines plant in that city where they were punched. Later, according to Ralph R. Webster, schools superintendent, the cards were to be taken to the State Department of Education for tabulation.

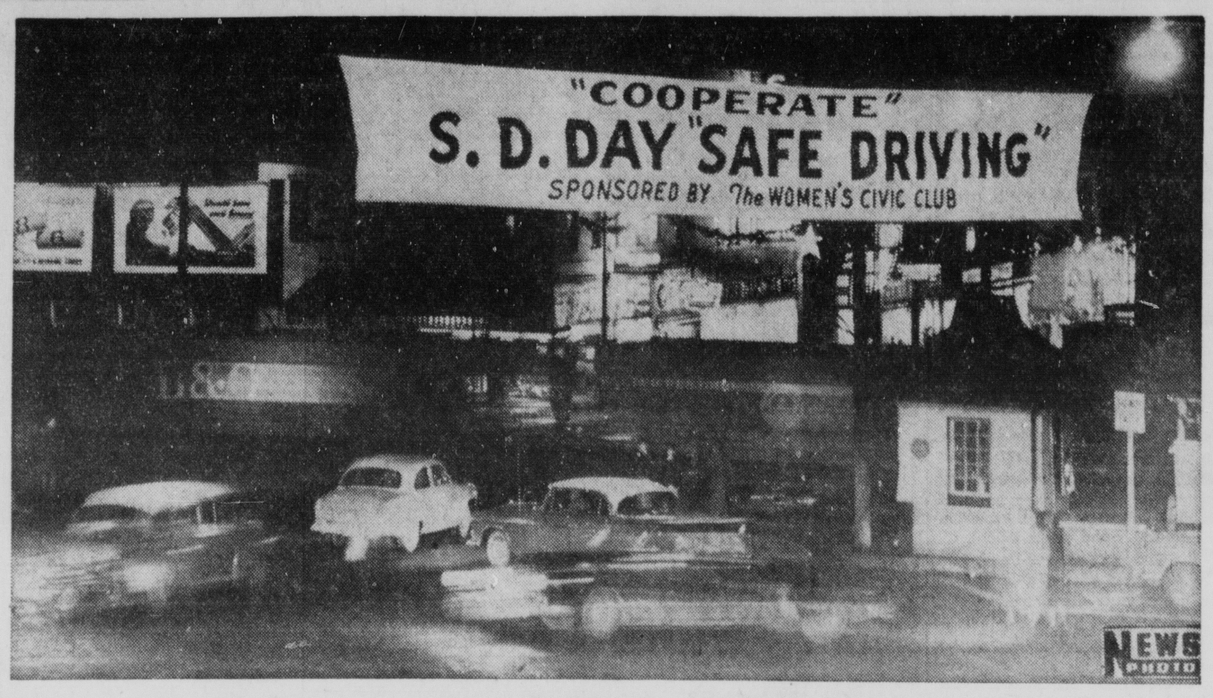
Allegany County, Webster added, is the first county in the state to have the cards processed. Other counties will be processed on a schedule basis, he pointed out.

The census, which was started early in November, was undertaken to compile information on pre-school and post-school children in families in which no one is in school.

Information about all other children has been compiled at the various schools throughout the county. The data gathered includes the name of the child, name of the parents or legal guardian, home address, birth date, sex and race, whether handicapped, employed or married.

The teachers will be able to determine the school to which the pre-school children should go, the school number, school election district and home election district.

SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS



Remember S-D Day Tomorrow

This large banner strung across Baltimore Avenue at Central YMCA under sponsorship of the Woman's Civic Club will serve as a reminder for everyone to exercise special care tomorrow, which has been proclaimed nationally as S-D (Safe Driving) Day. The sign project is in pursuance of the club's goal in its safety program for the 1954-56 term. It stresses home as well as traffic safety. The picture illustrates the various aspects of the traffic safety program. For instance motorists and pedestrians both should be careful at railroad crossings. They also exercise care especially at street intersections.

West Virginia Legionnaires Boost S-D Day

Area Joins In Idea For Greater Safety

Tomorrow, national S-D Day as proclaimed by the President of the United States, will see a West Virginia legionnaire riding in every West Virginia State Police cruiser.

Legion posts at Keyser, Piedmont and Ridgeley have assigned legionnaires to ride with the Keyser Detachment, W. Va. State Troopers. Commander Roland Showers of Knobley Mt. Post No. 136, Ridgeley will ride with a trooper in this area.

The purpose of the idea is to call public attention to the safety campaign, designed to try to prevent all accidents, especially traffic mishaps for a 24 hour period.

Tomorrow at 1 p. m. students of Ridgeley High and Elementary School will hold a special assembly at the request of the Ridgeley Legion Post. A state trooper from West Virginia will give a talk on safety and the significance of S-D, to the students.

Then after the assembly program, Showers will accompany the trooper on his rounds, being relieved at 6 p. m. by a Keyser or Piedmont legionnaire.

All through the state the idea is taking hold, and the legion as well as state officials, believe the influence and appearance of veterans riding with the police, might give rise to a very favorable situation and eliminate a lot of futile mishaps.

In every town of the country, something is being done this week, and especially tomorrow to make the first S-D a success.

At Frostburg, Mayor Perry W. Myers and the city councilmen issued a proclamation setting aside December 15, as S-D — "Safe Driving Day," and asking drivers and pedestrians in Frostburg to reduce traffic accidents to a minimum and join in the national movement to make that day as accident free as possible.

Chief of Police Lloyd Truly asked that every person who uses the streets to accept full responsibility for observing the letter and the spirit of all traffic regulations on S-D Day.

Last year in the annual National Pedestrian Protection Contest, held in 46 states and 1,571 cities, Frostburg made an enviable record. In the general information part Frostburg placed 77 out of 709 cities for its educational and engineering efforts made to reduce accidents in the death and injury record. A score of 99 per cent was made for having no deaths due to traffic accidents and only three pedestrian injuries; a score of 100 per cent was made in the accident record division.

AFL Meeting Planned

The Allegany Trades Council will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the AFL Labor Temple.

County Will Cooperate In S-D Day Plans Tomorrow

Tomorrow is S-D Day.

Allegany County is cooperating in the observance of this day as requested by President Eisenhower in an attempt to prevent all highway fatalities throughout the nation in the 24-hour period.

Plans for focusing public attention on the importance of the day have been formulated by the newly-organized Women's Group for Highway Safety in Maryland and the Western Maryland Safety Council.

Newspapers, radio stations and the local television outlet are carrying appeals for safe driving tomorrow. Governor McKeldin will deliver a transcribed appeal.

There is a special poster display for the occasion in the windows of the Liberty Trust Company. The J. E. Dennison Company has contributed a large banner which was erected on Baltimore Avenue without charge by the Potomac Edison Company.

Several thousand pamphlets and posters have been distributed through the county by the women's clubs and a school committee. One minute of prayer for safety will be offered in all schools tomorrow morning. Many church bells of the county will ring at 9 a. m. tomorrow as a reminder of the Safe Driving Day.

The City of Frostburg, like Cumberland, has issued a proclamation regarding S-D Day and is also using banners on the streets calling attention to the importance of the day.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder is regional director of the Women's Group for Highway Safety. Miss Catherine Fiora, Cumberland, and Mrs. Adam Baer, Frostburg, are assistant directors.

Senator George W. Della of Baltimore, president of the State Senate, is a leader in Maryland's S-D Day observance plans.

"S-D Day will demonstrate that the place to attack the traffic safety problem is in the community, and that the responsibility rests upon each individual," Senator Della said.

He further emphasized that something must be done to curb the traffic accidents, nearly 10 million of which occurred in 1953. In addition to approximately one milion fatal and personal injury accidents, there were about three-and-one-half million property damage accidents involving $25 or more and about five-and one-half million in which the property damage was less than $25.

"The United States required 50 years to reach its millionth traffic fatality in 1951," Senator Della continued. "At the present rate, only half as long will be required to kill the second million. S-D Day will serve to call the attention of all motorists and pedestrians to the urgency of unified action in traffic safety," he concluded.

Grand, Petit Juries To Be Drawn Today

The grand and petit juries for the January term of the Allegany County Circuit Court will be drawn this morning at 9:15 o'clock at the Court House with Chief Judge George Henderson presiding.

The grand jury term opens January 3 when the charge will be delivered.

Examinations Being Planned For Secretaries

Algonquin Chapter Boosts CPS Program

Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association will hold a question and answer session at Central YMCA, club room No. 4, for persons interested in taking the examination for Certified Professional Secretary.

Application for the examination, which is open to both men and women secretaries, must be made before January 15, 1955. The exams are to be held at approved centers throughout the country on May 6 and 7, next.

This examination, local members explain, was developed by the Institute of Certifying Secretaries and was sponsored by the National Secretaries Association.

A certified professional secretary is one who has satisfactorily completed all six parts of an examination, covering Personal Adjustment and Human Relations (two hours); Business Law (one hour); Economics and Business Administration, (one hour) Secretarial Accounting (two hours); Stenography, (three hours); General Secretarial and Office Procedures, (three hours).

The question and answer session will be in charge of Garnett Fazenbaker, chairman of CPS for Algonquin Chapter, assisted by three members of the local chapter, all of whom are Certified Professional Secretaries, Miss Anna Agress, Miss Dorothy Campbell and Mrs. Dorothy B. Row.

Miss Agress explains that all applicants must be past 25 years of age and can be either male or female. Each applicant must represent the highest professional standards and if not a high school graduate must have at least seven years secretarial experience in the past ten years. If the applicant is a high school graduate then at least six years experience in the past decade are required.

If the applicant is a graduate of business or junior college then only four years experience are required. If a college graduate, then three years will meet the requirements.

Each applicant must also have one continuous 12-month period of secretarial experience with one firm.

The applicant does not have to be employed as a secretary at the time of taking the examination, but must submit the names and address of past employers so quality of work experience may be checked.

Algonquin Chapter has 34 members and marks its seventh anniversary of founding here today.

Hoover Accepts Post At Laurel Bank

William W. Hoover, formerly of Holland Street Extended, who was an employe of the Monumental Life Insurance Company, has accepted a position with the Citizens National Bank of Laurel.

A musician, he played with the Aristocrats orchestra. His father, the late Jesse A. Hoover was assistant cashier at the First National Bank here. Hoover, his wife, the former Martha Griffey, and two daughters have moved to Laurel.

Home On Furlough

Airman Second Class Daniel C. Rees, son of Mrs. Virginia Rees, 810 Ashland Avenue, is home on emergency furlough due to the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Rees, of Frostburg, who died on Friday. Rees is stationed with the Air Force at Lockport, N. Y.

Handicap Awards Planned For Uphole And Kelly Plant

A Baltimore Pike man and one of this city's major industrial plants will be honored in Baltimore today by the Governor's Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped.

The worker, Carl D. Uphole, 35, Baltimore Pike, who is employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, will be presented an award for demonstrating that a physical handicap does not interfere with a man's ability to earn a living.

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be one of four industries in the state to be cited for recognizing the worth of handicapped individuals in their plants.

The awards will be presented at a luncheon meeting at 12:45 p.m. in the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Among those expected to attend are David Kauffman, Allegany County chairman of the committee; J. Leo Delaney, vocational rehabilitation councilor for the State Department of Education; Francis E. Kenney, manager of the Department of Employment Security here, and Frank Powers, Frostburg, a member of the committee.

Allegany County secured top honors from Western Maryland two years ago when Robert Hast and the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory were selected for the employe-employer awards.

City Christmas Display Plans Are Completed

Old Fort Cumberland Is Selected As Site

City workers began yesterday to decorate the grounds of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, which is to be the scene of the city's traditional Christmas tree lighting ceremony Sunday at 9:15 p. m.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, chairman, said the civic committee plans to make the display, located on the grounds of old Fort Cumberland, one of the loveliest ever seen in Cumberland.

The Christmas scene, he said, can be seen from almost all of the hills which surround the Queen City, and will be particularly beautiful when seen from Baltimore Street.

Commissioner Buchholtz, Wallace G. Ullery, program chairman; Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, decorations, and George M. Hitchcock, material chairman, yesterday inspected the site and approved plans for the decorations.

Highlight of the decorations will be a 35 foot community Christmas tree, located a few feet in front of the flagpole, with its top level with the roof of the Algonquin. It will be lighted by Mayor Roy W. Eves during the ceremony.

Plan Shepherd's Hill

The hill facing Greene Street will become Shepherd's Hill, and will be decorated with 32 smaller trees.

The Nativity Scene will be located at the foot of the hill, near the corner of Greene and Washington Street, where it can be seen by all who pass by.

The commissioner said the Cumberland Civic Club's Choral Group will be located in front of the sacristy of the church for the tree lighting ceremony set Sunday at 9:15 p. m.

Yule Trees Arrive

The Cumberland Municipal Concert Band will play in front of the church's Nativity window, which will be lighted as part of the Christmas decorations.

Several loads of Christmas trees were brought to the church yesterday from the Lake Gordon area and will be set in place today.

Mrs. Findlay said Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nixon, of Oldtown, have donated a large Christmas tree which will be used for the tree lighting ceremony in South Cumberland on December 21 at 7 p. m.

The committee is planning to place and decorate a third tree in the Valley Street park area.

City-Delegation Meeting Planned

The Mayor and Council will meet with the Legislative Council of the Maryland General Assembly Tuesday, December 21, at 8:15 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday.

In addition to council and members of the county delegation, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum will attend.

Legislation affecting Cumberland will be discussed. Among the subjects will be the amendment approved by voters at the last general election providing for greater home rule by municipalities, and the bond issue which the city will float to finance the water line to Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's new plant at North Branch.

Mayor Eves said yesterday that city officials will also discuss the possibility of providing social security coverage for city workers.

Octet To Give Program

The Fort Hill High School Octet under the direction of Miss Annetta Yates, will present a program tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA during the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club.

Dial Telephone Names Selected For This Area

Tributary Centers Will Be Tied In

The Queen City of the Alleghenies will get another name next year when Cumberland's telephone service is converted from manual to dial operation.

In telephone circles, Cumberland will be known as Parkview, and the exchanges located here will be named Parkview 2 and Parkview 4.

That it is an aristocratic name is a tribute to the good taste of the telephone people who selects names for all of the dial exchanges scattered throughout the country.

The city has had a number of other names during its history, some more and some less romantic than Parkview, which was selected so it would not conflict with any other exchange in toll area 301 composed of Maryland, part of Virginia and part of Washington, D. C.

Historians record that the early Indians called the city Caiuctucuc and that the early traders called the settlement Wills Creek.

Has Had Many Names

It was called the New Storehouse about 1750 and received the romantic name "Charlottesburg" two years later from the Ohio Company.

For awhile, it was known as Fort Mount Pleasant from the first fort built at the edge of Wills Creek, and then as Fort Cumberland when the outpost was enlarged and completed in 1755.

Twenty years later, it was being called Washington Town, and since 1787, Cumberland.

Can Dial Your Own

Officials said it was not possible to use Cumberland as an exchange name because CU 2 and CU 4 might conflict with another exchange name in the dial toll area.

Since the Cumberland dial exchanges will be PArkview 2 and PArkview 4, any customer in the toll area who has customer dial privileges may call a Cumberland number by dialing 7-2-2 or 7-2-4, followed by the four-digit telephone number.

In order to allow customers to dial also to nearby points, it will be necessary to change many of the tributary dial offices in Allegany and Garrett counties to the 2-5 number plan.

Effective about next June, new names will be given to four area exchanges.

To Get New Names

On that date, Oakland will change to Deerfield 4; Friendsville to Shadyside 6, Kitzmiller to Glenview 3 and Blaine, W. Va., to Hillcrest 6.

Telephone officials said the four-digit telephone numbers of customers in these areas will remain the same, and that the only change will be the name of the exchange, which will be changed when the new Garrett County directory is issued.

Five more dial exchanges in the area will get new names, but they will not become effective until the Cumberland exchange switches to dial operation late next year.

The new dial names selected for the communities are: Mt. Savage to Colony 4, Lonaconing to Homestead 3, Flintstone to Greenleaf 8, Wellersburg to Davenport 4 and State Line to Roger 7.

Births

Cmdr. and Mrs. Carl A. Sander Jr., announce the birth of a son yesterday morning at the Bethesda Naval Hospital in Bethesda. The mother is the former Miss Mary Ellen Platt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Platt, formerly of this city but now of Charlotte, N. C. The paternal grandmother is Mrs. Carl A. Sander Sr., Cleveland Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arenholz, announce the birth of a daughter yesterday in DePaul Hospital, St. Louis, Mo. The mother is the former Miss Catherine Ann Brinker daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Brinker, 517 Oldtown Road.

Sgt. and Mrs. William A. Rankin announce the birth of a son, November 29, at an Air Force Hospital in Fort Richardson, Alaska. The mother is the former Miss Virginia Rees, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Rees, 810 Ashland Avenue. Sgt. Rankin is stationed at Anchorage, Alaska, with a military police unit.

Mr. and Mrs. E. William Proudfoot, Morgantown, announce the birth of a son Saturday in Monongalia General Hospital there. The mother is the former Miss Lou Ann Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Wright, Park Heights.

CHIEF CLERK — Marine Sgt. John E. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Hunter of Jane Frazier Village, is serving as chief administrative clerk with Marine Air Group 16 stationed in Japan., Before enlisting in June, 1951, Hunter attended Allegany High School.

Citation Is Awarded To Guard Unit

Group Praised For Efficiency

Headquarters and Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, of the 29th Infantry Division, has received a National Guard Silver Award for efficiency in training.

Capt. John D. Hensell, commanding officer of the local unit, last night said this the first time the organization has received such an award given by the National Guard Bureau of the Department of the Army and Air Force in Washington, D. C.

The local unit received a rating of excellent for the calendar year 1954. Captain Hensell pointed out that the awards are given on the basis of field training and efficiency as well as the strength of the unit and overall qualifications of the respective members of the guard unit.

The award was received on the eve of the eighth anniversary of Federal recognition as a unit in the National Guard. In awarding the certificate, Major General Henry C. Evans, 29th Division commander, congratulated the unit and said it provides the Division "a fine example of what a fine National Guard unit can achieve under the leadership that the officers and non-commissioned officers of your unit are obviously furnishing."

On Sunday the local guard unit celebrated it's eighth anniversary of Federal recognition and the award came as a surprise birthday present, Captain Hensell added.

Headquarters and Headquarters Company has a full complement of 81 enlisted men. However an officer vacancy is in the Pioneer and Ammunition platoon. Seven such awards were given in the 15 companies of the battalion with four being presented to the First Battalion.

Solemn High Mass For Father Fannon Celebrated Today

A solemn high requiem mass for Rev. Ronald Fannon, Mt. Savage native, who died suddenly in his sleep on Thursday afternoon at Cheverly, Md., where he was pastor of St. Ambrose Catholic Church, will be celebrated today at 10 a. m. in St. Patrick's Church in Mt. Savage.

Rev. Thomas Fannon, cousin of the deceased, and assistant pastor of St. Vincent's Church, Baltimore, will be celebrant. Rev. Robert Fannon, also a cousin, of St. Nicholas Church, at Struthers, Ohio, will be deacon with Rev. George Ellis, sub-deacon. Father Ellis was assistant pastor at the Cheverly church.

Interment will be in the parish cemetery. The body is at St. Patrick's Church. Members of Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, formed a guard of honor from 6:45 p. m. to 11 p. m. yesterday at the church.

Other church societies will stand vigil from 11 p. m. until time for the mass this morning.

Jaycee Board To Meet

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will meet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Central YMCA, according to George L. Carney Jr., president.

Post Playground May Build Outdoor Ice Skating Rink

Plans for preparing an outdoor ice skating rink at the Thomas Post Playground in South Cumberland will be discussed at a meeting of the playground association tonight.

The plans will be made at a meeting of the Thomas Post Playground Association scheduled at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Warner, 1323 Virginia Avenue.

Officials said tentative plans call for the blacktopped area of the playground to be prepared, with out cost, for ice skating.

They said they hope it will be possible to bank the area with 2 by 4's and dirt, and to flood the enclosed area to provide a two-inch thick ice slab for skating.

Salvation Army Christmas Aid Fund Increases

More Service Clubs Join Drive Saturday

Almost $1,000 was raised toward the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer program in kettle drives held in Cumberland, Frostburg and Lonaconing Saturday, according to Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel.

He said the drives brought in $997.99 and that previous Christmas collections brings the fund to the $1,468.94 mark.

Saturday's collections included $307.30 raised in Cumberland by the Boys Hi-Y Club of Fort Hill High School, $192.87 by the Frostburg Lions Club, $216.51 by the Frostburg Rotary Club, $86.12 by the Lonaconing Rotary Club and $195.19 by the Lonaconing Lions Club.

Will Man Kettles

Officials expect the fund to double on Saturday, when service clubs in Cumberland, Keyser and Westernport join in the campaign.

Cumberland service clubs will man the Christmas kettles Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The Junior Association of Commerce will be stationed at the Second National Bank, the Civitan Club at the People's Drug Store, Kiwanis Club at the kettle house at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, and the Exchange Club at the G. C. Murphy Company store.

The Optimist Club and the South End Businessmen's Association will man kettles on Virginia Avenue.

Keyser Joins Drive

The Keyser Rotary Club will man kettles there on Saturday, and at least one other Keyser service club may join the drive.

In the Tri-Towns, the United Organizations will be in charge of kettle collections and will man kettles from Saturday through December 24.

Additional funds for the Christmas aid program are coming in from the sale of the Christmas issue of the War Cry being conducted by Lt. John Ray and Richard Jones.

Capt. Biggs said about 750 applications for Christmas food orders have been received. He added all applications should be in by Wednesday, so there will be time to send out the food orders.

Annual Meeting Of Chest Will Be Held Jan. 17

Campaign Leaders To Be Honored

Directors of the Cumberland Community Chest last night made plans to hold the annual meeting January 17 in Central YMCA.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m., following a dinner meeting called at 6:30 p. m. to honor the leaders of the 1954-55 Red Feather campaign.

Business at the annual meeting will include the election of directors, action on the annual audit and the presentation of yearly reports by Red Feather agencies of Cumberland.

The board approved the November financial report which showed an October 31 cash balance of $4,338.60 and November receipts of $2,999.60 for a cash total of $7,409.20.

Receipts from 1953-54 pledges totaled $85,046.13, or 90 per cent of all pledges. Additional 1953-54 funds are expected by December 31.

Report of agencies were approved for the period ending November 1. The only agency showing an overage was the Associated Charities, which ended the month $323.27 in the red.

Dom Is Improved

George Dom, 67, of Wellersburg, Pa., a farmer of Somerset County, is reported improved at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted December 6 after being badly mangled in a corn cutting machine mishap in a field near Ellerslie. He was admitted to the hospital in a critical condition.

Fog, Rain, Snow Add To Danger Of Area Travel

SRC Crews Alerted For Worsening Change

Heavy fog in the mountains of the district last night slowed down highway travel as cindering and salting crews of the State Roads Commission were alerted in the event a predicted snowfall materialized.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC, said visibility in the mountain area was very poor and a misty rain blanketed Route 40 west of Frostburg and also was prevalent in the Oakland and Accident sections of Garrett County.

28 Degree Reading

Although the temperature was about 28 degrees in those areas the precipitation did not seem to be freezing. Two small SRC pickup trucks out of Oakland and Accident were patrolling the highways of Garrett County.

However, due to the forcast of a heavy snow, the crews were alerted. Chaires said that at 8:15 p. m. yesterday chains were not necessary for highway travel.

Yesterday the Weather Bureau issued a special bulletin predicting two to five inches of snow last night and today in the Maryland area west of Hagerstown and north of Baltimore.

Travel along Route 40 east of here was also slowed down atop the mountains by the heavy fog, Chaires added. Light snow was falling last night at 9 p. m. in the Romney area. State Police there reported that Route 50 east and west of that community was covered with snow and the highway was slippery.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford last night said that the Turnpike from New Stanton to Bedford was icy in spots although most of the highway was dry under cloudy skies.

Turnpike Icy

Icy sections were also reported from Bedford to Valley Forge and caution was urged in traveling the Turnpike. Here in Cumberland yesterday the day was a typical blue Monday with overcast skies. Snow began falling about 9:25 p.m.

The unofficial temperature here was around 40 throughout the afternoon and evening. The official high was 35 degrees at Constitution Park and at 7:30 p. m. yesterday the temperature was 29 degrees, which was the low reading for the day.

The bad weather conditions were believed partially responsible for five automobile accidents which the Keyser Detachment of West Virginia State Police investigated over the weekend.

Mrs. Norma Mae Hartman, 19, wife of John W. Hartman, Beryl, W. Va., sustained a broken right shoulder when the automobile her husband was driving skidded on U. S. Route 220 and went into New Creek. Hartman, who was uninjured, was charged with hazardous driving. His wife is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

The Keyser Rotary Club will man kettles there on Saturday, and at least one other Keyser service club may join the drive.

In the Tri-Towns, the United Organizations will be in charge of kettle collections and will man kettles from Saturday through December 24.

Additional funds for the Christmas aid program are coming in from the sale of the Christmas issue of the War Cry being conducted by Lt. John Ray and Richard Jones.

Capt. Biggs said about 750 applications for Christmas food orders have been received. He added all applications should be in by Wednesday, so there will be time to send out the food orders.

West Virginia Legionnaires Boost S-D Day

Area Joins In Idea For Greater Safety

Tomorrow, national S-D Day as proclaimed by the President of the United States, will see a West Virginia legionnaire riding in every West Virginia State Police cruiser.

Legion posts at Keyser, Piedmont and Ridgeley have assigned legionnaires to ride with the Keyser Detachment, W. Va. State Troopers. Commander Roland Showers of Knobley Mt. Post No. 136, Ridgeley will ride with a trooper in this area.

The purpose of the idea is to call public attention to the safety campaign, designed to try to prevent all accidents, especially traffic mishaps for a 24 hour period.

Tomorrow at 1 p. m. students of Ridgeley High and Elementary School will hold a special assembly at the request of the Ridgeley Legion Post. A state trooper from West Virginia will give a talk on safety and the significance of S-D, to the students.

Then after the assembly program, Showers will accompany the trooper on his rounds, being relieved at 6 p. m. by a Keyser or Piedmont legionnaire.

All through the state the idea is taking hold, and the legion as well as state officials, believe the influence and appearance of veterans riding with the police, might give rise to a very favorable situation and eliminate a lot of futile mishaps.

In every town of the country, something is being done this week, and especially tomorrow to make the first S-D a success.

At Frostburg, Mayor Perry W. Myers and the city councilmen issued a proclamation setting aside December 15, as S-D — "Safe Driving Day," and asking drivers and pedestrians in Frostburg to reduce traffic accidents to a minimum and join in the national movement to make that day as accident free as possible.

Chief of Police Lloyd Truly asked that every person who uses the streets to accept full responsibility for observing the letter and the spirit of all traffic regulations on S-D Day.

Last year in the annual National Pedestrian Protection Contest, held in 46 states and 1,571 cities, Frostburg made an enviable record. In the general information part Frostburg placed 77 out of 709 cities for its educational and engineering efforts made to reduce accidents in the death and injury record. A score of 99 per cent was made for having no deaths due to traffic accidents and only three pedestrian injuries; a score of 100 per cent was made in the accident record division.

AFL Meeting Planned

The Allegany Trades Council will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the AFL Labor Temple.

County Will Cooperate In S-D Day Plans Tomorrow

Tomorrow is S-D Day.

Allegany County is cooperating in the observance of this day as requested by President Eisenhower in an attempt to prevent all highway fatalities throughout the nation in the 24-hour period.

Plans for focusing public attention on the importance of the day have been formulated by the newly-organized Women's Group for Highway Safety in Maryland and the Western Maryland Safety Council.

Newspapers, radio stations and the local television outlet are carrying appeals for safe driving tomorrow. Governor McKeldin will deliver a transcribed appeal.

There is a special poster display for the occasion in the windows of the Liberty Trust Company. The J. E. Dennison Company has contributed a large banner which was erected on Baltimore Avenue without charge by the Potomac Edison Company.

Several thousand pamphlets and posters have been distributed through the county by the women's clubs and a school committee. One minute of prayer for safety will be offered in all schools tomorrow morning. Many church bells of the county will ring at 9 a. m. tomorrow as a reminder of the Safe Driving Day.

The City of Frostburg, like Cumberland, has issued a proclamation regarding S-D Day and is also using banners on the streets calling attention to the importance of the day.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder is regional director of the Women's Group for Highway Safety. Miss Catherine Fiora, Cumberland, and Mrs. Adam Baer, Frostburg, are assistant directors.

Senator George W. Della of Baltimore, president of the State Senate, is a leader in Maryland's S-D Day observance plans.

"S-D Day will demonstrate that the place to attack the traffic safety problem is in the community, and that the responsibility rests upon each individual," Senator Della said.

He further emphasized that something must be done to curb the traffic accidents, nearly 10 million of which occurred in 1953. In addition to approximately one milion fatal and personal injury accidents, there were about three-and-one-half million property damage accidents involving $25 or more and about five-and one-half million in which the property damage was less than $25.

"The United States required 50 years to reach its millionth traffic fatality in 1951," Senator Della continued. "At the present rate, only half as long will be required to kill the second million. S-D Day will serve to call the attention of all motorists and pedestrians to the urgency of unified action in traffic safety," he concluded.

Grand, Petit Juries To Be Drawn Today

The grand and petit juries for the January term of the Allegany County Circuit Court will be drawn this morning at 9:15 o'clock at the Court House with Chief Judge George Henderson presiding.

The grand jury term opens January 3 when the charge will be delivered.

Examinations Being Planned For Secretaries

Algonquin Chapter Boosts CPS Program

Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association will hold a question and answer session at Central YMCA, club room No. 4, for persons interested in taking the examination for Certified Professional Secretary.

Application for the examination, which is open to both men and women secretaries, must be made before January 15, 1955. The exams are to be held at approved centers throughout the country on May 6 and 7, next.

This examination, local members explain, was developed by the Institute of Certifying Secretaries and was sponsored by the National Secretaries Association.

A certified professional secretary is one who has satisfactorily completed all six parts of an examination, covering Personal Adjustment and Human Relations (two hours); Business Law (one hour); Economics and Business Administration, (one hour) Secretarial Accounting (two hours); Stenography, (three hours); General Secretarial and Office Procedures, (three hours).

The question and answer session will be in charge of Garnett Fazenbaker, chairman of CPS for Algonquin Chapter, assisted by three members of the local chapter, all of whom are Certified Professional Secretaries, Miss Anna Agress, Miss Dorothy Campbell and Mrs. Dorothy B. Row.

Miss Agress explains that all applicants must be past 25 years of age and can be either male or female. Each applicant must represent the highest professional standards and if not a high school graduate must have at least seven years secretarial experience in the past ten years. If the applicant is a high school graduate then at least six years experience in the past decade are required.

If the applicant is a graduate of business or junior college then only four years experience are required. If a college graduate, then three years will meet the requirements.

Each applicant must also have one continuous 12-month period of secretarial experience with one firm.

The applicant does not have to be employed as a secretary at the time of taking the examination, but must submit the names and address of past employers so quality of work experience may be checked.

Algonquin Chapter has 34 members and marks its seventh anniversary of founding here today.

City Christmas Display Plans Are Completed

Old Fort Cumberland Is Selected As Site

City workers began yesterday to decorate the grounds of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, which is to be the scene of the city's traditional Christmas tree lighting ceremony Sunday at 9:15 p. m.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, chairman, said the civic committee plans to make the display, located on the grounds of old Fort Cumberland, one of the loveliest ever seen in Cumberland.

The Christmas scene, he said, can be seen from almost all of the hills which surround the Queen City, and will be particularly beautiful when seen from Baltimore Street.

Commissioner Buchholtz, Wallace G. Ullery, program chairman; Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, decorations, and George M. Hitchcock, material chairman, yesterday inspected the site and approved plans for the decorations.

Highlight of the decorations will be a 35 foot community Christmas tree, located a few feet in front of the flagpole, with its top level with the roof of the Algonquin. It will be lighted by Mayor Roy W. Eves during the ceremony.

Plan Shepherd's Hill

The hill facing Greene Street will become Shepherd's Hill, and will be decorated with 32 smaller trees.

The Nativity Scene will be located at the foot of the hill, near the corner of Greene and Washington Street, where it can be seen by all who pass by.

The commissioner said the Cumberland Civic Club's Choral Group will be located in front of the sacristy of the church for the tree lighting ceremony set Sunday at 9:15 p. m.

Yule Trees Arrive

The Cumberland Municipal Concert Band will play in front of the church's Nativity window, which will be lighted as part of the Christmas decorations.

Several loads of Christmas trees were brought to the church yesterday from the Lake Gordon area and will be set in place today.

Mrs. Findlay said Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nixon, of Oldtown, have donated a large Christmas tree which will be used for the tree lighting ceremony in South Cumberland on December 21 at 7 p. m.

The committee is planning to place and decorate a third tree in the Valley Street park area.

City-Delegation Meeting Planned

The Mayor and Council will meet with the Legislative Council of the Maryland General Assembly Tuesday, December 21, at 8:15 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday.

In addition to council and members of the county delegation, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum will attend.

Legislation affecting Cumberland will be discussed. Among the subjects will be the amendment approved by voters at the last general election providing for greater home rule by municipalities, and the bond issue which the city will float to finance the water line to Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's new plant at North Branch.

Mayor Eves said yesterday that city officials will also discuss the possibility of providing social security coverage for city workers.

Octet To Give Program

The Fort Hill High School Octet under the direction of Miss Annetta Yates, will present a program tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA during the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club.

Solemn High Mass For Father Fannon Celebrated Today

A solemn high requiem mass for Rev. Ronald Fannon, Mt. Savage native, who died suddenly in his sleep on Thursday afternoon at Cheverly, Md., where he was pastor of St. Ambrose Catholic Church, will be celebrated today at 10 a. m. in St. Patrick's Church in Mt. Savage.

Rev. Thomas Fannon, cousin of the deceased, and assistant pastor of St. Vincent's Church, Baltimore, will be celebrant. Rev. Robert Fannon, also a cousin, of St. Nicholas Church, at Struthers, Ohio, will be deacon with Rev. George Ellis, sub-deacon. Father Ellis was assistant pastor at the Cheverly church.

Interment will be in the parish cemetery. The body is at St. Patrick's Church. Members of Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, formed a guard of honor from 6:45 p. m. to 11 p. m. yesterday at the church.

Other church societies will stand vigil from 11 p. m. until time for the mass this morning.

Jaycee Board To Meet

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will meet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Central YMCA, according to George L. Carney Jr., president.

Annual Meeting Of Chest Will Be Held Jan. 17

Campaign Leaders To Be Honored

Directors of the Cumberland Community Chest last night made plans to hold the annual meeting January 17 in Central YMCA.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m., following a dinner meeting called at 6:30 p. m. to honor the leaders of the 1954-55 Red Feather campaign.

Business at the annual meeting will include the election of directors, action on the annual audit and the presentation of yearly reports by Red Feather agencies of Cumberland.

The board approved the November financial report which showed an October 31 cash balance of $4,338.60 and November receipts of $2,999.60 for a cash total of $7,409.20.

Spent to operate Red Feather agencies during November was $6,989.57, leaving a balance of $419.63 at the end of the fiscal year on December 1.

Receipts from 1953-54 pledges totaled $85,046.13, or 90 per cent of all pledges. Additional 1953-54 funds are expected by December 31.

Report of agencies were approved for the period ending November 1. The only agency showing an overage was the Associated Charities, which ended the month $323.27 in the red.

Dom Is Improved

George Dom, 67, of Wellersburg, Pa., a farmer of Somerset County, is reported improved at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted December 6 after being badly mangled in a corn cutting machine mishap in a field near Ellerslie. He was admitted to the hospital in a critical condition.

County School Census Reports Are Tabulated

Higgins Takes Cards To Baltimore Firm

The census cards of the recent house-to-house canvass, conducted to compile information for future school needs of Allegany County, were punched and tabulated yesterday in Baltimore.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, took the cards to the International Business Machines plant in that city where they were punched. Later, according to Ralph R. Webster, schools superintendent, the cards were to be taken to the State Department of Education for tabulation.

Allegany County, Webster added, is the first county in the state to have the cards processed. Other counties will be processed on a schedule basis, he pointed out.

The census, which was started early in November, was undertaken to compile information on pre-school and post-school children in families in which no one is in school.

Information about all other children has been compiled at the various schools throughout the county. The data gathered includes the name of the child, name of the parents or legal guardian, home address, birth date, sex and race, whether handicapped, employed or married.

The teachers will be able to determine the school to which the pre-school children should go, the school number, school election district and home election district.

SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Handicap Awards Planned For Uphole And Kelly Plant

A Baltimore Pike man and one of this city's major industrial plants will be honored in Baltimore today by the Governor's Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped.

The worker, Carl D. Uphole, 35, Baltimore Pike, who is employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, will be presented an award for demonstrating that a physical handicap does not interfere with a man's ability to earn a living.

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be one of four industries in the state to be cited for recognizing the worth of handicapped individuals in their plants.

The awards will be presented at a luncheon meeting at 12:45 p.m. in the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Among those expected to attend are David Kauffman, Allegany County chairman of the committee; J. Leo Delaney, vocational rehabilitation councilor for the State Department of Education; Francis E. Kenney, manager of the Department of Employment Security here, and Frank Powers, Frostburg, a member of the committee.

Allegany County secured top honors from Western Maryland two years ago when Robert Hast and the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory were selected for the employe-employer awards.

Post Playground May Build Outdoor Ice Skating Rink

Plans for preparing an outdoor ice skating rink at the Thomas Post Playground in South Cumberland will be discussed at a meeting of the playground association tonight.

The plans will be made at a meeting of the Thomas Post Playground Association scheduled at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Warner, 1323 Virginia Avenue.

Officials said tentative plans call for the blacktopped area of the playground to be prepared, with out cost, for ice skating.

They said they hope it will be possible to bank the area with 2 by 4's and dirt, and to flood the enclosed area to provide a two-inch thick ice slab for skating.

Other business slated at the meeting includes the election of officers for 1955.

Last week, the City Recreation Board asked Robert E. Pence to check on the cost of rehabilitating the ice skating rink at Gephart Playground.
